POND'S EXTRACT.
POND'S EXTRACT.

The People's Remedy.
The Universal Pain Extractor.
Note: Ask for Pond's Extract.
Take no other.

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

CHILDREN. No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains of Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discoloration and heals rapidly.

LADIES find it their best friend. It assuages the pains to which they are peculiarly subject—notably fullness and pressure in the head, nausea, vertigo, &c. It promptly ameliorates and permanently heals all kinds of Inflammations and ulcerations.

HEMORRHOIDS or PILES find in this the only immediate relief and ultimate cure. No case however chronic or obstinate can long resist its regular use.

KIDNEY DISEASES. It has no equal for permanent cure.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this it is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific), Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc. Chapped Hands, Face and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE. Removes Soreness, Roughness and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. It revives, invigorates and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleedings, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, &c. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every farm-yard as well as in every farm-house. Let it be tried once and you will never be without it.

CAUTION! Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians, and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

HISTORY and Uses of Pond's Extract, in pamphlet form sent free on application to POND'S EXTRACT COMPANY, 98 Maiden Lane, New York.

LEAVES FROM A TORY LEADER'S NOTE BOOK.

From the Halifax Chronicle.

The first memorandum that meets the eye is rather mysterious; it runs thus:

The O. L. fees are O. K. Constituted myself Receiver General for the nonce, as these fees should certainly be official perquisites of the Minister of Justice—as long as I fill that office. Memo.—If I don't have a head on me to-morrow morning devote half an hour to finding some other way of raising the wind. Try Allan again, perhaps.

Next comes the following note:

Letter from Tupper, just received. Things are looking black in Nova Scotia. People know something about politics and can't be fooled. Tupper promises to give everybody an office, but the people won't believe him. Do not wonder. He is a greater stretcher than I am. His name smells to heaven down there, and, therefore, he is anxious to abandon Cumberland, and get a seat in Ottawa. Memo.—See what seat we can buy for him.

A little further on, this remark makes its appearance:—

Don't know about buying T. a seat. The beggar wants to supplant me. He isn't fit, of course, but that does not justify his saying that I am "too often fit" for a leader. Punch his head—figuratively, of course,

This would seem to indicate that all is not as it should be between the knight and the doctor. Sir John evidently has his little troubles; what with his colleagues and the Liberal press he finds it hard to smile always. Troublesome questions come up.

Le Nouveau Monde wants to know if I am an Orangeman. Has been telling the French Catholics that I am their friend, and that Mackenzie, Blake, &c., are the Guibord Orange party. La National has spoiled the little game by showing that I was an Orangeman some years ago. Must seek Langevin and attempt to cook up some story. Awkward fix this.

Letter from Macpherson. Is willing to help our bankrupt organ at Toronto if we will give him prominence. He's an old fool, but we must have money, and as Sir Hugh won't bleed any more, and the Northern Railway funds are no longer available we will have to utilize Mac. The people will laugh at the prominence given him, but that cannot be helped.

Memo.—Write to Dalton McCarthy. He says if I saw anything more about Tupper as a possible leader he will bolt. He won't stand such a disgrace. Must explain to McCarthy that I only said these things to tickle Tupper's vanity; that I meant nothing, and that McCarthy is the man for the leadership after I have been shelved. Drop a hint of this in my next speech to please McCarthy.

Smith, stove manufacturer, writes to know if my protective police means a higher duty on iron, which he says would destroy his business. Grits tells him that is what I mean. Will write telling him that he may rest assured that the industry in which he was engaged will be specially considered when my protective tariff is prepared.

Letter just received from Brown, owner of an iron mine. Wants to know if my protective tariff will include a heavy duty on pig-iron, iron bars, &c. Say unless such a duty is imposed, protection will be no good to him. What shall I do? I am in a fix. I have told Smith that there will be no duty on iron, what can I tell Brown? Will write that protection to the mining industry is certainly a part of my policy.

Muggins, manager of the Mugginsville Manufacturing Company, wants to know something definite about the coal duty. Says I told him that I would not put a duty on coal, but he hears that my friends in the East are promising such a tax, and as he uses fifteen thousand tons per annum he wants something definite. Hang these definite fellows. If I give anybody any definite idea of what I mean it will be more than I can give myself. Will write Muggins as follows:—

"Dear Muggins: I am surprised at your want of confidence in me. You ought to know that we have to talk a little about the coal duty down East to catch the votes of the coal owners, but that it means nothing. We want to fool the bluenoses and make them believe that a coal tax will be imposed, but of course we don't mean it. When we get into power we can snap our fingers at them. We did it before, and after humbugginng them by putting on a tax for a single year, we took it off, and kept it off. Tupper, who, you say, is promising the duty down East, voted against a coal duty then, and will be ready to do so again. Whenever Tupper's office and salary are at stake, he will vote for anything to save himself. I have too much regard for my friends, the Western manufacturers, to sacrifice their interests by imposing a duty on coal merely to please a few Nova Scotians. We always bought all the support we wanted from Nova Scotia, and we expect to do it again. Pray don't pay the slightest attention to any reports that you hear of what Tupper says on this question.—Yours, JOHN A."

These are not the only troubles, however, chronicled in the fascinating page of the "little book." "The Doctor" seems to occasion frequent misery to his chief, and quarrels appear to vary the harmony of their political existence, teste:

Another row with the Dr. this morning. He is getting consumedly impudent. Wanted to know what I meant by that speech of mine last night. Told him I didn't make a speech. He said I did and showed me a report of it in the Mail; said it was disgraceful, even though toned down, and that I must give up—hove a boot at him; there was a snake in it; hope it bit him. Memo.—Avoid eating fish at dinner hereafter—makes a fellow billious and headachy.

Then follows a long note, which we extract entire:

Don't forget to write to Riel, who is getting troublesome. He says he has spent all the money I paid him at the time I was saying "Would to God that I could lay hands on Riel." He is getting hard up, and wants more money. Threatens to peach if I do not shell out. Says he knows that I have a lump of the secret service thousands in some quarter, confound the fellow. After four years exclusion from office, and no prospect of getting back again, my finances are not as satisfactory as I could wish. But I can't afford to let his tongue loose. I will draw on old Mac. for "another thousand."

Letter from Langevin says things are going to the devil in Quebec. [illegible] of the Supreme Court have shown [illegible] ple that they have a right to think for themselves, The Papal Delhas given our clerical frie[illegible] raps on the knuckles; consequently [illegible] is less chance of electing Tories by that influence. Laurier's lecture has fired the hearts of the people. He is the coming man of Quebec, and all our efforts to prevent his leading the Liberals of that Province to victory will fail. In that case I had better avow myself an Orangeman and bid for the Protestant vote of Ontario. Mackenzie Bowell will have to be consulted on this point.

The Daily Ontario.

TUESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 4.

THE boy, supposed to be the long lost Charlie Ross, captured at Springfield, Ohio, and taken to Philadelphia, turns out to be somebody else after all. The resemblance is very strong, but Mr. Ross says Gus Lensing is not his Charlie, and he should know best.

ROYAL visits are taken to mean something else than the exchange of fraternal greetings in war times. The Duke of Edinburgh has been at Athens and called on the King and Queen, who, by the way, are his relations by marriage, or nearly so. The British Government fearing that his presence would seem to countenance the war party, which is now very active in Greece, telegraphed that he must leave immediately, and he did. Even Princes of the Royal blood cannot always do as they please.

JUDGE JACKSON, of Covington, Kentucky, has given a decision that is of some importance in extradition matters. He says that Mr. Smith N. Hawes, the late Treasurer of Covington, who was extradited from Canada and acquitted on a charge of forgery, could not be tried on an additional charge of embezzlement, but must be discharged and allowed sufficient time to return to Canada. The Judge also claims that the enumeration of certain crimes in the Extradition Treaty operates as an exclusion of all others, and that there is an implied obligation to try for no other crime than that named in the warrant of extradition. He condemned the Winslow case. Hawes started immediately for Canada when released.

THE members of Zion's Church, Montreal, have taken an advanced stand on the party procession question. At the regular monthly business meeting, held last Saturday evening, notice was given to the effect that as long as street processions are not prohibited by law, the Orangemen have an equal right with all others to use the streets for such purposes; and that the use of the church be granted to them for a service on the next 12th of July. This motion, we are told, was made in view of the active part which Independent or Congregational Churches have always taken in public affairs in England, and of the advanced position that has always been held by Zion's Church in Montreal, in reference to such matters as form the subject of the motion.

THE MODEL SCHOOL.

When the Board decided not to take favorable action in the the Model School question, we expressed our regrets and pointed out the loss that would be sustained through the absence of such a school in Belleville. We also recommended a reconsideration of the matter, fully persuaded that when the whole question was duly considered the extra expense would not seem such a barrier to the proceeding. The Inspector, in the mean time, was exerting himself in a characteristic manner to bring about the very object for which we contended, and the result is the establishment of a Model School in Belleville for the accommodation of teachers in South Hastings. The vote of thanks tendered Mr. Johnston at the last meeting of the Board was well merited.

SOME POLICY.

The Globe properly guages Mr. Bowell's motives for remaining away from the Hackett funeral and discountenancing the action of those who did attend. Our contemporary says:

"Some innocent-minded people have expressed their surprise that Mr. Mackenzie Bowell, M. P., who has held high rank in the Orange order, was not present at the funeral of Thomas Hackett in Montreal. No doubt, from one point of view, Mr. Bowell's absence was very extraordinary, but not so when we recollect the peculiarities of Mr. Bowell's political position. Mr. Bowell is not only a champion of Protestant rights and a brilliant light in the Orange fraternity. He is a politician who does yeoman service for his party at Ottawa, and naturally looks forward to future contingencies. In Montreal how would it have looked for one of the chief mourners in the funeral procession to be recognized as the future colleague of Mr. Masson in a Conservative Cabinet? The close relations and common purposes of these two gentlemen are incongruous enough at all times, but there was no need to make a public display of such palpable incongruities. No doubt Mr. Mackenzie Bowell mourned becomingly the sad event in Montreal, but it was better his grief should not be paraded before the public eye, at all events the Montreal public eye, where there is already a good deal of perplexity as to the [illegible] such contrarieties as Messrs. Bowell [illegible] come together. We do not wonder that discretion for once induced them to remain on opposite sides of the Ottawa River, and that even a sincere desire to show his sympathy with poor Hackett should have been insufficient to induce Mr. Bowell to place any impediment in the way of a joint re-union with Mr. Masson and his friends at the prospective Council table on the southern bank of that river."

TOWN COUNCIL.

Monday, Sept. 3.

Present.—His Worship the Mayor.

Messrs. S. Hambly, Holden, Pope, Patterson, Brennan, Price, Meagher, Smith, Yeomans, St. Charles, J. Hambly and Lingham.

The minutes of the former meeting were read and approved.

PETITIONS.

The following were presented and read:

From Frank Dolan and other ratepayers in Murney Ward in regard to the drain on Henry Street.

From Morgan Jellett and others asking for fire appliances for the hill in the eastern part of the town.

From the Solicitor in re Pretty, Captain of No. 3 Fire Co. He did not think the town could recover the money ($100) paid to the said Pretty for No. 3 H. & L. Co. as the payment to the other companies had made in the same manner.

From Hon. L. Wallbridge and others recommending the re-appointment of N. McCoy as police constable.

From the Street Surveyor reporting on the drain in Murney Ward and giving estimates of the cost thereof; also an estimate from J. A. Davis for $1,580 for the doing of the work.

A number of accounts were handed in and read.

REPORTS.

From John Johnson, A. Diamond and J. H. Peck in regard to the union of a portion of the Township of Thurlow with Belleville for school purposes.

The Market and Police Committee reported recommending that the fishermen be allowed to leave the market at 10:30 a. m.; that Officer Cook be reprimanded for a violation of the police rules and in case he quits his post of duty again without leave, that he be dismissed; that Rufus Rankins be appointed constable in place of McCoy, dismissed.

The Finance Committee reported recommending the payment of a number of accounts; also that the bonuses granting $50,000 to the B. & N. H. R. and $75,000 to Messrs. Pardee & Lloyd for the erection of smelting works be repealed the terms of the by-laws granting them not having been complied with.

NOTICES.

Notices of by-laws for the collection of town and school taxes were given by Mr. Holden; also for the repeal of the bonus by law to the B. & N. H. R., and that to Messrs. Pardee & Lloyd; also one in regard to the annexation of a portion of Thurlow for school purposes.

ORDERS OF THE DAY.

The Finance Committee's report was received.

The Market and Police Committee's report was received, and a by-law to that effect read a first time; also one for the annexation of a portion of Thurlow for school purposes; also one for levying of taxes and one for the collecting of the same.

Council went into Committee on Ways and Means—Mr. Pope in the Chair.

The Finance Committee's report was read.

When the portion of the report relating to the repeal of the bonus by-law was read Mr. Patterson asked for information, as he considered that the G. T. R. bonus should receive attention as well as this matter.

Mr. Holden said the time in which the B. & N. H. R. and smelting works were to be completed had expired, and it was necessary that the by-law granting the bonuses should be repealed by by-law.

Mr. Patterson could not see any propriety in sifting out the B. & N. H. R., inasmuch as the G. T. R. bonus had not been revoked.

Mr. Holden said the G. T. R. bonus had not been considered by the committee but this one had. He also spoke in reference to a communication received at the last meeting from Mr. Dougall in regard to the "Cronk matter." Mr. Dougall had stated that the cause could be argued before three judges instead of one, and as the only extra cost would arise from the employment of counsel, and as no costs would arise from witnesses, he would like to hear Mr. Dougall on the subject. If the town won the case we would of course have less costs to pay, and if the case was gone on with the expense would not be much. He would ask that Mr. Dougall be heard, which was granted.

Mr. Dougall read a letter from Mowat Maclennan & Downey giving their opinion in the case, and added that according to the letter if the post on the southwest corner of lot No. 1 was the correct boundary, then Cronk would win, but if that between lots 3 and 4 was the correct one, then the case would not go against the town. All the evidence he averred that could be taken was now in; also the documents, and if the town would put up $40 for a re-hearing, the probabilities were that the town would win the suit and Cronk would have to pay the costs. The construction of the street in question was of importance, as was also the line of the street, for if the decision given in this case was correct, it would affect the position of Front Street and have it moved nearer the river. He cited the action of Justice Galt in the Taylor case; also that of Justice Draper, which resulted in Taylor's cutting down a part of the schoolhouse, and the subsequent decision of Justice Wilson. The Chancellor had given an opinion which caused dissatisfaction in the minds of those who are now acting for the town as his agents, and he would therefore ask that an effort be made to have the case go on.

Mr. Holden said the only question now was the money. We had $1,500 in the suit, and the question was could we put any more in.

Mr. Dougall continued. He submitted that the case against Taylor had gone against him; he also cited the Case of Diamond vs. Coleman to support his ideas. He spoke in regard to the judgment of the Chancellor, and averred that he showed a disposition now to have the case reheard. He cited arguments to support his ideas in regard to the obstruction of streets as affecting Cronk's position on Rear Street, and considered that according to a decision in 1852, Cronk's house was on the line.

The question then dropped.

An account for clothing furnished by Mr. Walsh for officer Cook on the order of G. E. Henderson, on the 12th of January, provoked some discussion.

Mr. Meagher moved that the amount be paid, and Mr. Brennan seconded the motion.

Mr. S. Hambly said Mr. Henderson was not a member of the Council when he gave the order.

Mr. Holden was willing to pay a reasonable sum but he did not know that the amount asked for was proper.

The account was ordered to be paid.

Moved by Mr. St. Charles, seconded by Mr. Yeomans that the award for the opening up of and extending William Street be passed.

Mr. Holden opposed the motion and did not why it should be put in. He thought the price too large, besides there was a good many circumstances to be considered before we granted $1000 for this property.

Mr. S. Hambly said it had been stated that $800 was a large sum for this property. The property was not worth $400; besides it had not been arbitrated on.

Mr. J. Hambly said that there was a resolution of the Council in the premises. He considered that the value of the property as now set down was a fair one, but in view of a former resolution of the Council he would like to hear the opinion of Mr. Holden.

Mr. Holden detailed the proceedings in regard to the proposed purchase of this property, and cited the action of the Council staying all efforts towards arbitration. Nevertheless the arbitration was afterwards proceeded with, and an award made.

In answer to Mr. J. Hambly, the Solicitor said as the award had not been adopted by the Town Council, the town was not liable, as the proceedings had been stayed and the arbitration stopped.

Mr. Yeomans spoke in support of Mr. Nulty's claim and considered that Mr. N. had not been fairly dealt with.

Mr. St. Charles considered the price was a reasonable one for the quantity of property involved.

The motion was passed.

Committee rose and reported.

On the adoption of the report Mr. Patterson moved, seconded by Mr. St. Charles that the clause relating to the repeal of the bonus granted the B. & N. H. R. and Smelting Works be stricken out.

In support of his motion Mr. Patterson objected that this project, which had been passed by such a large majority of the people, should be singled out.

Mr. Holden said the time the works were to be opened and finished had expired. Besides the existence of such an item on the books was cumbrous. The by-law was passed in May 1875; all its provisions were known; the by-law was out of the way; no one had any claim on it and it was an encumbrance. The by-law was caried by a majority on certain conditions and no attempt had been made to carry them out.

Mr. J. Hambly said the bonus voted this project was no more cumbersome than that voted to the G. T. R. Doubtless it was a dead letter, but it was not right for the Council to express an opinion in the premises. The promoters of this scheme had spent $75,000 of their money and it would be unwise to pass this clause, especially as the promoters of the road had spent a large amount of money, kept large numbers employed and had to encounter many serious difficulties.

Mr. S. Hambly said that the G. T. R. employed 257 hands. The B. & N. H. R. none. The same company pays $13,000 per month in wages. The B. & N. H. R. none, and therefore there was no comparison in the cases.

Mr. Holden said that it was in the interest of the town that the by-law should be repealed. Certainly, those connected with the B & N. H. R., had spent their own money, yet the G. T. R. was not the same category with it.

Mr. Pope was not prepared to vote, other than in favor of the amendment to-night, as he did not have time to consider it.

The Mayor voted yea and declared the motion carried.

Council again went into Committee and passed the report as amended. Mr. Holden moved that the report be again referred, for the purpose of striking out that part relating to the award for the Nulty property. He averred that no award had been made: that the price proposed was extravagant and that no witnesses had been called for the town.

Mr. Price said he had voted as he did considering that an award had been made and that the Solicitor had given his consent for the arbitration to proceed.

Mr. Nulty was heard. He said the arbitration was carried on with the consent of the Solicitor; the land was valued and could not be had any cheaper. The Solicitor had told him that the whole matter would be carried out even if the property cost $5,000.

The Solicitor said that he did state so but not knowing the existence of the resolution prohibiting the award. The amendment was lost.

Mr. Holden called for the yeas and nays.

The Mayor voted nay and declared the motion lost.

The report was then adopted.

Council went into Committee on Ways and Means—Mr. Yeomans in the chair.

The Market and Police Committee's report was read.

The clause relating to the sale of fish was passed; also that relating to the reprimanding of Officer Cook in case he disobeyed the rules of the force.

On the reading of the third clause ordering the appointment of Rufus Rankins in place of Mr. McCoy, Mr. Brennan moved that McCoy be re-appointed. In support of this motion he said that a large petition had been presented in favor of this object.

Mr. Pope read a petition favoring the appointment of Mr. Rankins. In the face of that he considered that Mr. R. should be appointed. He did not think it right to dismiss a man one night and re-appoint him the next.

Mr. Meagher argued in favor of giving McCoy another trial especially so since he had joined the Workingmen's Temperance Association.

Mr. J. Hambly said the Council had vindicated themselves by their treatment of McCoy and he therefore advised his get ing another chance. He had had a severe lesson and it would be wise to give him another opportunity.

Mr. Pope asked if McCoy was an old and efficient officer, as stated, how was it he was always in trouble. McCoy was suspended once and had been drunk and asleep on duty afterwards. What was wanted was discipline in the force, and he contended that if McCoy showed he was sincere in what he was doing he would have a chance before long but now it was child's play to endorse him.

Mr. St. Charles, on account of the stand taken by him at the last meeting, said he would favor the re-appointment of McCoy.

Mr. Holden said in justice to the Committee the report should be passed. It was useless to dismiss a man one day and appoint him the next.

Mr. Patterson spoke in favor of the report.

The amendment was lost and the report passed.

Committee rose and reported.

Mr. J. Hambly called for the yeas and nays on the last clause.

Yeas.—St. Charles, Hambly, Meagher, Brennan.

The report was then adopted.

The rules were suspended to admit of the passing of certain by-laws.

A by-law for the levying of town and school taxes; one for the collection of the same and one in regard to the annexation of a portion of Thurlow for school purposes were passed.

The by-law to raise $30,000 to pay off the town's indebtedness to the Merchants Bank was supplemented with a clause providing for the construction of a sewer on Front Street from Hotel Street to the Upper Bridge.

Council adjourned to meet on Monday evening next.

REPRIMANDED.—At the meeting of the Town Council last evening officer Cook was reprimanded for an infringement of the rules of the force. A repetition of the offence will ensure his dismissal.

A LONG SESSION.—The session of the Council last evening was a long one, lasting as it did till three minutes to twelve. As will be seen by perusing our report a considerable amount of business was transacted.

MARINE ACCIDENT.—The Palladium of Saturday says:—"The schooner Snow Bird light, bound from Toronto to Belleville for a load of lumber, dragged her anchor and went ashore on Fish Point in a squall yesterday morning. She was still on yesterday afternoon.

SETTLED.—A resolution was passed last night ordering the payment of $1,000 to P. M. Nulty for the land necessary for the extending of William Street northward. This matter has been so frequently before the Council that we are glad it has at last been disposed of.

COMING HOME.—Singly and in parties those who avoided "The heat and dust of the city," by visiting their country cousins or living at some popular pleasure resort, are returning to their homes and the places that knew them once will not know them again till next summer. Tenting on the old camp ground may now be considered a thing of the past.

MEETING.—The adjourned meeting of the Yacht Club will be held at Cuthbert's this evening when the committee appointed to invite subscriptions for the regatta on the 17th will give a report of their labors. Arrangements for the perfecting of the race between the "Kathleen" and "Surprise," will be entered into and pools will be sold on the event.

INDIAN RELICS.—Mr. James Easton of Milltown showed us to-day three appliances used by Indians in by-gone times. They are made of stone and are wedge-like in shape: two of them are for the skinning of deer and the other is a goudge. Though not as neat nor finely shaped as the appliances of now-a-days they give a good idea of Indian ingenuity.

NOTE.—Inspector Ross wishes us to state that he did not drink two glasses of lager beer in the Opera House on the 10th; that what was drank by him was only about half a wine glass, and further that the two first glasses drawn from the keg were all froth. From the effect produced on him he would consider lager intoxicating.

ARRIVED.—The yacht Ida (Commodore Jones), of Charlotte, N. Y., with a crew of nine, arrived here this morning from the Thousand Islands. The Ida is about 14 tons, is rigged in a very substantial manner, and is a capable boat for cruising. Her party intend taking in the race at Trenton to-morrow and leaving for home on Thursday.

AMUSEMENT NOTE.—Amusement lovers should bear in mind that the Royal Star Dramatic Company begins a season of four nights in the Opera House here to-morrow evening. Miss. Miles the leading attraction is a very clever and a pains-taking actress and the other prominent members of the party are said to be efficient performers. "Mary Stuart" will constitute the bill to-morrow evening and will be followed by a "Kiss in the Dark."

FOR MONTREAL.—The excursion train for Montreal left here this afternoon shortly after one o'clock. A very large party from this section got on board here. We are informed that such was the demand for tickets here that 1,000 were sold and over 200 demands could not be complied with.

RIFLE MATCH.—A few days ago the Belleville Ontario suggested that the 49th team should come and scoop out the Kingston Rifle Association when their annual matches came off. The result of the recent rifle meeting in Toronto will indicate what sort of material the 49th will compete against when they come down. The 47th team is ready for the contest.—Whig

We would like to have a meeting take place between the two teams, and if one comes off, we have no doubt the 49th team can keep up their record. The Whig should bear in mind that the 49th shot with the Snider at Toronto, whereas the rifle they are accustomed to and use is the Martini-Henry. That's what accounts for the milk in the cocoa-nut.

VAGRANCY.

Jane Arthurs, remanded from yesterday was sent to jail for three months for this offence.

ABBREVIATONS.

WET WEATHER.—It is feared that the almost incessant wet weather will seriously interfere with the harvesting operations in the Quebec district.

FALSE REPORT.—Considerable indignation is felt in Quebec over a rediculously false statement that as many as twenty deaths occur daily in that city from typhoid fever. The Health Committee will issue an official report.

THE COLD SNAP.—Reports from different parts of the country represent the weather on the 3rd. inst very cold, more like November than the first part of September.

RAILWAY BONUS.—A By-law will be submitted to the rate-payers of Ottawa in favor of giving a bonus of $200.000 to the proposed railway between that city and Toronto.

WE CHICKENS.—The Whig crows over "our champions," and welcomes the return home of the victorious Cricket Club and 47th Rifle Team. How we chickens swim.

HOW IT HAPPENED.—For the benefit of the "Whig" we merely remark that the Bliss Memorial Poem was in type before being read, and that is how it appeared in our columns. We took it for granted that our contemporary was as good a judge of poetry as of everything else, but if he persists in considering that Poem worth crediting our faith shall be rudely shaken.

ILLEGAL.—The lawyers requested to give an oppinion to the St. Patrick's National Association, of Montreal, as to the legality of the Orange Association, have done so, and pronounce it an illegal body, the oath which is administered by them being also illegal. The St. Patrick's Association intends to indict several leading orangemen for administering oaths at the next term of the Court of Queen's Bench.

THE S. S. PARLIAMENT.

Sunday was the closing day of the Sunday School Parliament. In the morning Bishop Fallows preached an eloquent and practical sermon. In the afternoon a Sunday School service was held, and in the evening a "song sermon" was delivered by Phillip Phillips, followed by farewell addresses.

The Thousand Island Park Association report a prosperous season. The sale of lots realized $4,200. Over $2,000 were taken at the gate during the Parliament.

A LUCAN MYSTERY.

A STRANGE POISONING CASE.

LONDON, Sept. 1.—An elderly man, a retired farmer, named John Regan, who has lived in Lucan village for a few years, died very suddenly on the morning of the 18th ult., from the effects, as the doctors aver, of a dose of strychnine. A few minutes before he died, Regan told Dr. Hossack, who was called to attend him, and also his wife, that he had been poisoned, and that it was the "bad meat that had done it." The doctor felt convinced in his own mind that the patient had been poisoned, not alone from his own statement, but from the stiff position in which he found the body when he entered, Regan lay on his back, but the head and heels were the only portions of the body which touched the bed. This with continual vomiting, led him to believe that strychnine or some other deadly poison had been administered, and he consequently informed Dr. Gunn, of Ailsa Craig, of his suspicions suggesting at the same time that an inquest should be held and a "post mortem examination made to determine the cause of Regan's death. Dr. Gunn who is a coroner, coincided with Dr. Hossack, and during the afternoon of the same day ordered a jury to be empannelled, in accordance with the request of Regan's medical attendant. While the jury were being summoned, Drs Sutton and Hossack, of Lucan, held a "post mortem," and gave it as their opinion that Regan came to his death by poisoning with strychnine. At the inquest, Mr. W. Moore, druggist of the village, was called upon, and testified that Mr. Jas. Hogan, a stepson of Regan's had purchased arsenic and strychnine from him on two occasions, for the purpose, as Hogan said, of killing rats which infested his cellar. The arsenic was purchased early in the spring and the strychnine some time in June. From this evidence it was surmised that Hogan might have given Regan some of the strychnine he had purchased, and it it was decided to send the contents of deceased's stomach to Professor Croft, of Toronto, for analysis This was done some ten days ago, and the investigation was adjourned until yestereay to await the report of the analyse. Accordingly the inquest was resumed at the Queen's Hotel yesterday afternoon, but the report from Toronto was not forthcoming, mainly owing to the absence of Prof. Croft at Cacouna. The Coroner, however, decided upon examining the witnesses who had been subpœnaed, and the inquest was proceeded with. The widow of the deceased was first examined, and testified that her husband had for years been subject to severe pains in the stomach, which, after eating, produced cramps and caused him to vomit. She entered into explanations regarding his habits of life, and stated that on the morning of the 18th ult., he cut a piece of pork from a "rasher" which hung in the house, and cooked it in a pan which contained some gravy, and which had not been cleaned after it was last used; Regan only cooked enough for himself, and ate all of it, but a bite, while eating he mentioned that the meat had a peculiar taste, and his wife thereupon told him if the meat tasted bad not to eat it; he then desisted, and left a small piece, as has been stated; feeling sick he repaired to his bedroom, as was his wont after nearly every meal, and, after being in bed about ten minutes, he called his wife and asked her to bring some hot water and a feather in order that he might get some relief by vomiting; this she did; but instead rallying Regan became worse, and Dr Hossack was immediately called in and prescribed for the patient; in fifteen minutes after he arrived Regan breathed his last. This was the substance of the wife's testimony. During her examination, the fact was elicited that her husband had considerable money, and not having made a will it was conjectured that the old man might have been poisoned so that the money could be divided. But, so far as the evidence went yesterday, not the slightest suspicion could, by any possibility, be fastened upon either the widow or her son. Indeed, they gave a very clear and circumstantial account of their doings on the morning of the old man's death, explaining everything in connection therewith in minute detail. In order that the report of Professor Croft might be procured, the inquest was further adjourned until the 7th of September, at 6:30 o'clock.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

Brigham Young's Will.

INTERCEDING FOR PEACE.

The Miners' Strike Broken.

The Great Fire in New York.

PROBABLE LOSS OF LIFE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—The Times Chicago special says President Spencer of the Bankrupt Savings Bank is believed to be in Canada.

The Tribune's Salt Lake City special says Brigham Young's will was read to the family yesterday. The estate of $2,000,000 is equitably divided among his 17 wives and 44 children, the division to be made when the youngest child becomes of age, which will be thirteen years hence.

The Times cables say that friends of Russia in high quarters in England are using their influence in favor of peace. It is thought that under present circumstances Russia may not repel the good offices of other powers and Turkey would not begrudge the required concessions.

The Herald's Mauch Chunk special says the backbone of the miner's strike is broken. A speedy resumption is expected of 37 collieries in Hazleton district. In the heart of the Lehigh district thirty-two are in full operation.

The Tribune says Wm. Henry Smith has been appointed Collector at Chicago, vice Jones suspended.

The Times shows that while the aggregate revenues of the Government last year fall $25,000,000 below those of 1876, the net surplus was but $5,000,000 below the surplus of '76. This is accounted for by a reduction in expenditures last year of nearly $20,000,000. The public debt shows a permanent reduction in interest for the year of over $3,000,000.

No reliable list of loss of life by yesterdays fire can yet be given. A workman on the second floor says probably 10 or 12 on the top floor were buried in the ruins. Foreman Hartell has nearly a complete list of the workmen who have reported since the fire, and is positive only 4 or 5 were unable to escape. The foreman gives the number of workmen in the factory when the fire started as 70 or 80. Mason, who escaped to the roof and thence down the chain escape, says fifty men were on the roof, and thinks forty perished. The firemen who first arrived in 36th St. say they saw men in all the windows above the 3rd storey, striving to escape yet afraid to leap. Before the firemen could cut the clothes lines stretched across the intervening space and get their ladders up, the flames burst from the windows. Then four men leaped from the 3rd storey. All were seriously injured. One truck Captain is certain 20 or more perished. One fireman declares he saw 2 or 3 heads at every window in the fourth and 5th stories. Another saw several jump from the window.

The Sun says the loss of life cannot be approximated until the ruins cool and can hardly be determined with certainty for weeks if ever. The lack of water was caused by small street mains.

Mrs. Jane House, who murdered her husband, has been released from Trenton Lunatic Asylum.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

STEAMER BURNED.

The Cause of Thiers' Death.

It's Probable Effect.

SWANTON, Vt., Sept 4.—The steamer Montreal, owned by the N. T. Line of Whitehall was burned at McQuam Harbor last night; loss, $25,000. The crew barely escaped.

LONDON, Sept. 4.—The attack which carried off Thiers was what is called in France, apoplexie foudroy. He was apparently in good health in the morning, and took his usual walk. After luncheon he felt symptoms of illness which speedily developed into an apoplectic fit. He remained unconscious and died at six apparently without pain. No event short of a coup d' etat or a Communist rising could have created so profound an impression throughout France. Its effect on the present political crisis cannot yet be properly weighed.

Gambetta is now without a rival in the Republican party but his advanced views are so alarming to the Left Centre that the Republican party will probably seek to counteract the evil effects of Thiers's removal by putting forward Grevy, ex President of the Chamber of Deputies, as a candidate for succession to the Presidency in the event of MacMahon's retirement.

A CASE OF TWENTY YEARS STANDING.

From Mrs. Joseph Baker, of Johnson, Vt.

"I feel it my duty to make known to the world the wonderful efficacy of your WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. For twenty years I was sorely afflicted with phthisic, and previous to using the BALSAM was pronounced by the physicians incurable. Two or three bottles afforded me a good deal of relief, and as many more completely restored me; and for two years past I have not had the least return of that painful complaint."

50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Mitchell's Belladonna Improved India Rubber Porous Plaster.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

The principal ingredients used in making these Plasters are Gum Olibanum—or better known as the Frankincense of the Bible—Rubber and Burgundy Pitch; which, when scientifically compounded, is full of electricity and when combined with the pure medical gums, is found to be one of the greatest healing mediums ever brought before the human race.

They are acknowledged by all who have used them to act quicker than any other Plasters they ever before tried, and that one of these Plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other Plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

They possess all the soothing, warming, supporting and strengthening qualities of all other Plasters. Many who have been relieved of RHEUMATISM, TICDOLOREUX, and various other pains in the KIDNEYS, BREAST or SIDE, and believe it is solely done by the electrical qualities which the Porous Plasters contain, and which is imparted to the system, thus restoring them to a healthy condition.

They are very soft and pliable, still very adhesive; and a sure cure for WEAK BACKS PAINS IN THE SIDE and BREAST; and are invaluable to those who have a COLD of long standing, and often prevents CONSUMPTION. Some even tell us they believe they were entirely cured by the use of them of a long-seated Consumption.

Prepared by GEORGE E. MITCHELL, Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

PETTIT'S SALVE,

An Infallible Remedy for all Diseases of the Eye (acute or chronic), Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands Film, and Weakness of the Vision from any cause.

THE AMERICAN EYE-SALVE is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also, for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain, and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe, and effectual remedy ever discovered. The materials of which it is made are pure, perfect, and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and, of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye-washes. RINGWORM and OLD CHRONIC SORES, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the AMERICAN EYE-SALVE. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate, and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of "DR. J. PETITT'S AMERICAN EYE-SALVE," while making new and improved machinery for making a more perfect box for the Eye Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the Wrapper, Circulars, Advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.

CITY OF LONDON.

London is the greatest city the world ever saw. It is the heart of the British Empire and of the world. It covers within the fifteen miles radius of Charing Cross nearly seven hundred square miles. It numbers within those boundaries 4,000,000 inhabitants. It comprises 100,000 foreigners from every quarter of the globe. It contains more Roman Catholics than Rome itself, more Jews than the whole of Palestine, more Irish than Dublin, more Scotchmen than Edinburgh, more Welshmen than Cardiff, and more country-born persons than the counties of Devon, Warwickshire, and Durham combined. Has a birth in every five minutes, and a death every eight minutes. Has seven accidents in its seven thousand miles of streets. Has on an average twenty-eight miles of new streets and 9,000 new houses built in it every year. Has 128 persons every day and 45,000 added to its population every year. Has 1,000 ships and 9,000 sailors in its port every day. Has 117,000 habitual criminals on its police register, increasing at an average of 30,000 per annum. Has more than one-third of all the crime in the country committed in it. Has as many beer-shops and gin-palaces as would, if placed side by side, stretch from Charing Cross to Portsmouth, a distance of seventy-three miles. Has 38,000 drunkards annually brought before its magistrates. Has as many paupers as would occupy every house in Brighton. Has upwards of a million habitual neglecters of public worship. Has sixty miles of open shops: every Lord's day has need of 900 new churches and 200 missionaries. Has an influence with all parts of the world represented by the yearly deliverance of 238,000,000 letters.

INTERPRETATION OF DREAMS.

An English paper gives the following clue to the interpretation of dreams :—To dream of a millstone round your neck, is a sign of what you may expect if you get an extravagant wife. To see apples in a dream, betokens a wedding, because where you find apples you may reasonably expect to find pears. To dream that your are lame, is a token that you will get in a hobble. When a young lady dreams of a coffin, it betokens that she should instantly discontinue lacing her stays tightly, and always go warmly and thickly shod in wet weather. If you dream of a clock, it is a token that you will get credit—that is tick. To dream of a fire, is a sign that if you are wise, you will see that the lights in your house are out before you go to bed. To dream that your nose is red at the tip, is an intimation that you had better leave off brandy and water. To dream of walking barefooted, denotes a journey that you will make bootless.

THE WAY TO CONQUER.

"I'll master it," said an axe, and his blows fell heavily on the iron; but every blow made his edge more blunt, till he ceased to strike.

"Leave it to me," said the saw, and with his relentless teeth he worked backward and forward on its surface, till they were all worn down or broken; then he fell aside.

"Ha ! ha!" said the hammer. "I knew you wouldn't succeed, "I'll show you the way," but at his first stroke, off flew his head, and the iron remained as before.

"Shall I try ?" asked the soft, small flame. But they all despise the flame; but he curled gently around the iron, and embraced it, and never left it till it melted under his irresistible influence. There are hearts hard enough to resist the force of wrath, the malice of persecution, and the fury of pride, so as to make their acts recoil on their adversaries; but there is a power stronger than any of these, and hard indeed is that heart that can resist love.

FIGHT FOR LIFE WITH A MAD DOG.

From the Boston Journal.

A fearful encounter with a mad dog occurred in Bridgewater, N. H., on Thursday last. On the afternoon of that day a large mastiff entered the house of Widow Huckins and sprang at the throat of a young woman, a daughter of Mrs. Huckins. She threw up her arm and the dog bit her in the right hand. The mother, who was in another room, hastened to her assistance, when the dog sprang at her, biting her in the same way. The dog then ran down the road to the house of Gilman Fletcher. Here a small pet dog was tied in front of the house. The mastiff sprang upon him and killed him. Mr. Fletcher, who was the only one at home, raised a window to ascertain what the trouble was, when the dog bit him in the left arm, making an ugly wound. Mr. Fletcher then seized a pair of large tongs and stepped to the door, when the dog sprang at his throat. A blow from the tongs knocked him back, but he instantly rallied and made another spring, with the same result. Thus the fight continued for a long time, the dog becoming more infuriated at every blow, when finally he succeeded in driving his fangs into Fletcher's right arm, tearing the flesh into shreds. It was now a fight for life, and by a desperate effort the dog was given a blow that partially stunned him. This was promptly followed up, and the dog soon despatched.

HOME, WIFE, AND SATURDAY NIGHT.

Happy is the man who has a little home and a little angel in it of a Saturday night—a house no matter how little, provided it will hold two or so; no matter how humbly furnished, provided there is hope in it. Let the winds blow—close curtains. What if they are plain calico, without border, tassel, or any such thing. Let the rain come down—heap up the fire. No matter if you havn't a candle to bless yourself with, for what a beautiful light a glowing coal makes! rendering cloudless, shedding a sunset through the room—just light enough to talk by, not loud as in the highways, not rapid as in the hurrying world, but softly, slowly, whispering, with pauses between, for the storm without and the thought within to fill you up with. Then wheel the sofa around by the fire! no matter if the sofa is a settee, unchusioned at that, if so be it is just light enough for two and a half in it. How sweetly the music of silver bells for the time to come falls on the listening heart then! How mournfully swell the chimes of "the days that are no more."

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply privately and radically.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

Promptly relieves pains of Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discoloration and heals rapidly.

LADIES find it their best friend. It assuages the pains to which they are peculiarly subject—notably fullness and pressure in the head, nausea, vertigo, &c. It promptly ameliorates and permanently heals all kinds of Inflammations and ulcerations.

HEMORRHOIDS or PILES find in this the only immediate relief and ultimate cure. No case however chronic or obstinate can long resist its regular use.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this it is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere.

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific), Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE. Removes Soreness, Roughness and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. It revives, invigorates and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleedings, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, &c. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every farm-yard as well as in every farm-house. Let it be tried once and you will never be without it.

CAUTION! Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians, and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

THE DEAD PROPHET.

A New Bridge of Sighs.

BY JAMES PENUCKLE.

One more polygamous,
Short in the breath,
Frightfully bigamous,
Gone to his death.

Turn not away from him,
Scorning to touch;
Go nearer and pray for him
Married so much,

Think of his fathers-in-law,
Two hundred brothers-in-law,
Three hundred sisters-in-law,
Fifty odd mothers-in-law,
All in one family
Think of their daily life,
Full of domestic strife,
Cat fights and squealings;
Think of the tears and cries,
Then try to Ann Eliza
Some of their feelings.
Think of the weekly dues,
And of the baby shoes
And stockings unnumbered;
Think of the payments large,
Think of a daily charge
Of an infant Six Hundred.

Oh! turn not away from him
Scorning to touch;
Go nearer and pray for him,
Married so much.

Oh! this is pitiful!
A city with widows full,
Buxum and fair.
Old bachelors, think of it;
Go near to the brink of it
Now, if you dare.

Still for his bigamy
And muddy polygamy
Leave him at rest:
Cross his hands humbly,
As if praying dumbly,
Over his breast;
Owning his weakness,
The poor erring creature,
And leaving with meekness
His mantle to Beecher.

HISTORY OF THOMAS CAT.

George A. Quimby in the Boston Globe.

I have taken the precaution to clothe myself in a coat of mail before attacking this subject. The Tom cat being encased in a coat of male too, I wish to be on as near an equal footing with him as possible, but still he now beats me by two feet. It is hard to get the advantage of a cat. Anybody who can get the advantage of a cat does not need a guardian; he can just go right out in the cold world and earn a dollar a day the year round.

The cat was invented a long time ago. I have forgotten the name of the inventor. It was patented, and for a long time the inventor held it as a monopoly, but after a time the patent run out, and the cat came into general use, since that time there has been some improvements added, so that the cat of this age is a hard thing to beat.

Cats are of a couple of kinds. One is the Tom cat, and the other—well, the other isn't. A cat is all born at once with the exception [illegible] nine days late. When a cat commences it is always called a kitten, and there are usually considerable many brothers and sisters of him at once, and for nine days they are obliged to go it blind. The eye business sticks me. I have read up all the works of optics, and notice that most everything that is going to have eyes have them built in under the original contract, even to the potato, and why the cat is left out I cannot discover any more than I can why a woman looks under a bed to find a man.

The cat is composed of a peculiar composition, similar to India rubber; the exact combination of the material is one of the lost arts. I dropped a cat out of a five-story window on Broadway once, and he bounced up about a rod and landed on his feet. He didn't even feel to see if any bones were broken; he simply glanced at the lamp post on the corner, and read the name of the street to get his bearings, and then sailed away as peacefully as though he was just out of a stage. It is wonderful how far a cat will tumble and not break.

Cats have a tail built into them on the after end. In repose it is about the size of a broom handle, but when excited the owner can blow it up about the size of a Bologna sausage, and when erect in the air it gives the cat a very gamy appearance. The principal uses of the tail to the domestic cat are few. Their memories are poor, and they forget and leave their tails round on the floor for people to step on. One of the chief delights a cat experiences is in getting the tail under the rocker of a chair, just in the right season to catch the whole weight of the chair at the coming down.

To get the pure, unadulterated cat, one needs go to the city and make the acquaintance of the Tom cat. There is more life to the square inch in a city Tom cat than can be found anywhere else, barring a piece of cheese. There he flourishes in all his native vigor. There his cat like qualities find full play.

Then he courts,
Then he fights,
Then he yells,
On moonlight nights,
Climbing fences, dodging boots,
Also bullets as he scoots
From the chimney to the gutter,
Down conductor to the shutter,
Into the garden plat,
Scat!
That Cat!

The Tom cat and the street lamp attend to business chiefly at night. Day time they are more ornamental than useful. Sprawling around the stove, basking in the sun, he passes away the day in sleep. As night approaches he braces up, and starts out to attend to business. He has no friends. Every cat he meets is an enemy. He meets the enemy and they are his, or he is theirs; it is as often one way as the other. As soon as he sees the foe he arches his back, inflates his tail and sounds the war cry. Talk about the tocsin alarm; the Tom cat calls in a voice that immediately gives him the belt for hideous noises. The enemy near each other; there is not a clash of arms exactly, but there is an interlocking and braiding of legs, two lumps of animated hair go into the air and come down unto the ground and roll over, and claw, and scratch, and fur flies; and it flies fur, and they scratch faces, and they face scratches, and they yawl, and howl, and tear for a few moments, and then unbraid their legs and sit down and look at each

FRIDAY EVENING, SEPT. 7.

THE Mail's Ottawa correspondent is very enterprising. When facts do not suit him he can draw on his imagination for the necessary items of news. A few days ago he had Mr. B. Devlin, member for Montreal Centre, made a Senator, and because the appointment was not duly gazetted himself and the organ he serves are at a loss how to explain matters. He has, in addition to this, been reconstructing the Cabinet, and puts M. Cauchon up in Manitoba as Lieutenant-Governor Morris' successor. Mr. Blake, too, is again disposed to kick over the Ministerial traces, according to the same authority, and there's grave differences in the Grit camp generally.

COMMISSIONER FRASER.

Our readers are doubtless aware that Mr. W. H. Frazer acted as a Government Commissioner in connection with the Canadian exhibit at the Centennial last year. He was well paid for his services, and this induced Mr. Fraser to behave most complacently, and the good graces of the Ministers were constantly in his mouth. But Mr. Fraser is not a Government Commissioner this year, though he made obsequious application for the office. Hence a change in his political sentiments. The Mackenzie Administration is now "steeped to the lips in iniquity," according to Mr. Frazer's version of their public deeds. So ardent has he become in his opposition that the U. E. Club, of Toronto, has engaged his services as a special advocate of Protection. He has opened the campaign, well primed with staple "facts" for the edification of the mass. Last Friday evening he appeared at Guelph, and after an oration of profound logic and sound reasoning essayed to answer a few questions propounded by persons present. How he succeeded we will let the Mercury tell. The following questions were put:—

Mr. McLagan—Will you please inform us in what year the tariff was reduced from 20 to 15 per cent?

Mr. Frazer—I think it was either in 1872 or 1873.

Mr. McLagan—It is strange you are not better informed on questions you came here to enlighten the public on. The change took place in 1866.

Mr. Chase—How many months out of twelve could a blast furnace be successfully run if the American iron was shut out altogether?

Mr. Frazer—At the present time there are two furnaces in operation in Canada, one at Three Rivers and one at Londonderry. As to how long they might run to the full extent during a year I am not in a position to state.

Mr. McLagan—How do you propose to discriminate between this country and England?

Mr. Frazer—The Convention to be held on the 24th is the place to settle such questions. I hope Mr. McLagan does not think that I am a fool, or something worse, that I should attempt to arrange a tariff for the country.

Mr. McLagan—By your own showing you came here for the purpose of imparting some such information.

Mr. Guthrie—Is the Convention to be held in Toronto for manufacturers only?

Mr. Frazer—It is for manufacturers, millers and agriculturists. A committee has been appointed to invite distinguished agriculturists. Representatives of the Millers' Association will also be there.

Mr. Guthrie—Is the question to be discussed to be a revenue tariff against a protective one, or is the Convention for those who think we want a protective tariff, and the matter to be discussed is how much should it be raised?

Mr. Frazer—The Convention is purely for consultation in regard to the best means of building up our industries.

Mr. Guthrie—In that case it is strange that the Secretary of the Association should hold meetings for discussing only one side of the question. It would be interesting to know if Mr. Frazer was here advocating the claims of the Association.

Mr. Frazer—I have been for years a protectionist, and therefore would not advocate free trade, when I believe it would be injurious to the country.

Mr. James Laidlaw—Will the farmers who are to be present at the Convention be chosen in Toronto, or will farmers have the privilege of choosing their own representatives?

Mr. Frazer—Manufacturers and agriculturists are to be invited, so that one section will not have more representatives than another. Free discussion will be the great feature. The Millers' Association will choose their own representatives.

Mr. Whitelaw—I am a free trader, and believe in the principles of free trade. Wellington is one of the most important counties in the Province. Are the farmers to choose their own representatives, or will mechanics or others have the privilege of choosing for us?

Mr. Frazer—There will be a branch Association in this place which will choose representatives. I hope it if not thought that a committee in Toronto will appoint all the delegates.

MUNICIPAL POLITICS.

When Sir John called his faithful followers together at the Russel House, Ottawa, immediately after his resignation in 1873, he advised that, as one particular means of getting possession of the Treasury Benches again, they should aim at a monopolization of the minor offices. Municipal matters were to be carefully looked after and while professing to act indifferently to politics, every effort was to be made to have only those professing the true faith appointed to positions of influence. The County Council of Lennox and Addington seems to have been elected, and is now conducted, solely for the benefit of the so-called Liberal Conservative party. Not long since the leading members of that political party announced their intention to organize a County Association, and invited the co-operation of all who took an interest in the proceedings. The County Council, acting upon this notice, made the time of its regular meeting answer the two fold purpose of legislating for the municipality and promoting the good Tory cause. By this means the members, the majority of whom are followers of Sir John, could economize means and serve the party at the expense of the ratepayers of the County. Their per diem and mileage were paid; there was no necessity to pay postage or buy stationery; the people did this for them, and while pretending to be engrossed with municipal matters they could jointly help push forward the Association project. With this object in view, meetings were appointed so that the Councillors were able to come to Napanee, spend three or four days ostensibly in the service of the County, draw their pay, and give most of their attention to party politics. The Warden was made President of the Liberal-Conservative Association, the Reeves of every municipality, excepting Napanee, were elected Vice-Presidents, and a large percentage of the members zealous adherents of the party movement. With such a record to begin with, the final result of "cooking" the Voters' lists and controlling the elections was well assured. It is altogether likely that the revision of the lists next year will not redound much to the advantage of the Reformers of Lennox and Addington.

But this is not all. The Liberal-Conservatives of Lennox and Addington are in earnest and stop at no half-way points. Having inaugurated their Association under such very favorable auspices, they have resolved upon an immediate extension of its functions. A trio of the faithful few have been delegated as missionaries, with instructions to visit every school section in the County and organize branch Associations. In addition to the ordinary subscription of membership those who join have been solicited to sign a writing pledging themselves to vote for the candidate brought out by the Central Association. And this is the way the Hon. Finance Minister is to be defeated at the ensuing general election and the constituency of Lennox and Addington redeemed from Grit misrepresentation.

RANDOM DASHES.

BULGARIAN atrocities—the war maps.

HORSES should not be watered more than three times a day.

THIS world needs less philosophy and more potatoes in a bill.

"GET up and light the fire," is again becoming a war cry in the domestic circle.

IF as much money was spent on peaceful pursuits as on war, how prosperous we would be.

> Oh, you John A.,
> You've had your day,
> That's what the people say,
> Because of what you did with the Pacific Railway.

ABBREVIATONS.

A LIVELY TIME.—The Montreal Express report a lively time in that City after the arrival of the excursion trains on Wednesday. The wholesale houses were kept busy attending to the wants of customers.

WANTS A TRIAL.—The Whig reminds the Watertown Times that the last and only time their City Band met the Battery Band was at Alexandria Bay, two years ago, when the Canadians got the prize. They are not affraid of another trial.

THAT EXCURSION.—The G. T. R. excursion trains on Tuesday arrived in Montreal as follows: 12.42, 1.30, 2.30, 3 and 4 a. m. These comprised 15 cars, and it estimated that from 65 to 70 persons were in each car, some of which were crowded that many gentlemen had to stand up. taking the average per car at 67, there would be over 5,000 on board.

JUST SO.—The Ottawa Free Press: And now, will "one of the ablest political writers in Canada," possessing "oratorical powers of the highest order," (vide immortal Plumb) tell us all about that corrupt bargain between Sir John and Mr. Mackenzie, by which the former wickedly received $5,000 for his farm at Kingston.

BODY FOUND.—A telegram from Toronto says: This morning the body of Frank Beasley, the soldier who has been missing since Saturday from the old fort, was found in the Bay about four feet from Queen's wharf. There are no marks of violence on the body, and it is supposed that deceased, while drunk, walked off the dock into the water. An inquest was held.

TREASURE TROVE.—The Ottawa Free Press has a most sensational story from Marathon—no less, indeed, than a pot of gold being there discovered on the farm of Ms. James Regan, it having been shown a Mr. Turner in a dream thrice repeated where the treasure lay, and on his repairing to the spot indicated he observed a light hovering over the place, which quickly changed from one color to another. Only sixty dollars' worth of coin, of the time of George III., is said to have been found, however.

THE OKA TROUBLE.—At a meeting of the Council of Civil Rights Alliances it was reported that the memorial to the Dominion Government on the Oka question was completed, and it will be presented by a deputation at an early day. Evidence relating to the burning of the Roman Catholic church at Oka was reported, which it is presumed will fully acquit the Indians now charged with the offence. In the meantime application is being made to have them liberated on bail as the Criminal Court will not sit at St. Scholastique until January.

NEW DISCOVERY.—Mr. David Smith, of Mapeltown, has recently made a discovery which will be a valuable one, not only to himself, but to cheese-makers generally. One of the great difficulties in cheese-making, during the hot season, is known as "floating curds," which invariably injure and wholly ruin the cheese. Thousands of dollars are thus annually sunk. Mr. Smith announces that he has fully tested his discovery, and can warrant it to answer the purpose. He has charge of the factory at Mapletown, and has spared neither time nor expense in practically testing the matter, and we have no doubt it will prove a valuable assistant to the Canada Cheese trade.

A GENERAL ELECTION.

A general election for the Dominion this autumn is again rumored from Ottawa, the only foundation for such a statement being the fact that a few superannuations and appointments have been made. What the object in circulating such rumors can be is not easy to arrive at. There is no prospect of a general election until more than a year hence. The Ministry have nothing to gain by it, as they have an all-sufficient majority in the present House. As prosperity returns they are becoming stronger in the country, so that if the next harvest should be a good one a triumph for them after it would be almost a certainty. There are several legislative measures which have to be passed before the choice of a new parliament is entrusted to the people. One of these is the recasting of the election law, both the general election law and that for the trial of controverted elections. Another necessary measure is a new Independence of Parliament Act, which will be a just one, and one which is such that its provisions can be enforced as the provisions of the present law cannot be. Mr. Blake is doubtless now framing acts and amendments in these matters, in the freedom from executive work, which he has in the Presidency of the Council. From his ability, and devotion to business which he takes in hand, it may confidently be expected that he will thoroughly master these subjects of legislation, and present to Parliament next session measures so complete and so well considered that they can be accepted with very little amendment. The general election need not be much looked for before December in next year.

BRIGHAM'S APOSTATE SON.

JOHN W. YOUNG RECLAIMED TO THE MORMON FAITH.

John W. Young, Brigham's apostate son, who renounced polygamy several years ago along with two wives to marry a handsome Philadelphia widow, has been lured back into the polygamic fold once more by the charms of his brother's widow, a daughter of Mrs. Stenhouse, who is now lecturing against mormonism. Clara Stenhouse is the only member of her family that still clings to this religion and she is so bigoted and fanatical that for a long time after her parents became apostatized she refused to even speak to them, and treated them with the utmost contempt.

John Young is the youngest child of the prophet's legal wife, and is the smartest and has seen more of the outside world than any other of Brigham's children. He is a shrewd business man, a railroad magnate in a small way, and has been a very frequent operator in Wall street. His contact with the Gentiles in his long and frequent visits to the large Eastern cities has not tended to increase his faith in Mormonism, and it has long been well known that he only remains in the church for the emoluments which his father's position afforded him. Of course these privileges, including the handling of the church tithing, were very convenient, but otherwise he had no belief in the doctrines of this gigantic religious fraud.

Like the majority of prominent Mormons, John W. embraced polygamy, but for several years has been a monogamist. His first wife was from Philadelphia and it was while on a visit to her relatives that he met the woman for whom he discarded both first and second wives. He was a handsome, attractive man and she a dashing young widow, and it seems it was a desperate case of love at first sight. She knew very well about his matrimonial entanglements, as his first wife was her own cousin, but that did not prevent her accompanying him to Utah under a promise to marry him after their arrival if he would discard his other wives, which he accordingly did.

This new marriage, of course, puts out of joint the nose of the monopolizing Philadelphia wife, but the popular verdict is that it serves her right, as she came out to Utah with the calm determination of betraying her own cousin by defrauding her of her husband, and carried her point with dogged pertinacity. She was an eastern born and educated girl, had already been once married, and could not find shelter under the excuse that she was raised in Mormonism and had been taught that polygamy was right. She may, perhaps, have loved John W., but most people believe that her course was actuated by pure selfishness.

CANADA AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

The Government have signified to the British Paris Exposition, their acceptance of the offer of 30 feet square in the main tower of the Foreign Department. Mr. Scott, chief architect of the Public Works Department, has been instructed to prepare a design for a Canadian trophy. The space set aside for this purpose is, it will be understood, in addition to that set apart for a general display of Canadian products. It is intended to have a complete exhibition at Paris of the newspaper and periodical publications of the Dominion.

SITTING BULL.

We have a new phase of this celebrated character. He is now represented as a British subject, having been born at Fort Garry, and is an Alumnus of St. John's College at that place. Old traders confirm this statement, and say he was known, when at College, as "Charlie Jacobs." He disappeared from Fort Garry in 1853. If this story turns out to be true, it will present new questions to be settled by the Commissioners about to leave Washington to confer with the dusky warrior.

THE WAR.

Instead of the grand Russian advance culminating in the capture of Plevna, and the annihilation of the whole Turkish army, as predicted in Wednesday's despatches, another defeat of the Muscovites is reported. The battle was fought in the vicinity Kazelovo, and the Russians are reported to have lost 3,000 men. They were also driven across the river Lom in great confusion. This new Turkish victory places the Czarevitch in an awkward position, from which he may be unable to extricate himself successfully. But, at the same time, Osman Pasha is no better situated, being placed between two large armies, commanded by the Czarevitch and Prince Charles.

HOW SAMSON SLEW THE PHILISTINES.

From the Sacremento Journal.

When I travelled, in 1871, in Palestine an old servant from the monastery of Ramleh, about fifty miles west from Jerusalem showed me the supposed place where Samson killed 1,000 Philistines with the jawbone of an ass. When I expressed my doubts as to the length and strength of a jawbone, considering the great number of surrounding enemies, the good man explained the case in the following manner: "Well, he took hold of the tail and swung the animal against the Philistines in such a manner that only his head, and of this especially the jawbone, struck the Philistines, keeping off in this way the surrounding warriors, and giving the blow the necessary force to kill. I affirm that in this manner Samson could have slain a million Philistines, provided the tail of the ass did not break."

GETTING UP A CROWD.

A private letter from Picton informs us that it is the intention of the Reformers of that town and the adjacent country to "get up a crowd" for our demonstration when it comes off. They are anxious to know all about the date, speakers, place of meeting, &c., so that arrangements may be made accordingly. We announced in Wednesday's ONTARIO that, owing to previous engagements Mr. Mackenzie could not make it convenient to be with us on the 15th inst. It is quite possible, also, that he will be unable to make an appointment before the end of this month or first of October. In the mean time we can assure our Picton, Trenton, Napanee and Kingston friends, who have made enquiries, that the proposed demonstration will certainly come off some time this fall. The postponement is unavoidable, but it will not defeat the project. There are thousands here in Hastings, and as many in adjoining counties, who are most anxious to hear Messrs. Mackenzie and Blake discuss the public questions of the day at Belleville, and it is the intention of our local Reformers to gratify their wishes if possible. Though the "magnificent" will not be attempted, the demonstration, when it occurs, will speak for itself.

General Grant is to rece WONDER om of Aberdeen, Inverness, and has been compelled to decli lar offer from Dundee, as his engagements will not allow of his revisiting that place.

The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

LEGAL.—In Toronto yesterday in the case of Grand Junction Railway vs Hastings—Decree for plaintiffs with costs. Transfer declared invalid.

STEALING IRON.—Three young men were arrested this morning by Sergeant McCrudden and Officer Downs, charged with stealing a quantity of iron, the property of A. L. Smith Esq.

DETAINED.—The steamer Alexandra was detained at Ogdensburg on Tuesday for an infraction of the customs regulations by landing passengers and baggage without reporting.

EXCURSION.—The steamer Kincardine has been chartered at Picton for a trip to the Central Camp Ground. She will arrive here on Saturday night and remain until Monday morning.

MARINE.—The Ploughboy is unloading fire wood in the rear of Davy & Edward's store house; the Alma is loading lumber at Silly's dock; the Kate is loading lumber at the Eagle Mill and the Florence is at the island.

TO VISIT BELLEVILLE.—There will be an excursion to Belleville on the 13th inst under the auspices of the C. M. Church, of Newburg, per steamer New York from Napanee. The affair is expected to be largely patronized.

FIRE AND LOSS OF LIFE.—A telegram from Colborne dated the 6th says: The residence of the late David Haig, of Haldimand, was destroyed by fire last evening. Mrs. Haig's father, who was stopping with her, perished in the flames before assistance could be rendered him. An inquest is now being held.

GOOD NEWS.—Farmers who have had their grain threshed report that in nearly every instance the yield is something enormous, particularly so in oats and barley. The potato season has not yet arrived, but all agree in the verdict that the crop will be unusually large.

DREDGING.—Commodore Daly, of Ogdensburg, whose dredges have for some years past been satisfactorily employed in the work of improving harbors on Lake Ontario, has received contracts for completing the harbor improvements at Trenton and Napanee. Mr. Daly is also engaged in dredging the harbor at Picton.

KINGSTON REGATTA.—The annual regatta will be held at Kingston on Thursday the 13th when $95 will be offered for second class, boats We regret that the managers of the event have named the above date as the Trenton regatta takes place on Wednesday the 12th and the boats that take part in it cannot conveniently reach Kingston in time for the race there on the 13th. We trust arrangements will be made so as to admit of the alteration of the above date.

PERSONAL.—Miss Hattie McGann, who has been spending her vacation with her friends at the Cottage near the Deaf and Dumb Institute, left this morning for Toronto, where she will visit a few days before returning to her classes in the Michigan State Institution for the deaf and dumb at Niles. Miss McGann teaches what is known as "visible speech" or the lip language, and her efforts have been most successful.

A QUESTION OF NATIONALITY.—There is a negro barber living on Michigan Avenue between Fifteenth and Sixteenth streets, who is as black as jet and swears that he is a full blooded Englishman and can prove it. He has a very handsome white wife. —Detroit News. In this city we have Prof. McAlpine Stevenson, a well known gentleman of color, who claims to be a full blooded Scotchman, in virtue of having been "born and educated in the city of Edinburgh."—London Advertiser. Belleville some years ago possessed a citizen (Turner Boyd) who said he was a genuine Scotchman, and (as many are aware) he became a member of the St. Andrew's Society.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—The Standard says:—On Sunday morning at an early hour, a burglar attempted to enter Detlor & Scott's drug store, Napanee, by boring augur holes in the pannel of the front door, until the aperture had been made big enough to admit his hand, when he could lift the bar and walk in. His little game was frustrated, however. Mick. Fox, an attachee of the Campbell House, and P. Barton, were sitting in the parlor up-stairs. They saw the miscreant walk across the street and afterwards heard him boring the holes in the door. Mr. Fox went out on the balcony and threw a chair at him, which struck him on the back. He made tracks round the corner at lightning speed.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—A letter from Mr. Ross, Inspector, has been received and will appear to-morrow.

RACING.—A match trot will take place on the Bay Side Park on Thursday next, and a similar contest comes off on Saturday, the 15th.

THE QUEBEC EXHIBITION.—To enable those who may desire to attend this exhibition, the G. T. R. will issue tickets at reduced rates.

ARRESTED.—About 2:30 this afternoon the Chief arrested a man for carrying a revolver and brought him to the cell. He will be tried for this offence under the provisions of the Blake Act.

EXTRA ATTRACTION.—In order to further add to the talent of the Royal Star Dramatic Company the management has secured the services of Mr. Mrs. and Miss Vernon of Toronto, all of whom arrived here to-day. They will appear this evening in Hamlet.

FOR AUSTRALIA.—H. B. Rathbun & Son recently shipped 600 doors to Australia. This shipment will we trust lead to others and we only hope that the enterprise of the above firm will meet with the success it so well deserves.

WELL, WELL.—By an advertisement which appear in this issue "Manrico & Roland" solicit correspondence with a limited number of young ladies: object mutual improvement. The young men with the high-sounding names can't be favourably impressed with the ladies of Napanee or else they think the girls of this town can be more readily approached. If the latter is the case, we are confident they make a mistake: time, however will develope that.

THE TELEPHONE.—Yesterday's Whig has the following:—Last evening there was a second test of the telephone, and it was pronounced even more successful than the first experiment. A large number of persons were present. Communication was had between Garden Island, Kingston and Belleville, to the entertainment of the audience at the three places. The conversation was distinctly heard, and even friends indentified each other. At Garden Island and Belleville there was some excellent singing, which was heard here plainly, though weakened by distance, the sound from extremity to extremity travelling over seventy miles of wire. Mr. Rackett, bandmaster of "A" Battery, discoursed some excellent music here, and listeners at either end allege they were delighted with its echoes. A duet at Belleville was the most appreciable of the vocal efforts. The experiment, on the whole, was eminently satisfactory.

CHECKERS.

The Whig says:—

"A match was played yesterday between Mr. E. Kelly, of Kingston, and Mr. R. F. Shaver, of Earnesttown, for $20 a side, best out of sixteen games. After thirteen games had been played Mr. Shaver resigned, Kelly winning seven games and Shaver three, and three games drawn. Mr. Kelly won by four games."

We believe Mr. Landy, of this town, has challenged Mr. Kelly to a game on a wager, but the latter declined, stating that he never played for money. Since he has changed his mind according to the above, we would like to see a match arranged between him and Mr. Landy. What say you, Mr. Kelly? Our man is ready.

THE OPERA HOUSE.

Last evening a select and appreciative audience attended the second appearance of the Royal Star Dramatic Combination, when Sheridan Knowles' famous play of the Hunchback was presented, Miss Sophie Miles taking the part of Julia the heroine. The favorble reports which preceded the company fully justify us in saying that Miss Miles is an accomplished artist, and her faithful delineation of the many stirring and pathetic incidents in the role of Julia give abundant evidence that she sustains her reputation. Mr. J. R. Spackman appeared as Master Walter, Mr. J. Simbrook took the part of Master Modus and Miss Charlotte Neville very creditably sustained the character of Helen. The play was successfully carried out. We hope to see a full house to-night, when Miss Miles appears as Hamlet in Shakspeare's great tragedy.

A CHILD WONDER.

The chid Gracie Gilbert, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Giles Gilbert, who lives sixteen miles east of Angola, in Northwest township, Williams country, Ohio, is the greatest living curiosity we have ever seen. The child is about eighteen months of age, finely formed, bright, sprightly and healtby, and almost entirely covered with hair. The hair on its head is some twelve or fifteen inches in length, and is very heavy. Its whiskers are three or four inches in length. On its back, body, arms and legs is a thick, heavy, but fine silky growth of hair, covering almost its entire body, and some two or three inches in length. And, strange to say, there is no repulsiveness in the sight, no deformity, and, moreover no humbug.—Steuben (N. Y.) Republican.

LAST NIGHT'S NEWS.

Yesterday Tweed appeared before the Investigating Committee of New York aldermen and gave evidence respecting the history of the Board of Supervisors' Ring.

It is stated that the Pope has definitely resolved to restore the Roman hierarchy in Scotland, and that Cardinal Manning will shortly proceed to Rome in that connection.

Further discoveries have increased the assets of the Illinois State Savings' Institution to over a million dollars, securing to the creditors a dividend of from thirty to forty per cent.

It is reported that the Quebec Legislature will this year be summoned later than usual and that the session will be prolonged so as to allow of future sessions being held in January.

The hopes entertained of an early termination of the mining deadlock at Pittston have proved delusive, the Pennsylvania Coal Company and their miners having failed to come to terms.

A great change for the better in business and crop prospects is reported from the Western and North-Western States, and at Philadelphia merchants are jubliant over the satisfactory trade outlook.

The French Government has abandoned the idea of giving Tuiers a State funeral, inasmuch as the ex-President's widow insists on arranging the order of the procession during the official ceremonies. The funeral will be held with the military honors due to the deceased as a dignitary of the Legion of Honor and former chief of the State.

MORNING DESPATCHES.

SITTING BULL CLAIMS TO BE A BRITISH SUBJECT.

OSMAN PASHA OR R. CLAY CRAWFORD.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 7.—Pres'd Spencer, of the bankrupt Savings Bank, is reported to be living in Montreal under the assumed name of Allen.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—The World's Philadelphia special says the Pennsylvania R. R. Co, having been for five years within six miles of the Cumberland Coal region in Maryland, has decided to extend its tracks to compete with the Baltimore & Ohio road.

The World's Fort Walsh special says: Aug. 18th, it is reported that Sitting Bull is still in the British possessions and declares he recently revealed to an officer that he was a native of Fort Garry and an alumnus of St. John's College there. Old traders confirm Sitting Bull's story, and say he was known when at college as Charlie Jacobs. He disappeared from Fort Garry in 1853.

The Herald's Richmond, Ind., special says Senator Morton is no better than he was a week ago, and that he can never recover.

The Herald's special says at Wilkesbarre the miners finally determined to reject the proffered compromise of employers. This means a long lock out as the companies will make no further efforts to compromise. The farmers are terrorized by raiding miners. Wholesale arrests by the military is rumored and trouble anticipated. Sale agents for the various coal companies in this region decided yesterday to advance the price of coal 20 cts. per ton for northern and western markets.

The Times' Baltimore says Col. Crawford, identified as Osman Pasha, came to Chestertown, Kent Co., from Philadelphia in 1867; lived in splendid style and had gorgeous Mexican outfit; became a prominent Republican, and after three years disappeared leaving numerous creditors. Marylanders in the Egyptian service in 1873 gave a description of an American Bey named Osman Bey, in the Khedive's army, which tallied with that of Crawford.

The Tribune says the President desires the new collector at New York shall be a retired merchant, familiar with commerce, enjoying the confidence and respect of the mercantile community and not past the prime of life.

Instructions to the Sitting Bull Commission state if the Indians decline to act upon the proffered terms further negotiations will be suspended, and the hostiles left to be dealt with by the Canadian authorities.

The Times says the President and Sherman speak highly of Collector Arthur's conduct during and since the Jay investigation. A member of the Cabinet thinks the President will tender Arthur a position fully as important as his present one.

Three women who recently deserted four infants in this city all came from Rochester Co. house, where their abandoned children were born.

NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Daniel Wright alias Philip Stanley was arrested yesterday for complicity in the celebrated $64,000 forgery case. He is a hard character.

AFTERNOON DESPATCHES.

THE POPE'S HEALTH.

The Great Battle of the 24th.

Another Battle in Progress.

ROME, Sept. 7.—The Pope last evening had a slight attack of weakness, but with no alarming symptoms. He rose late this a. m. and worked in his study, but is still weak.

ERZEROUM, Sept. 7.—The battle of Kiziltepe which resulted in the Russians being completely driven from their position at Kedalar, cost the Turks 430 killed and 1400 wounded. Kiziltepe hill which was held by five battalions of Russian infantry was attacked at 2 a. m., on August 24th, by two divisions under Ali Pasha. They were both wounded. The Russians were outnumbered 10 to 1 and fought bravely but were driven off from their main camp. They came up about 9 and made three attempts to carry the hill by storm. These were most gallantly repulsed by the Turks, who have now strongly intrenched Kiziltepe hill.

LONDON, Sept. 7.—A Constantinople special says three thousand wounded from Suleiman Pasha's army have reached Andrianople. English doctors report 4,000 more at Kezanlik, and at Shipka they lie all over steep hill sides. The Turkish Bagdad army is going to Nish. There is uneasiness at Constantinople about the attitude of Greece which has subsided, but still there is great distrust of Servia. A further issue of 6,000,000 piastres in paper money has been determined on.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 7th—A Loftcha despatch of yesterday from Osma Pasha, report incessant fighting for two days. It is impossible to foretell the result.

MARTHA'S VINEYARD, Ms., Sept. 7.—A terrible northeast storm began last night and still continues. Vessels are passing up the Sound under bare poles.

A CASE OF TWENTY YEARS STANDING.

From Mrs. Joseph Baker, of Johnson, Vt.

"I feel it my duty to make known to the world the wonderful efficacy of your WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. For twenty years I was sorely afflicted with phthisic, and previous to using the BALSAM was pronounced by the physicians incurable. Two or three bottles afforded me a good deal of relief, and as many more completely restored me; and for two years past I have not had the least return of that painful complaint."

50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Mitchell's Belladonna Improved India Rubber Porous Plaster.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

The principal ingredients used in making these Plasters are Gum Olibanum—or better known as the Frankincense of the Bible—Rubber and Burgundy Pitch; which, when scientifically compounded, is full of electricity and when combined with the pure medical gums, is found to be one of the greatest healing mediums ever brought before the human race.

They are acknowledged by all who have used them to act quicker than any other Plasters they ever before tried, and that one of these Plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other Plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

They possess all the soothing, warming, supporting and strengthening qualities of all other Plasters. Many who have been relieved of RHEUMATISM, TICDOLOREUX, and various other pains in the KIDNEYS, BREAST or SIDE, and believe it is solely done by the electrical qualities which the Porous Plasters contain, and which is imparted to the system, thus restoring them to a healthy condition.

They are very soft and pliable, still very adhesive; and a sure cure for WEAK BACKS PAINS IN THE SIDE and BREAST; and are invaluable to those who have a COLD of long standing, and often prevents CONSUMPTION. Some even tell us they believe they were entirely cured by the use of them of a long-seated Consumption.

Prepared by GEORGE E. MITCHELL, Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

PETTIT'S SALVE,

An Infallible Remedy for all Diseases of the Eye (acute or chronic), Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands Film, and Weakness of the Vision from any cause.

THE AMERICAN EYE-SALVE is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also, for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain, and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe, and effectual remedy ever discovered. The materials of which it is made are pure, perfect, and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and, of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye-washes. RINGWORM and OLD CHRONIC SORES, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the AMERICAN EYE-SALVE. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate, and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of "DR. J. PETITT'S AMERICAN EYE-SALVE," while making new and improved machinery for making a more perfect box for the Eye-Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the Wrapper, Circulars, Advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.

other for a minute, and collect their scattered senses, and try and discover what portion of their anatomy is missing, and then both at the same instant turn and annihilate space in opposite directions, with an unanimity of thought that is wonderful in a dumb animal. This is not an illuminated picture, but is a bunk of truth about a cat fight.

The tom-cat ranges with undisputed sway on fences, porches and housetops. A man to fully realize the charm of a country home and a steep roof needs to pass a night under a tin roof and have an assortment of cats hold a levee above his head. As he listens to the "music in the hair," and leaps from bed as a cat springs from a chimney top and lands on the roof above his head, and then engages in Greco-Roman struggle, while the man throws up the window and yells and swears and throws boot-jacks and blacking brushes in the direction of the noise, it is then that the city loses its charm, and dollars don't look any bigger than ten cent pieces to him, and he wishes himself back in his country home, where milk is but five cents a quart and eggs grow thirteen to the dozen.

I know what I am saying. I passed a night once away from home. What I learned that night would fill a very large barrel. I had retired and was endeavoring to tangle myself up in sleep, when a most indescribable bouquet of sounds stole into my room and entwined itself about my easy. I got out of bed and opened my mouth and dropped a "scat!" out of the window. The yowling increased. I added a pair of $10 to the affair, a book jack followed the boots, but the noise continued with more zeal, if possible, than ever. My contribution was not the only one. From other windows a continuous fire was kept up; bottles, boots, shoes, slippers, and every available article that could be reached was shied into the darkness at the noise. Occasionally a more terrific yell would seem to indicate that the objective point had been reached, but still the yelling continued with unabated vigor.

At last I bethought me of a dark lantern I had, and, lighting it, I turned the light down into the back yard in the direction of the house. What I saw I can tell about, but how I felt and looked would need a larger pen than mine to describe. To say that my hair stood up would be very tame. It not only stood up, but it fairly lifted me from the floor. I saw hanging from the clothes line a couple of tom cats, tied together by the tails, and engaged with all their might in tearing each other apart, while in the yard was a man with a bag, into which he was putting my boots, boot jack and other contributions making for him a fair night's work, and, after gathering up all the spoils, as he unslung the cats from the line and placed them in the bag and scaled the fence, it dawned upon me that I had been sold. I blew out my light and crept into bed, wondering if my angel grandmother was not smiling from beyond the clouds at her grandchild.

I know several more things about cats, but I shall keep them to myself unless the court obliges me to disclose.

There is to-day in America one young man who has not interest enough in a cat fight to get up in the night and watch the conflict, or throw articles of value at felines, and his name is——.

GETTING READY FOR SCHOOL.

From the Detroit Free Press.

"The cause of education be hanged!" he muttered as he sat down on the carbstone on Shelby street yesterday.

He was a lad of thirteen. He spit through his front teeth and he spit often. His pants were supported by a piece of wire clothesline girted around his waist, his hat was ancient and greasy, and his big flat feet seemed to be waiting for a thunder shower to wash them clean.

"That's what ails me!" he went on as he pushed his toes into the wet sand. "I don't believe in a feller diffing in and learning all there is to learn, and not let other folks have a chance. There's lots of other folks in this world besides me, and I ain't going to be a hog and try and learn all there is to learn."

After a minute he went on:--

"Don't I know 'nuff now? Three times two are six, four times five are twenty, and four and four are eight. That's as correct as I could get 'em if I went to school for a hundred years. And don't I know how to spell? C-a-t is 'cat' the world over, and I'll bet on it every time. H-e-n spells 'hen,' and I know it as well as if I weighed a ton."

He rose up to throw a stone at a dog across the street, and after resuming his seat he went on:—

"Jogerfy kinder wrestles me down, but I don't go much on jogerfy. What do I care whether an island is surrounded by water, or whether there ain't any water within ten miles of it? S'pose I'm going to buy and sell islands for a living? I don't care which is the highest mountain or the longest river, do I? I'm going to keep a feed store, and when I'm rolling bales o' hay around will I care about mountains and rivers? I've heard the boys go on about exports and imports, and straights, and seas, and capes, but what's them to me? If a feller wants a bag o' oats, is he going to wait and ask me when the island of Madagascar was discovered?"

He carefully examined the big toe of his left foot and the heel of his right foot, and gloomily observed:—

"The old folks are making ready to push me into school, and I've got to make ready to keep out. I can't take to school, somehow. I could sit here and study all day, but the minute I git into a school-house I'm nervous. Something's going to happen to me this week. I'll be taken home in a wheel-barrow with a big gash in this heel or this toe almost cut off That will mean three or four weeks on a crutch, and they don't allow lame boys to go to school and crutch up and down the aisles. Or, agin I go home with palpitation of the heart? The old lady has had it, and I won't more than get into the house before she'll have me tucked up on the lounge, the camphor bottle down, currant jell and sponge cake in the distance, and she'll call out to the old gent:—

"Father, it's no use of thinking of sending this boy to school. He looks stout and healthy, but he's a mere shadder. The close atmosphere of the school room will kill him before the snow flies.'"

The boy rose up. There was a grin all over his face, and he chuckled:—

"Palpitation is the key note! A sore toe can be seen—a palpitating heart is hidden away under hide and fat and ribs. Now then—oosh—Woosh, u-m-m-m—hold yer breath, roll your eyes, kick out yer left leg and make her bob around like a fly on a hot stove cover."

MANHOOD:
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and man in the land.

The cure will be guaranteed, and as proof of this, no pay is required, until the cure is complete The moment a Cancer is discovered, it should be cured, as it will cost less and is more speedily cured than when longer standing, and there is nothing to gain, and everything to lose by delay. Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

"MY SABBATH DAY."

I have a birthright straight from heaven,
A birthright in which all men share;
By my own Maker's hand 'twas given,
'Tis sanctified by praise and prayer;
I shall not give that right away,
"No man shall have my Sabbath day!"

All through the week let anvils ring,
And hammers clang and bellows blow;
Let bright sparks fly and sledges swing,
And bar and furnace gleam and glow;
But speak up, blacksmith, boldly say,
"You shall not have my Sabbath day!"

Bend, weary weaver, o'er your loom,
All week from dawning's glimmering sky,
And till the twilight gathers gloom,
Let treadles tramp and shuttles fly;
But speak up, brother, boldly say,
"You shall not have my Sabbath day!"

Let axes flash in forest glades,
While ash and oak and elm-tree fall;
Let the slow team toil through the shades
Obedient to their driver's call;
But speak up, woodman, boldly say,
"You shall not have my Sabbath day!"

From mill and factory and mine,
Still let this self-same cry arise;
Claim one day as a holy shrine
In which to commune with the skies;
Speak up, and loudly, boldly say,
"No toil shall mar our Sabbath day!"

It is our birthright straight from heaven,
'Tis sanctified by praise and prayer;
By our great Maker's hand 'twas given,
And trench upon it none shall dare:
We shall not give that right away,
"No man shall have our Sabbath day!"

THE BABES OF THE PRAIRIE.

"Be quiet now, Willie, and you to Mary. Sit down on your little stool, and be just as still as mice. I've just got the baby asleep, and I wan't him to have a good long nap, for he isn't a bit well. There, there take your primers and read your A. B. Cs."—And the mother took from the upper drawer of the bureau the carefully treasured books.

"But I'm so tired of sitting still," said the little boy.', May'nt we go out of doors, ma? Say yes, do. We'll only go down to the barn. Say, mayn't we go and see the two bossies?" And he looked up pleadingly into her face.

Little Mary jumped up at the same moment, and tossing her primer onto the bed jained in with a "Do, ma, do—there's a good ma. Cause the bossies are so cunning, I do love to see them."

"Yes, go a little while—but mind and be good children, and don't take down the bars so the calves get into the barn—do you hear?"

They had been gone half an hour or so, when they came rushing into the cabin exclaiming with one voice: "Ma, ma, mayn't we have our little pails and strawberrying? There's a whole lot of them right on the gopher mound, 'tother side of the barn, and they're just as red and ripe as they can be. Do let us go and get them. There's enough for a nice short cake, and pa loves them so, and they'll taste so good to him when he comes home from the mill so tired."

The indulgent mother took down the little pails, and handing one to each, and bidding them be careful and not stain their clean aprons, watched them until their little dancing feet had carried them to the place they spoke of.

"How glad they are,!" she said to herself, as she turned from the door, "and how proud they will be when they get their pails full." And she resumed her patching, Tired she certainly was, and half sick, though she would have hardly owned that, and she sat there now "plying her needle and thread," and she was sensible of unusual fatigue, and in spite of all her efforts, her patches went awry, and her darning was uneven. There was a [illegible]leasant drowsiness in the soft hush of [illegible]en summer afternoon, and after p[illegible] ielded to it involuntarily, the go[illegible]. Starting up ere a while she [illegible]f, she ran to and closed her ey[illegible] sat side she had hardly lost hers[illegible] the the door. The two little one[illegible] by side upon the gopher mound, an[illegible] echo of their cheery voices was the only sound that broke the intense quiet of the prairie.

"They are so busy, and the baby is so sound asleep, I believe I'll lie down a little while, for my back aches terribly, and my head is just ready to split with pain. William says I ought to take a nap every day after dinner, but dear me, I wonder when my sewing and mending would get done if I did!"

As she spoke she drew a mosquito bar over the cradle, and turning down the neat patchwork quilt that covered the bed, dropped off her shoes and stretched her weary frame on the white sheets. The weary woman unintentionally slept on, and did not wake until the cry of the hungry babe in the cradle roused her up.

With a quick, nervous movement, she sprang from her bed, and drawing it to her bosom, ran to the door. To her surprise it was almost sunset. Her first sorrow was that she should be belated with her supper, and the thought of her tired husband coming home and having to wait a moment for his meal was not to be endured. With the baby's lips still clinging to her bosom, she hurried to the stove and took off the griddles and raked up the ashes. Then putting the only half-satisfied child in the cradle, and giving it a crust of bread to bite on, she caught up her kindling basket and ran to the chip pile. She had filled it and loaded her arms with wood, when she suddenly remembered she had not seen or heard the children yet. She looked anxiously towards the strawberry bed. Their little figures were not visible. For a moment she was paralyzed with fear. Then she recovered herself, and saying: "They have got tired and gone to sleep in the barn, as they did on Saturday," she hurried back to the cabin and built her fire. Then drawing some fresh water she filled the kettle, ground the coffee, and put down the bacon to fry.

"I shall hardly have time to make them their short-cake—poor things, they will be disappointed, but I'll save the berries and make one for breakfast." And giving a hasty but careful look to the stove to see that the fire was burning bright, she threw on her sun bonnet and ran to the barn. There were no sleeping children there. She looked in the calf-pen. The two little red bossies were nestled close to the bars, looking impatiently for their mother cows, but no little boy and girl stood near them.

"Willie—Mary—my children!"

The words were screamed out as only a frightened mother can scream. Echo answered her, and then the silence was unbroken.

A strem headed up into the prairie a little further on, and beside it clustered a young growth of cottonwoods. It was her last hope, and with frantic steps she ran there. Mary's little sun-bonnet lay on the bank, the strings stained with strawberry juice; but where rested the golden locks it had so often shaded?

The mother's limbs shook as with spasms, her throat felt choked, her brain whirled, the color went out from her cheeks and the light from her eyes, she sank upon the grass feeling the weakness of death. It was dark before she revived enough to realize truly her whereabouts. And it was only after many struggles that she at length rose and walked toward home.

The baby was screaming in its father's arms, and he, poor, weary man, as he now paced the floor with the little wrestling child, and then stood with it in the doorway, trying to peer out into the gathering shadows, wandered and wondered again where his wife could have gone.

Something moved in the path between him and the barn. It came nearer—it assumed shape—it made light footsteps—it was her, his Mary.

"What has happened, mother? What ails you? Where are the children? Speak, Mary, for heaven's sake, and tell me what has happened."

A sob, a groan, and the falling of her body on the floor were his only answer.

"Willie—Mary—my children—lost—lost on the wild prairie!"

In broken accents the words struggled from her lips, as life returned to her.—Then, as her heart once more bounded with strong, though uneven pulses, she roused herself, and standing upright, caught her husband by the arm, and told him in a few brief, terse sentences the sad story of the children's wanderings.

"Leave me—I am weak—sick—but I shall live—live till I see them, or"—she shuddered, and wrung her hands passionately for a moment. Then assuming calmness, she said, firmly: "Take the colt, William, and the lantern and the cow bells, and your gun. Go straight down to the creek and raise all about there, making all the noise you can. Then, if you get no trace, ride over to Nick's cabin and rouse them, and get their old hound—he was a great pet with the"—she could only sob the word—"children. Take Mary's"—another sob—"bonnet, and, William, William, bring them back to me!"

A single kiss was left on her white lips, and the anxious father left her, and springing on his half-broken colt, he started.—The prairie echoed to the reverberation of his gun, to the noisy tinkle of the bells, to the echoes of his voice, but no answering sound came up out of the still, grassy depth. Again and again he made the circuit of the little clump of cottonwoods, and then sadly he turned away, and spurring his horse into a wild gallop, he started for the nearest cabin. The four miles were soon passed, and the sympathizing neighbors aroused to aid his search.

"Call the dog, Tom," said the father, as he lifted his wife to the horse, and then sprang into the saddle.

"I have, father, but I can't find him.—Was he here at supper, mother?"

"I didn't mind, child. I set down his pan of bones, but I had a heap of chores to do, and I didn't mind whether he came up or no. Run to the shed and see, child."

"The bones ain't been touched—where can he be?'

"Well, we mustn't stop for him. But, Tom, when he does come, you show him the bonnet. It'll start him." And giving the word to his horse, he followed the heart-broken father.

"Leave me here," said good Mrs. Bonnett as they halted at the creek. "I can find my way to the cabin if it is dark, and I'll take good care of her too. I'll get [illegible] take some of that cordial stuff my [illegible] Indiana used to make up for her t[illegible] [illegible]vous, and if I can once old doctor [illegible] [illegible]n her so." And folks what was n[illegible] the lonely get her to sleep, I'll ke[illegible] with fleet steps she hastened [illegible] home.

But it was only after such coaxing that the mother was prevailed upon to swallow the cordial and lie down, and then it was more to gratify her neighbor than from any faith in the value of the medicine. But the result proved that it had not been extolled too highly, for her limbs soon ceased their convulsive twitchings, and her lips their low, sad moaning, and ere the clock struck twelve, she lay in a profound, sweet sleep.

"Lucky I thought to bring it along," said Mrs. Bonnett, lifting her head as soon as the measured breathing of the mother assured her she had forgotten her troubles. "Poor thing!" and she bent compassionately over her, and smoothed back her disordered hair, "my heart aches for you."

"I'll fix the fire all ready to light, and spread the table, so that I can get supper ready in a few minutes when they come, for they'll be dreadfully tired, and as to poor Grey, I don't believe he's eaten a mouthful since morning.

"It's a pretty night, so still and cool like, but I wish it was brighter. If it was only the full of the moon and the sky clear they might happen to come on them, for that's their only chance. They'll never waken them to-night with their bells and horns and shouts. Children sleep so sound when they're tired. Dear me—but it's dreadful to think of. If a stray wolf should happen to catch them, or a rattlesnake or a blue racer bite them, or if they should have to starve. Bless me, but it would near kill her! And they were such pretty children—so loving always—but what's that?'

She listened eagerly. Then exclaiming joyfully:—"They're coming—I'll hury and get them something to eat," she ran in and kindled the fire, and ere the horses had fairly reached the door, had a smoking hot supper for the table.

With outstretched hands she waited at the door. Alas, there were no little children to be received!

"We were getting worn out," said Nick

The Daily Ontario.

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 8.

THE Indian troubles in the Western States and Territories seem to be well nigh overcome. Sitting Bull is the only difficulty now, and it is quite probable that a satisfactory treaty will be arranged with him and his command. Crazy Horse is dead and the remainder of the disaffected Indians are disposed to submit to the U. S. authorities. We believe the intention is to locate them in Florida.

CAPT. KIRWIN was in Ottawa Thursday, as the guest of the Catholic Young Men's Literary and Benevolent Union. During his address he spoke of the union between Irish and French Canadian citizens, and said they were endeavoring to cultivate such an alliance in Quebec for the purpose of obtaining for themselves those rights and privileges which, as Irishmen and French Canadians, they were entitled to.

THE PAPAL ABLEGATE.

Dr. Conroy, who was sent out to Canada by the Pope on a mission of conciliation in religious and political matters, does not seem to find high favor with the Tory Ultramontane party. He has resolutely set his face against all interference in elections by the clergy, further than the exercise of their civil rights as voters, and encourages the utmost freedom of speech and action. He has also delighted the Liberal Catholics by becoming a patron of the St. Patrick's Literary Society of Quebec, an organization so unorthodox that it is sometimes alluded to as the "Guibord Institute." Sir John calculated on carrying the Province of Quebec, chiefly through the instrumentality of the clergy, but with Dr. Conroy's powerful influence against his projects he will scarcely succeed to the extent anticipated.

THE PRINCE OF WALES.

We do not pretend to say that His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales is a model man in every respect, but we do believe and assert that his character has been grossly maligned by sensational newsmongers and irresponsible penny-a-liners. Some of the English papers have lately been circulating scandalous reports about a recent visit of the Prince to the French watering place of Trouville. While there it is alleged that he paid public attentions to a charming French actress, and made himself conspicuous in a very unbecoming manner. It turns out, however, that the Prince of Wales was not at Trouville at the time when the attentions are said to have been offered by him to the actress aforesaid. He had been on a visit to the Duke and Duchess of Mouchy, whose residence is in the neighborhood of the watering place referred to. His conduct while there was most exemplary, as is vouched for by those who were in his company. The domestic relations of his household have been frequently dragged before the public in an offensive manner, but the Princess takes the first opportunity afterwards to give them an emphatic contradiction. Her devotion to the Prince on every public occasion when they appear, and his affectionate attentions in return, are certainly the best criterion by which the domestic life of the Royal family can be judged. We believe the Prince of Wales is a better man than represented to be by those who have little authority to express an opinion.

DAMNING THE QUEEN.

Mr. William Dryden, of Yorkville, has experienced the fact that there is more loyalty in the average Canadian than our American cousins are disposed to admit. Not long since there was an anti-Dunkin procession through Yorkville, of which Dryden did not approve. When the processionists halted before the residence of a prominent citizen engaged in the brewing business and proposed three cheers for their favorite our hero remained mute. Noticing this a young man in the crowd stepped up, slapped him on the shoulder and asked him to cheer for the Queen. Being in a bad humor at the moment, and addicted to the use of vulgar expletives, he replied—"To h—ll with the Queen!" Of course the crowd promptly hustled him, and if the police had not taken him into custody without delay and locked him up, there is no telling what the consequences might have been. Dryden was summoned before the local Cadi and then and there made a full confession. He said the words attributed to him were used at the time and under the circumstances specified, but he did not mean any disrespect for the Queen. He declared himself as good an Englishman as anyone present. It was a common expression of his and "just slipped out," for "seeing that procession of drunkards he lost all patience." "It would have been a bad job for that scurvy lot," he added, "if the Queen had been there; she would have given them all three months." A small fine was inflicted, but we rather sympathize with Dryden as it was.

IT must be that we have failed to give the London Tiser credit for something. But then, our confrere is very particular about doing unto others as he would have them do unto him.

TOO MANY SPEAKERS.

We entirely concur in the opinion expressed by our confrere of the Kingston Daily News that too many speakers are usually invited to be present at political demonstrations. As our contemporary remarks, those who are asked to participate go prepared to speak and are disappointed if an opportunity is not given them to air their eloquence. The consequence is that each speaker is necessarily limited to a few moments and the questions to be discussed are left in a confused and unsatisfactory state. The News says:—"The best plan to adopt, is to invite only three or four of the chief men as speakers. Others might be invited to appear on the platform, but to announce from eight to a dozen speakers is a great mistake, as the appearance of most political demonstrations, Reform and Conservative, has fully proved." We think "three or four of the chief men as speakers" too many. Each of these would want to enlighten the "free and independent" in a speech of at least two hours duration, and who could muster courage or resolution to endure six or eight hours of such talk? Two good men are enough. Of course a few minor lights may be on the platform. Their services sometimes come good in moving resolutions or representing a particular constituency. The Reformers of Belleville and Hastings will act on this principle at the forthcoming demonstration and invite only two—Mackenzie and Blake—as the speakers for the occasion.

RANDOM DASHES.

INDIAN summer comes before winter.

IT is now in order for some one to remark upon the "melancholy days."

MEN troubled with water on the brain should wear plug hats.

THE ice-cream and soda-water business has gone down with the mercury.

OVERCOATS are comfortable these evenings.

GOSSIPS are human microscopes. They magnify everything within their focus.

FAMILY men begin to shudder. The season for "fixing up the stove" has arrived.

THE autumn dandy rivals his collar with his ears, and the bets are even as to which will win—collars or ears.

THERE was a partial eclipse of the sun on Thursday, but as we did not have time to go to Africa we failed to observe it.

LADIES who carry all their dress skirts in their hands should be sure their shoes are laced neatly and their hose drawn tight.

WHATEVER else may be said against the Chinese, no one can truthfully say that he ever saw one who parted his hair in the middle.

GIPSY picnics are the latest mode of enjoyment for our young folks. Repair to the woods about dusk, where large bonfires have been built. Wear bright colors and old looking garments. Persuade some one to personate a witch, and tell fortunes. Roast corn, potatoes and eggs. Flirt and be happy.

FOUND AT LAST.

The story of Evangeline is repeated with wonderful fidelity in all its details in the experience of a young French girl, a resident of Marseilles. She was engaged to a sailor, to whom she was to be married on his return from a voyage to New York. He did not return, and after a year she got a berth as stewardess's assistant on one of the Havre steamers, to come here in search of him. On the passage a rich American lady became interested in her story, and resolved to help her to find out her lover. In New York she learned that he had gone to Canada. For months she travelled about the Dominion, sometimes close on his track and again losing every clue as to his whereabouts. She returned to New York, and one day while standing at a Broadway crossing waiting her turn to get across, she saw the object of her long search on the other side. She shrieked his name and ran into the middle of the street, but a policeman caught her and saved her from the wheels of the string of vehicles. "Angel of God there was none," and she never again saw the Gabriel she had so long sought and so nearly found. She learned that he had sailed for San Francisco, and so went overland to California to meet him. Arrived on the Pacific coast, she found that her lover had fallen overboard just outside the Heads and been drowned. Meanwhile the body of a young man dressed in sailor's clothes was cast ashore on the beech, carried to the Coroner's office and not being identified, was interred in the public cemetery. A water-sodden pocket-book was taken from the dead man, which contained only a few letters written in French and unaddressed. The girl, hearing of this, went to the Coroner's office and found that the letters were hers. The waves had tardily and partially recompensed her devoted search, and she was able to find the grave of her lover.—London Herald.

SUICIDE IN MONTREAL.

A man named Sauve, while walking off the steps of Tannery Hill, Thursday about noon, observed a man who appeared to be pacing to and fro close to the rivulet which runs between the Canal and the base of that elevation. Sauve then lost sight of him. Subsequently, the body of a man was discovered in the rivulet, and, when brought to the police station, was identified by Sauve as that of the man seen walking as above described. Two men, Falarden and Desjardins, while fishing in the rivulet commonly called "Le petit Lac," found the body in question lying in the water. The remains, which have not been claimed are those of a man about thirty years of age, six feet high, and muscular built; his hair is brown, and close, with heavy moustache; the rest of his face was clean shaven, and a large Roman nose. He was dressed in blue serge shooting coat and vest, black tweed pants, stripped socks, long light boots and clean white shirt; it is supposed that deceased, judging from appearance, had served in the American army; in his pockets were found a piece of paper having the written words, "Oshawa, Bowmanville;" on the reverse side were the words, "Bowmanville, Toronto, Guelph, Brantford, London," and in a different handwriting, "G. Hazo."

ABBREVIATONS.

RISE IN FLOUR.—In Ottawa flour has advanced 25 cts. per barrel. Wheat brings $1.40, and oats 32 cts.

TALL CORN.—Mr. J. Farbo, of Ingersoll, says he has corn on his lot 17 feet high. That tops the list.

A DENIAL.—Mr. H. S. Pendleton, whose name was so prominently associated with the St. Thomas elopement, denies that he is as bad a man as represented.

SUITABLE.—Talmage lectured in St. John, N. B. last Wednesday evening. "The Bright Side of Things," was his subject.

INCENDIARISM.—John O'Llary, of Montreal, has been arrested for setting fire to his premises. He tried it the second time without success.

THANKSGIVING.—Nova Scotia having signified her approval of 22nd November for Thanksgiving Day, the matter is now settled that all the Provinces of the Dominion will observe the same day.

COMING HOME.—The barque T. C. Street with a general cargo for Toronto, passed Father Point Thursday afternoon. This is a lake vessel that went to Europe with timber last summer.

A MONTREAL MYSTERY.—A French Canadian found a bottle floating in the river opposite Hochelaga in which he found a scrap of paper with the following lines written thereon in lead pencil: "Take notice all ye men of Montreal that Thomas McCormick and Fred Lawton have committed suicide. Friends, please give us a decent interment."

THE PARIS EXHIBITION OF 1878.—Great preparations are being made in France for the coming Exposition. The prospects of a fair Canadian exhibit are encouraging, but our neighbors in the United States seem to have had enough, in their Centennial to last them for some time, and are not making any preparations to be represented at Paris.

THE AMERICAN SCIENCE ASSOCIATION.—This society bids fair to rival its celebrated prototype, the British Association. The proceedings of the meeting now being held at Nashville, Tennessee, are most interesting. Could not our savants make a commencement of a Dominion Science Association?

THE WELLAND TENDERS.—Dr. Ferguson, of Toronto, contractor for Section No. 29 on the Welland Canal enlargement, has been awarded the contract for No. 28. Messrs. Jones (Kemptville) & Clark (Buffalo) are the lowest tenders for Nos. 33 and 34, and it is believed Messrs. Hunter, Murray & Co. are also lowest for Nos. 27 and 35.

HEAR, HEAR!—The London 'Tiser remarks:—"The ex-Premier was never more unpopular in Ontario politically than he is to-day. He never possessed the confidence of a majority of the people of Upper Canada, and he never will. Socially Sir John has always been a favorite, but politically he is as dead as a door nail."

IN TROUBLE.—Mr. J. G. Currie, M. P. P. for Welland, seems to have got himself into legal trouble. The charge is that he retained in his possession too long money belonging to a client. Mr. Currie's friends say the case is not likely to come to much, and that it 's the offspring of political animus, Mr. "Jim" Miller, the recently defeated candidate, being the instigator as well as legal conductor of the proceedings.

A SAD CASE.

FATHER WITHOUT WORK, MOTHER LYING DEAD, AND FOUR CHILDREN ILL WITH SCARLET FEVER.

Last evening a very sad case of misery and destitution was brought to the notice of the authorities. For some time there has been a family named Fallahee, living in the eastern part of the city, or rather dragging out a miserable existence, for the husband and father has long been out of work, and it was only with the utmost difficulty that they obtained sustenance. Their sufferings were intense for weeks, and it is not to be wondered at that the poor woman's confinement, which took place about two weeks ago, should be followed by the death of her infant, and soon after, her own. It is sad to think of any human beings in the midst of our populous city being forced to undergo privations, but the facts in this case are well authenticated. On the death of Mrs. Fallahee, which occurred last night, the case was reported to Health Inspector James, who, on going to the house, found matters in a very sad state indeed. Four childern of the unfortunate couple lay ill of scarlet fever, in one room, in another was the body of the dead mother, while the distracted father, unable to relieve the suffering sick ones, or procure habiliments for the dead, seemed perfectly dazed with the weight of his calamities. Inspector James reported the circumstances to the Mayor, who ordered a coffin to be sent down and the body of the deceased woman prepared for burial, as well as providing relief for the surviving members of the family.—Hamilton Spectator.

—It is said the price of widows caps has advanced thirty per cent, in Salt Lake City since last week.

—Mayor Beaudy, though he promised $100 towards the expenses of the reception of the Hudson firemen, did not pay up.

MR. ROSS EXPLAINS.

To the Editor of the ONTARIO.

DEAR SIR,—I noticed in yesterday's ONTARIO a communication from George E. J. Hanwell, and with your permission I wish to state the facts as given in evidence by me in the liquor case, in which Mr. Hanwell was the defendant, and to which his remarks refer. Having repeatedly received information from reliable parties that liquor was sold at the Opera House, and being informed on the 10th of August last that a keg of beer had been taken in at the south corner door, I followed Mr. Tamadge in for the purpose of inspection. I found a quantity of soft drinks in bottle but no spirituous liquor, except the keg of beer, which contained about eight gallons. Mr. Tamadge said it was lager beer, bought from Mr. Truash. I asked him to tap the keg as I wished to test the liquor. After some hesitation he did so, when the foam was forced across the room. About this time seven or eight persons entered the saloon from another door, and asked for a drink. Mr. Tamadge filled a glass with the foam and placed it on the counter. There was not a particle of liquor to be seen. This was one of the glasses. After the foam had subsided he filled it again and placed it on the counter. There was no appearance of liquor in this glass. This was the second glass. Neither of these was taken by me. He then filled the third glass in which there appeared about one-third of a glass of the liquor, of which I drank, not more than a half a wine glass, and this for the purpose of testing its strength. I then left Mr. Hanwell's Opera House.

These are the simple facts, and any one who will swear that I drank from two to three glasses of lager beer will swear to what they know to be false, as I never drank a glass in my life.

The other matters referred to by Mr. Hanwell are simply a mistake as to the time of day, when I entered the Opera House. Thanking you for the privilege of making these statements through your paper,

I remain, yours respectively,
JAMES ROSS, INSPECTOR.

BELLEVILLE, Sept, 7th, 1877.

TOO HONEST.

Mr. Rosevear, M. P. P., has made a discovery. He has found a man who is "too honest." At the Tory tintinnabulation at Cobourg the other day, giving a little introductory puff to Mr. M. C. Cameron, he said that "if there ever was a man who "deserved to be called an honest man, it "was Mr. Cameron. Sometimes he seemed "to think that he was too honest." We never heard before of a man being too honest; and we never suspected Mr. Cameron of being such a man. That he was an honest man we might be prepared to admit; though he is evidently not so honest but what he can support one of the greatest political trickers whose morality never stood in the way of his own advancement. But to see too much honesty in Mr. Cameron or any other man requires Tory eyes.

It was very indiscreet admission on the part of Mr. Rosevear. We can understand how a man may be too honest to suit the average Tory politician. We always knew the standard of political honesty to be very low in that congregation; and it is reasonable to suppose that among John A. Macdonald's followers there might be grave objection to a man being over-honest. But we hardly expected the admission to be made—at least not so publicly.

However, Mr. Rosevear may rest at ease on this matter. Mr, Cameron may be an honest man; but we do not think there is any danger of his being too honest. If he is, he is certainly the first man we ever heard of who had attained to the position; and most probably he will be the last.—Tiser.

THE CANADIAN MONTHLY.

This popular magazine has been received for September. It contains a paper by Sir Julius Vogel, Premier of New Zealand, treating of Imperial Federation under the heading, "Greater or Lesser "Britain." What the author desires to show in his clever argument, he thus briefly sums up:

1. The unsatisfactory nature of the relations between the mother-country and the colonies.

2. The urgent necessity for doing something to arrest the disintegration towards which progress is being made.

3. That a union, depending upon the pleasure, for the time being, of the different parts of the Empire, means separation, sooner or later.

4. That, under the union-during pleasure condition, much is being done to hasten separation.

5. That the mother-country is entitled to retain and consolidate her possessions.

6. That confederation is desirable, and would be fraught with advantage both to the parent country and the colonies in the shape of increased trade, increased value of property, the augmented happiness of the people, and the saving of much misery and disaster.

6, That its accomplishment does not present great difficulties.

This and That.

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 8.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

"A WORD IN SEASON."—KERRY GOW.

THE CELLS.—There were two prisoners and two tramps in the lock-up last night.

SCHOOL BOARD. The Board holds a regular monthly meeting on Tuesday evening next.

ENGLISH MAIL.—The S. S. Peruvian from Liverpool, passed Father Point at four o'clock this morning.

CHEESE SHIPMENTS.—Shipments this week amounted to about 4,095 boxes, all of which was forwarded to fill contracts.

NEW LAW-FIRM.—Messrs A, M. & C. W. Peterson have "partnershipped" in law and are now located over Clarke & Co's drug store.

E. I. T. B.

TUITION.—Mrs. Reid announces that she has resumed her classes in Music, English and foreign languages. Class room, Pinnacle Street, just opposite No 209.

ADJOURNED MEETING.—An adjourned meeting of the Council will be held in the Council chamber on Monday evening at the usual hour.

RE-OPENING.—The Military College re-opens this evening. Cadet Dixon left here last night to attend the future sessions of the School.

GOOD SCORE.—In the All-Comers Match at Bath on Wednesday, Capt. Crowther was seventh with a score of 51. Sergeant Bailie of the 47th led with a score of 64.

DREDGING.—The dredging at Napanee will be done by Mr. Daly and not by Mr. McCabe as announced some time ago. It is now said that work will begin on Monday.

ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday a man named Adam Haggerty whilst engaged in threshing at Mr. Sanford's in Madoc had his right arm badly mangled by being drawn into the gearing of the machine.

LEGAL.—In Toronto yesterday the following case came up in the Court of Chancery:—RE CANNIFF.—Cause referred back to the Master at Belleville to enquire as to the disposition of the personal estate.

☞The Venerable Archdeacon Parnell will D. V. preach in St. John's Church to-morrow, Sunday, at morning service, and in the evening in St Thomas' Church Congregation, Metropolitan Hall.

THE U. E. LOYALISTS.—We have received an interesting sketch of the Sprung Family, of Ameliasburg. and a late family reunion at the Sand Banks, which will appear on Monday.

THE REGATTA.—The "Times" announces that Hamilton will send three first class and two second class yachts to take part in the regatta on the 17th. If Toronto and Kingston will contribute a fair quota of their fleets, we may confidently look for a large field.

THE MARKET.—There was a very large attendance at the market to-day and the greater part of the square was filled with waggons containing produce of all kinds. Buyers were out in force and were able to supply their wants at reasonable figures.

GRAIN RECEIPTS.—Grain comes in very slowly just now, nothwithstanding the fact that a great deal of threshing has already been done. The elevator men now await its incoming as business with them is decidedly light. Next month however will tell a different tale.

REMOVAL.—Mr. W. Fanning has removed his omnibus and livery office to the building next door to the Dominion Telegraph office and two doors west of the post office where he will be happy to attend to to all who may favor him with their patronage.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—A little girl named Joy in sliding down the railing of the stairs in the Napanee High School on Wednesday, fell and sustained very serious injuries. Her left thigh suffered a compound fracture, some of her teeth were knocked out and several fingers sprained.

MELONS.—The schooner Monitor, Captain Westcott, from Sackett's Harbor, arrived in the harbor this morning with a cargo of water-melons (2,000). Sackett's must be a great place for raising this fruit as thousands of melons are shipped from that port annually. This is the second cargo that has arrived here this year.

THE TORONTO REGATTA.—The Prince of Wales' Cup, run for yesterday, was won by the Oriole; the Brunette, of Hamilton was second. The Peerless (formerly owned here) also took part in the race, but owing to the heavy sea was obliged to retire; she is also entered in the race for second class, which takes place to-day.

FRENCH PONIES.—Those diminutive specimens of horse flesh are in considerable demand here if we are to judge from the number now in use. Almost every person who can afford a pony makes a purchase and the result is that a large number are owned here. Mr. J. P. Thomas has a very pretty black; so also has Wesley Bullen. Dr. Wilson has a speedy pair of roans, and now Mr. Nicholson has added three handsome and fast ones to his establishment. It is surely now in order to get up a pony race for the fall fair.

EXPECTED.—The surveyors who are to locate the line of the Toronto and Ottawa Road are expected to make their survey through the northern portion of the country in a few weeks.

ARRANGED.—At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club held at Morgan Jellett's office last evening, the Sailing Committee and Judges for the regatta on the 17th were appointed. Every thing so far goes to show that the event will be successful.

CRICKET.—In the match between the cricket clubs of Madoc and Stirling at the latter place yesterday, the Madoc club was defeated by one innings and twenty six runs. In the last match between these clubs, Madoc was only beaten by three wickets.

LATE TRAINS.—Last evening's express train from the east was nearly an hour late, whilst this morning's train from the same direction was an hour and a half behind time. In view of the fact that we have not as yet been visited by snowstorms this should hardly be expected.

THE RIFLE.—We learn from the 'Palladium" that "A" Company of the 48th Reg't, in shooting for the Nevada Badge on Thursday made the fine score of 1,171, an average of 33 16.35 per man. This indeed is an average that will be found hard to beat. The "Times" thinks this score will discourage competition as hardly any company of 35 men would care to shoot against it.

CRICKET.—It had been arranged by the Oswego and Belleville clubs that the deciding match would be played in Kingston on the first Tuesday in September and to that end the use of the grounds of the K.C.C. was asked and obtained. A letter has been sent to the Oswego team requesting them to name a day for the match, which we trust they will do.

MR RINE COMING.—We believe arrangements have been made to have Mr. Rine, the celebrated temperance apostle, deliver a series of addresses in Belleville, beginning on the 13th inst. The gentlemen who have the matter in hand are determined to make the campaign a success, and the reputation of the speaker will doubtless ensure this object.

☞We are happy to state that a number of our prominent citizens intend offering Miss Sophie Miles a complimentary benefit on Monday evening on which occasion she will appear in her great character of Rose Michel, universally pronounced the most powerful dramatic representation of the age. Seats can be secured at Harrisons'. The entertainment will be given under the distinguished patronage of Lt. Col. Lazier and the officers of the 15th Batt. Argyle Light Infantry.

A GOOD IDEA.—We understand the Oddfellows' Lodges of the town have in consideration the organizing of a Brass Band and Orchestra, the members of which are to be selected from the Order. Should such a band be organized it would, no doubt, be a credit to the Order and the town. There are a number of gentlemen connected with the Oddfellows possessing a good deal of musical ability, and conducted as such a band would be, the town would, no doubt, be greatly benefitted, as would the Order itself.

TALL CORN.—A correspondent of the Review writes from Bridgewater thus:—"Two pretty tall specimens of corn are to be seen at Hon. B. Flint's store in this village—raised on his farm—respectfully 13 feet and 13 feet 6 inches in height. Had they been cut closer to the ground six inches more would have been added to their length. Has anybody anything in the way of corn taller? On Monday last Mr. John Long, of the Allen Settlement, Madoc, left in the office a stock which measures 13 feet. Although not quite as tall as the Bridgewater one, it is a splendid specimen, and worth calling in to see."

A WANDERING REFUGEE.—The following paragraph is clipped from the "Beaver":—"On Monday a most thoroughly dilapidated and seedy tramp "struck the town." He looked as though his clothes had been brushed with a saw [illegible]. He was shirtless, that condition exposing a hairy bosom, like the breast of Esau, wooing the soft kiss of the September winds. His clothes hung on him like the rifty cloud field of a summer sky, the countless holes giving moving glimpses of his skin, evidently not fresh from a Turkish bath. Taking him all in all, he was the most perforated and best ventilated tramp we ever saw. He is supposed to be a refugee from Belleville, fleeing to escape the draft to fill up the fifteenth battalion, though he looked more like a veteran of Falstaff's celebrated regiment."

THE FIRST CASE.—The first case which has been brought to the notice of the people here for carrying fire arms, was tried in the police court this morning. The prisoner was fined $20 and costs (the lowest penalty) and his revolver was confiscated. In our police court report the wording of the statute is quoted and parties who are disposed to transgress the law in this regard should carefully note it. The practice of carrying revolvers is not at all necessary only under certain circumstances; occasions may occur where they may prove convenient but that they are indispensable for the safety of people generally is a matter that admits of grave doubt. The carrying of revolvers is a pratice that must be suppressed and the disposal of this case will have a tendency to assist that end.

OUTRAGE.—A correspondent signing himself "A Friend," writes to the Review as follows:—"Would you be good enough to make room for the following in your journal. About four weeks ago, a poor simple girl was brutally outraged on lot 21, ninth concession, Madoc, Allan Settlement road. She was taken to Squire Vankleek's and made a sworn statement of the whole matter. A warrant was issued for the arrest of her seducer, but that is all that was done about it. It is too bad that a man of this stamp can go around from day to day as though nothing had happened, and the magistrates take no notice. So much for the magistrates of Madoc." If an information has been laid against any party, the non-enforcement of the law by the magistrate who took the information is attributable to him, and therefore an enquiry should be held in the premises.

—The Coroner's jury in the fatal scaffold accident case in Montreal have returned a verdict of death from decease's own carelessness.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.—J. K.—"A soft answer turneth away wrath." T. M.—"A man must be possessed of a great deal of "true inwardness" when he allows a spider to crawl down his back and pick his teeth with the man's shoulder blade." T. M.—Your story is "too thin." A LOVER wants to know: "When escorting a young lady home at night, should the gentleman stop at the gate or accompany her to the door "This question requires a great deal of reflection before it can be properly answered. During the political picnics now in progress the speakers will say many harsh things of one another which they won't be sorry for nor regret Besides it will be remembered that when Dominion Day fell on Saturday it was observed on the following Monday, but if it should fall on Sunday it would perhaps get hurt We could speak of the ravages of the potato bug without any ill-feeling against him, in this connection; also of the gold mining prospects in Madoc and the probabilities and eventualities of the trotting races at the Bay Side Park next week. If "lover" will read the fifth chapter of the latest almanac he will find that the Ephesians never crossed the Bay of Quinte and the statement is vouched for in history as every one who lives in this district knows; still every one should feel happy at this time for the depression is lifting and watermelons can be had for two cents. There may be a doubt in our mind in regard to this question of "lover's" but we think the general sentiment of the majority of our readers will endorse us when we answer "yes." We are always willing to answer the questions of our readers and will spare no trouble in doing so.

THE OPERA HOUSE

Miss Sophie Miles and her Company made their third appearance before a Belleville audience last evening, in Shakspeare's famous and well-known play of "Hamlet." Miss Miles appeared in the role of "Hamlet," and in her faithful portrayal of the character proved that she is an accomplished artist. In the many strange and startling incidents in the history of Hamlet, Miss Miles was particularly successful in her delineation thereof. No one who was present last evening can hesitate to say that this favorite tragedienne is a faithful interpreter of this, one of the grandest creations of the immortal bard of Avon. The other parts were well sustained by the different members of the company, especially Miss Neville in the character of "Ophelia." This evening will be presented "Aurora Floyd, or the Dark Deed done in the Wood;" the entertainment concluding with "Brass." We hope to see a crowded house as this is Miss Miles' last appearance but one. By special request another performance will be given on Monday evening, for the benefit of Miss Miles.

Police Court.

(Before A. DIAMOND, Esq., P. M.)

SATURDAY, Sept. 8th, 1877.

DRUNK AND DISORDERLY.

William Page was charged as above. He was arrested by the Chief yesterday afternoon whilst acting in a very disorderly manner. On being searched a loaded pistol was found on his person, and he, "not being a soldier, sailor or volunteer in her Majesty's service, nor being a constable nor policeman is not permitted to carry any pistol or air gun." He was therefore fined $20 and costs, the lowest penalty that could be inflicted under the statute, and his revolver confiscated.

The Orange Order in The States,

CONFESSION OF A PRISONER.

Daring Burglary and Robbery

Tweed's Object in Testifying.

MISCELLANEOUS.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—At a meeting of the District Loyal Orange Institution last night, the Superior Grand Master reported that all the divisions of the order in the United States have been harmonized; the total membership is 65,000.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 8.—The Mitchell scandal is settled, Mrs. Mitchell receiving without opposition a divorce from her husband on the ground of cruelty; she to receive $2,000 per annum, and the child to remain with its grand parents.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 8.—The Police Marshal has seized the effects of the late Senator Owen, of South Carolina; who died here. They include valuable correspondence, certificates of deposit for $21,000 in State Bonds and memoranda revealing interesting political transactions.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—James Oneil a prominent actor has been sued for divorce by a woman claiming to have been married to him in 1871. Last June, Oneil married Ellen Quintan of N. Y.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Secretary Sherman in transmitting to Col. J. Schuyler Crosby, Consul at Florence, a life saving's medal of the first class, awarded for heroic daring at the time of the Mohawk yacht disaster, pays an exalted tribute to Crosby's bravery.

HARTFORD, Conn., Sept. 8.—Allen, one of the prisoners who in attempting to escape from the State Prison on Saturday night killed a watchman, has made a full confession. He says a thousand dollars were paid to the turnkey who arrested them.

HONESDALE, Pa., 8.—The farmers and residents of small villages are organizing a Vigilance Committee for protection against the raiding of strikers.

NYACK, N. Y., Sept. 8.—Richard P. Eels, Manager of the Bankrupt Rockland Co. Savings Bank is arrested. He is a deacon in the Reformed Church. Investigation shows he has either taken, lent or lost over $30,000 of depositors' money.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The Herald's Pennsylvania special says the strikers of the Lehigh region have resolved on a general uprising. Members of the secret orders are drilling with weapons in the Hyde Park suburb of Scranton. Molly Maguires are trying to induce R. R. employes to unite in a general strike on Sept. 15th but the R. R. men said they had had enough of strikes.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Five European steamers sail to-day heavily freighted with breadstuffs, provisions and dairy products, including 200,000 bushels of grain and 12,000 cases of canned meats.

On Thursday morning a gang of masked burglars entered the residence of Col. Hamilton, son of the illustrious Alexander Hamilton, on the Hudson River, between Dobbs Ferry, and Irvington. The ladies of the house and the servants fled to the upper rooms and were compelled to give up their money. The burglars then leisurely feasted in the pantry and departed. Col. Hamilton who is aged 90, slept undisturbed throughout the entire turn out.

The Tribune publishes a vivid letter from Lieut. Cooper at Fort Concho, Tex., who was with a party of soldiers who became lost recently on the naked plains in northwestern Texas and nearly perished from thirst. Cooper recounts that when the horses gave out the men fought to drink their blood. This only intensified their thirst, and the soldiers suffered symptoms of blind staggers from which the horses died. The loss on the trip was 4 men, and one citizen died from thirst, and 23 horses and 4 mules perished.

The Tribune reports that Tweed's motive in testifying is a desire to expose old friends who have been assisting in his prosecution and others who have refused to assist him. Some of the men who will be exposed are active opponents of Tammany.

EUROPEAN NEWS

Startling Rumor.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The Times' cables say it is rumored a struggle is impending involving the largest portion of western Europe. It is believed a secret treaty exists between Italy and Germany, and it is stated that Italy is making immense preparations for war.

—Trains are expected to run by the first of October between Montreal and Hull, on the Montreal, Ottawa and Occidental Railway.

—A vesselowner of Detroit is having a new steamer built there, and some parties have offered to fit her with machinery that will porpel her at the rate of 25 miles an hour.

—An excursion is being organized in Montreal to make the trip in September, from Montreal to St. John and Halifax and return—distance about 2,060 miles, for $9.

—A French wit says that it is the duty of a gallant man always to pretend to believe everything a woman says, out of respect to her; and never to believe anything she says out of respect to himself.

—A petition to the Queen against the introduction of auricular confession into the Church of England is being circulated by the Church Association for signatures.

Brigham Young did a service for Mormons and gave some good advice to all civilized people when in his will he prohibited the purchase of mourning at his funeral. The external badges of mourning are very expensive, and their purchase costs poor people large sums of money which can ill be spared. Aside from this one controlling consideration, it is very doubtful taste, and it does seem as if the increasing refinement and sensibility of the human race must soon abolish this ostentatious advertisement of grief. Canadian funerals are not quite such a dreadful spectacle as an English or Irish burial presents, but they are still expensive enough, and it is a pity that the money spent for artificial symbols of woe should not be applied to some worthier use.

A CASE OF TWENTY YEARS STANDING.

From Mrs. Joseph Baker, of Johnson, Vt.

"I feel it my duty to make known to the world the wonderful efficacy of your WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY. For twenty years I was sorely afflicted with phthisic, and previous to using the BALSAM was pronounced by the physicians incurable. Two or three bottles afforded me a good deal of relief, and as many more completely restored me; and for two years past I have not had the least return of that painful complaint."

50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

Mitchell's Belladonna Improved India Rubber Porous Plaster.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

The principal ingredients used in making these Plasters are Gum Olibanum—or better known as the Frankincense of the Bible—Rubber and Burgundy Pitch; which, when scientifically compounded, is full of electricity and when combined with the pure medical gums, is found to be one of the greatest healing mediums ever brought before the human race.

They are acknowledged by all who have used them to act quicker than any other Plasters they ever before tried, and that one of these Plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other Plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

They possess all the soothing, warming, supporting and strengthening qualities of all other Plasters. Many who have been relieved of RHEUMATISM, TICDOLOREUX, and various other pains in the KIDNEYS, BREAST or SIDE, and believe it is solely done by the electrical qualities which the Porous Plasters contain, and which is imparted to the system, thus restoring them to a healthy condition.

They are very soft and pliable, still very adhesive; and a sure cure for WEAK BACKS PAINS IN THE SIDE and BREAST; and are invaluable to those who have a COLD of long standing, and often prevents CONSUMPTION. Some even tell us they believe they were entirely cured by the use of them of a long-seated Consumption.

Prepared by GEORGE E. MITCHELL, Lowell, Mass.
Sold by all Druggists.

PETTIT'S SALVE,

An Infallible Remedy for all Diseases of the Eye (acute or chronic), Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands Film, and Weakness of the Vision from any cause.

THE AMERICAN EYE-SALVE is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also, for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain, and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe, and effectual remedy ever discovered. The materials of which it is made are pure, perfect, and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and, of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye-washes. RINGWORM and OLD CHRONIC SORES, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the AMERICAN EYE-SALVE. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate, and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of "DR. J. PETITT'S AMERICAN EYE-SALVE," while making new and improved machinery for making a more perfect box for the Eye-Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the Wrapper, Circulars, Advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.

A. G. NORTHRUP,
THOS. RITCHIE,
Belleville, 16th July, 1877.

to h's wife, as he came in, "and I told him we'd better come home and get a bite and rest till daybreak, for he's been on the go since morning, and without eating, and maybe Tom would come with the hound by that time, and we'd stand a better chance to find them. Pour him out some coffee, wife. Sit down, Grey, and eat a bite of something. Don't shake your head. I know how it'll choke, but think of her." And he pointed to the bed.

It seemed to the impatient watchers that day would never dawn, and with the first streak of light they mounted their horses. They had just started, and Mrs. Bennett was putting up the bars for them, when her husband put his hand to his ear, with the exclamation—"Hark!"

"By Jehosaphat! but that's Brun! Yes." as he raised himself up in the saddle, "it's him, and no mistake, and now we stand a chance to find them. Let's wait a minute. Bless my soul, but what's he got in his mouth? A—a—yes, as sure as I'm alive, it's a hat—a little straw hat!"

"Willie's hat!" And the father leaped to the ground, tears streaming down his face. "Where's the boy, Brun!"

He asked the question as passionately as though addressing a human being. The creature seemed to read his feelings, for giving him a wistful look and wagging his tail, he darted back.

"Follow him, Bill—he know's," cried Nick. And they started on a gallop. Mile after mile the dog led them on, pausing not till he came to the "divide." Then he struck off, made the circuit of a slough, and halted beside a gopher mound, on which grew a luxuriant clump of hazels.—Half blind, dizzy in brain, and with a heart near bursting, the father sprang from the saddle. One look—one only he gave, and then fell fainting to the ground, the joy—the sudden, the delirious joy, being almost as hard for his stricken soul to bear as would have been a mighty sorrow. There they lay, their little white arms twined about each other, their dimpled cheeks pressed close together, sound asleep—the dear little babes of the prairie!

SCHOOL TEMPTATIONS.

The Congregationalist.

Do mothers realize how much responsibility they assume in sending their children to school? A new world is opened to them, and temptations come as they will nowhere else. A school is no respector of persons. Not only do the rich and the poor, but the pure and the vicious, the child of many prayers and he who knows not what prayer is, play together; and who shall say which has the most influence? It is not a week since, that a boy not more than six or seven years old, living in Massachusetts city, within a stone's throw of one of its finest churches and most flourishing schools, was heard to boast that he had corrupted (he used a viler word) every little girl in the neighborhood, and this is only one among many.

O, mothers! are your sons and daughters liable to become familiar with rude and slang phrases, profane expressions, and obscure words and acts, and are we helpless? is there no power that we can lay hold of, by which those dearer to us than our own flesh can be kept unspotted from the world? I know the religious press speaks strongly upon this subject, and good men are trying to suppress that which our children should never see or hear; but there is work for parents to do which no one else can accomplish. How many mothers make it their daily duty to talk with and advise their children with reference to what they have seen and heard, and what their temptations have been, and so strengthen to resist them? And how many mothers pray with their children before sending them to their school duties, and to temptation? It seems to me that here is the power that we can lay hold on for our help, pray not only for them, but with them. Let the kiss you give them before they start for school, be given on your knees, after asking God's care and blessing upon them. Ashamed to do it? You are not ashamed to let your children see your anxiety for their bodily welfare, that they should be properly fed and clothed, and that their deportment should be correct; and should you be ashamed, oh Christian mother, to let them know your greater anxiety for their soul's welfare? No time?

There is no mother, however much she may have to do, who is so busy that she cannot take ten minutes to gather her children about her, to ask God's protection while they are separated. You take time for other things. Is there anything of more importance than this? Not accustomed to it? Feel to timid? As sad as this thought is, I fear it may be too true, but if you have never commenced it, do it to-day. No matter how old or how young your children are, they will respect you for it and in no way can you gain a greater influence over them. What might we not expect, and hope for, in the coming generation, if all children of Christian parents went forth to their daily school duties with a mother's prayer in their hearts and her loving kiss upon their lips.

The following incident is true in every particular: One severely cold day last winter two little boys, one seven and the other two or three years older, were sitting together at school by the stove, when the one asked: "Say, Willie, did you ever swear?" After recovering a little from the shock the question gave him, the younger one replied, unhesitatingly: "No." "What never; not a single word?" "No." "Well," said the elder, with a sneering voice, "begin now—here—say God—— I say it quick!" A moment's pause; will he yield to this, the greatest temptation of his life? "Come, say it quick!" But Willie is thinking. He seems to feel his mother's arm about him, and he hears those words again: "O God, keep this dear little boy, who is so precious to us; help him to bear temptation, and give him strength to resist evil." And with this thought in his heart, he looks up with greater courage and says, "No, I shall no say it." The older boy is astonished, but nothing daunted he tries again. "Well, say just this one word—say God." "No, sir;" and he rose immediately to leave his tempter, but not in time to lose the parting words of the older one, "You d——d old fool!"

Willie and his mother had a long talk that night, and as she listened with an agonized heart to the recital of the terrible temptation, and the tears came to her eyes, he put his arms about her neck and said, "But mamma, I didn't say it, and I never will!"

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

Coming Tuesday, Sept. 25th.

SCHOOL BOARD.—A regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education takes place this evening.

E. I. T. B.

TUITION.—Mrs. Reid announces that she has resumed her classes in Music, English and foreign languages. Class room, Pinnacle Street, just opposite No 209.

THE MIDLAND FAIR.—Prizes to the value of $8,000 are offered for comptition at the fair to be held at Kingston. So says yesterday's News

APPOINTMENT.—Mr. A. C. Osborne, formerly of Prince Edward Co., has been appointed Principal of the new Model School at Napanee.

FOR NAPANEE.—A large number left town to-day on the Kincardine and G. T. R. to attend the Conservative demonstration at Napanee.

QUICK THRESHING.—The "Sidney Belle", machine, owned by Mr. W. E. F. Hess, last week threshed 525 bushels of barley in 3 hours and 30 minutes.

THE TORONTO YACHT RACE.—The race for the champion flag of Lake Ontario was won yesterday by the Annie Cuthbert which beat the Oriole 22 minutes.

NOTICE TO SPORTSMEN.—Quail cannot be killed (unless in violation of the law) before the first of October: therefore, sportsmen should make a note of the fact.

GONE TO OSWEGO.—The dredge Giant with the two scows which having been working in the harbor here, left yesterday afternoon in tow of the tug C. P. Morey.

NOTICE.—The Good Templars of this town will meet this evening for the purpose of forming a new lodge of that order. Mr. T. W. Casey of Napanee, W. C. T. will install the officers elect.

PERSONAL.—Bishop Carman was announced to lecture in London last evening but having been unexpectedly called to Manitoba on business he was obliged to cancel his engagement.

A. L. I.—The officers and men of the 15th Batt. had a march out last evening and presented a fine appearance. A large number of the regiment attended the Opera House in the evening.

THE "MADCAP."—This yacht will receive the necessary preparations to-day to enable her to be launched to-morrow. From the expression of those who are posted in yachting, she is certain to be a fast one.

MEETING.—A meeting of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club will be held at Hambly's on Friday evening at eight o'clock for the transaction of important business connected with the annual regatta of the club.

WANT ENGAGEMENT.—Like the majority of amusement companies now on the road, the Mendelssohn Quintette Club of Boston, solicit paying engagements. In these depressed times everybody wants a certainty, but few get it.

SILVER WEDDING.—Mr. and Mrs. James Mackie celebrated their silver wedding at the family residence on Church Street last evening. A large number of friends were present who enjoyed themselves in various ways until a late hour.

PROLIFIC.—Last spring Mr. A. Wary, who resides three miles north of Tweed, sowed six quarts of oats, the produce of which after being threshed, measured nine and one hal bushels, or one and one half bushels to the quart. This is indeed a very large yield.

CORRECT.—Yesterday's issue of the Whig gives a correct paraphrase of the "sea horse" connected with O'Brien's Show. "For ways that are dark and tricks that are vain the showman, now-a-days is peculiar"—"but the same we don't care to explain."

MASONIC EXCURSION.—The Masons of Gananoque will make an excursion to Picton per steamer Oswego Belle on the 18th. The slumbers of the Kingston News man are greatly disturbed by her whistle and he should certainly take a dose of soothing syrup.

CRICKET NOTE.—The Picton Cricket Club will leave Picton this evening for Oswego where they will play the club of that city to-morrow. With Bailey and Stevenson in good form we expect that victory will perch itself on the banner of the American Club.

SELLING LIQUOR TO INDIANS.—A question has arisen as to who is the proper party to prosecute tavernkeepers for selling liquor to Indians.—"Daily News" We presume the Inspector should be the person as he is appointed to enforce the law and see that its provisions are carried into effect.

THE COUNCIL.—The session last evening was occupied with a discussion caused by a point of order being raised. It having been decided that the point held was good, and it having been held so by the Council an adjournment was made. And still we are not happy.

IN HIS PLACE.—We were pleased to notice in the Council Chamber last evening the presence of Councillor Pringle who has been confined to his house for a lengthened period by illness. A little care and the old gentleman will be himself once again before long.

ARRESTS.—The man Gribbins—mention of whose misfortunes, according to this own story was made in those columns in our last issue, was arrested yesterday, as was also a woman named Cronon who hit another female with a rock. The former (Gribbins) was liberated, and the latter bailed. Such and so various are the vicissitudes of fortune.

JEWISH FAST.—Saturday, September the 8th, was the festival of the Jewish race and faith, being the first day of the Year of the world, 5638. Saturday and ten days following constitute the penitential season of the Jewish sacred year, which includes and ends with the great Day of Atonement, Monday the 17th. The Feast of Tabernacles also takes place during the month, beginning on Saturday, the 22nd instant. The ceremonies by which these sacred seasons are observed, are, we need scarcely say of the most interesting character.

GOLDEN WEDDING.—Last evening the 50th anniversary (Golden Wedding) of the Hon. Billa Flint and Mrs. Flint was celebrated at the family mansion on Bridge Street. Those present comprised forty-six relatives of the honored couple, besides Rev. Mr. Rose and lady, Rev. Mr. Harper and lady, Mr. M. Sawyer, and others. Supper was partaken of at eight o'clock, after which speeches, appropriate to the occasion, were made by Rev. Mr. Harper, Mr. J. H. Meacham, and Mr. Sawyer, and responded to by Mr. Flint. A beautiful malacca cane with a gold-head—with the inscription "Presented to Hon. Billa Flint on the 50th anniversary of his marriage," was presented the Hon. gentleman, and a number of valuable gifts in gold were handed to Mrs. Flint. A very pleasant evening was enjoyed, and all who were present will long remember the event with feelings of pleasure.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—Miss Sophie Miles and the Royal Star Dramatic Company made their last appearance in the above place last evening before a small audience. Rose Michel constituted the evening's attraction, and it is but just to say that it was produced and acted in an excellent manner. The acting of Miss Miles was fully up to her usual standard of excellence, whilst Mr. Spackman sustained his part in a very creditable manner. The other members of the company acquitted themselves well in the parts assigned them. This company's stay here was not a pecuniary success, and we have only to regret this in view of the fact that their productions were first-class. Such is life, however, and particularly so when we consider that fortune doesn't always favor the brave. Often have we seen companies possessing far less intrinsic merit than this one draw a good house; yet such is luck.

FREE ADVERTISEMENTS.—Very frequently of late our local columns have contained announcements (handed in by our friends) calling for or inviting the attention of our readers to certain events which were about to take place. The requests were invariably complied with without a cent being asked for or received for the space occupied. It is generally known that local announcements are charged for at the usual rates, but notwithstanding, this real genuine advertisements were handed in, which were sometimes at proper rates worth $2.00 $3.00 and $4 00. Anything that will have a tendency to benefit the people we are always willing to favor, but in doing so we are not of the opinion that justice is being done us when after giving gratuitous announcements for a certain object, its promoters take what advertising there is to other places. This is treating us unfairly, and therefore in the future those requiring space in our local columns will either have to pay for the space occupied or have their manuscript sent to the waste basket.

"KERRY GOW."—This new and highly praised Irish drama will be produced at the Opera House to-morrow evening for the first and only time by a splendid company, of whose leading actor, the Detroit Free Press thus speaks:—"One of the best artistic successes of the season is Joseph Murphy's impersonation of Dan O'Hara in his charming play 'Kerry Gow.' All of its surroundings are boldly and skilfully drawn and there is no attempt to elevate the central figure so high as to dwarf the subordinate parts, a lesson which too many cotemporaneous dramatists have yet to learn. The plot is not too much involved, and the action is spirited, continuous and entertaining. Mr. Murphy has acquired a high degree of finish during the past two years, and the satisfying quality of his acting is one of the strongest proofs of its excellence. There is that in his Dan O'Hara which must strike the spectator as truly artistic, mainly because of its fidelity to nature. One can hardly think of him as acting, but rather as passing through a series of events exactly as men encounter the inevitable every-day experience of life. There is not the slighest straining after dramatic effect, and so logically do causes follow effects as to leave the impression—if one thinks about them at all—that they could not possibly have been otherwise. This is to have learned the deepest secret of the player's art. If Mr. Murphy has gained it by study so much the more deserving are his efforts. If he found the precious secret intuitively he has genius of a very high order; and with continued and patient application he may reasonably count upon a brilliant future. His methods are of course acquired; but he has a native faculty of suiting the action to the word and the word to the action, which throws around his impersonation of the Gow a charm like that of correct perspective or the harmonious blendings of colors on canvas."

—The cigar makers' strike ended on Saturday in Cincinnati by Krohn, Feiss &Co., accepting the demand of the strikers, and discharging all the women.

—The report that Sitting Bull is still in Canadian territory is confirmed. On the 14th ult., he was forty miles from Wood Mountain, and expressed his intention of remaining where he was.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A letter from Wolf Rapids reports that Lt. Biards of the 5th infantry states that Sitting Bull and his tribe had an advance after a consultation with Major Welch, of the British Police. After a dance Bill Culverson, a Government scout, got into a dispute with Sitting Bull, when the latter attempted to shoot Culverson, but Major Welch stepped in and with a revolver covering Sitting Bull, told him he could not commit any deviltries on English soil. He gave Sitting Bull and his tribe five days to leave the country, saying if he caught them there afterwards he would hang him. This was about the 10th of August and Sitting Bull left on the 12th. It is believed that Sitting Bull made for the Missouri River below Mussellshell River, and Lieut. Biards asked for reinforcements from Major Lazelle. Three companies of the 7th cavalry have been sent to Major Brisbin and six companies of the same have gone to Mussellshell.

It is reported that Daly, the theatre man, has failed.

A Washington despatch to the Tribune says the preliminary decision of the Fishery Question is considered by the administration as a substantial triumph for the United States. The final decision of the whole question may not be reached before November.

A Washington dispatch to the Tribune says the Democrats believe they will control the Senate, inasmuch as Morton will be absent leaving only two Republican majority, that one of these has been already captured, and if Senator Spencer should be delayed by his Black Hill speculations it would thus leave that body with a democratic supremacy.

Trenton and vicinity felt what was believed to be an earthquake shock yesterday morning.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—E. W. Leavenworth, a pupil of Troy Polytecnic Institute was shot on Saturday night within a few feet of General Hancock while listening to a serenade. A bullet went through the young man's arm and embedded itself in his watch, thus saving his life. He was probably mistaken for some other person.

It is stated that the actress Amy Fawcett was murdered by her paramour in this city last night. It is alleged he threw her down stairs, beat and kicked her, from the effects of which she died.

A letter from Latacunga, Ecuador, states that a volcano had an eruption in the latter part of July and by the upheaval of water, overflowed streams, swept away several plantations and drowned a thousand people in different places and 2,000 cattle. The whole face of the country for miles around is covered with subsequent showers of ashes destroying all cereals and plants, and starvation was feared on the 30th of July.

Victory by the Roumanians.

DECISION IN GAMBETTA'S CASE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 11.—A despatch from Bucharest says the Russian authorities publish the capture by the Roumanians of the Turkish intrenchments on the Lett Centre at Plevna by desperate fighting. The Czar sent decorations to all the officers and soldiers engaged.

A later despatch states that the Turks still hold all the positions.

ADRIANOPLE, Sept. 11 —There has been a severe snow storm on the Balkans.

PARIS, Sept. 11.—Gambetta and Murrat for the delivery and publishing of a Lille speech of the former, did not appear before the Police Chamber to-day for trial. Entry of default was made against them, and Gambetta sentenced to three months imprisonment, and a fine of 2,000 francs. The public excluded from tribunal.

DIGNITY OF DEMEANOR.

Dignity of demeanor should characterize the bench in its intercourse with the bar. Chief Baron Parker, though a very honest and very learned man, was a very undignified judge. When he was delivering his opinion in the course of Perrin v. Blake, he exclaimed, in a loud tone, "Stare decisis," and gave his desk so severe a rap with his knuckles that the court rung again. Lord Camden used frequently to sit in court in a tie wig, and would garter up his stocking while the counsel were the most strenuous in their eloquence. Lord Clare, the Irish Chancellor, had a favorite dog that would often follow him to the bench. One day, during an argument of Mr. Curran's, his Lordship stooped down and began to caress the dog. Curran stooped short in the middle of a sentence; the judge started. "I beg pardon, my Lord," said the advocate sarcastically, "I thought your "lordships" had been in consultation; but as you have been pleased to resume your attention, allow me to press upon your excellent understandings, that," etc.

—Trains are expected to run by the first of October between Montreal and Hull, on the Montreal, Ottawa, and Occidental Railway.

Mitchell's Belladonna Improved India Rubber Porous Plaster.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

The principal ingredients used in making these Plasters are Gum Olibanum—or better known as the Frankincense of the Bible—Rubber and Burgundy Pitch; which, when scientifically compounded, is full of electricity and when combined with the pure medical gums, is found to be one of the greatest healing mediums ever brought before the human race.

They are acknowledged by all who have used them to act quicker than any other Plasters they ever before tried, and that one of these Plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other Plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

They possess all the soothing, warming, supporting and strengthening qualities of all other Plasters. Many who have been relieved of RHEUMATISM, TICDOLOREUX, and various other pains in the KIDNEYS, BREAST or SIDE, and believe it is solely done by the electrical qualities which the Porous Plasters contain, and which is imparted to the system, thus restoring them to a healthy condition.

They are very soft and pliable, still very adhesive; and a sure cure for WEAK BACKS PAINS IN THE SIDE and BREAST; and are invaluable to those who have a COLD of long standing, and often prevents CONSUMPTION. Some even tell us they believe they were entirely cured by the use of them of a long-seated Consumption.

PETTIT'S SALVE,

An Infallible Remedy for all Diseases of the Eye (acute or chronic), Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands Film, and Weakness of the Vision from any cause.

THE AMERICAN EYE-SALVE is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also, for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain, and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe, and effectual remedy ever discovered. The materials of which it is made are pure, perfect, and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and, of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye-washes. RINGWORM and OLD CHRONIC SORES, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the AMERICAN EYE-SALVE. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate, and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of "DR. J. PETTIT'S AMERICAN EYE-SALVE," while making new and improved machinery for making a more perfect box for the Eye Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the Wrapper, Circulars, Advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.

THE CZAR AND THE WIDOW.

When the late Czar was at Warsaw, shortly before the outbreak of the Crimean war, in the course of one of his flying journeys through Russia, the officer of the day came to inform him that a woman awaited without who wished to present a petition to him. The Czar bade him admit her, and a Polish woman entered, clad in deep mourning. In a voice broken with tears she told her story. She was a widow with an only son, who had been torn from her, in direct violation of the law excepting the only sons of widows from liability to enlistment. Nicholas heard her patiently to the end, and bade her return on the morrow, insuring her that her case should be carefully considered. The recruiting officer, who had been concerned in the alledged offence, was next summoned, but the latter stoutly asserted that the whole story was a pure fabrication; that the widow had in reality two sons, of whom he had taken the eldest, and that the complaint was merely a ruse on the mother's part to keep her son home. In this falsehood he boldly persisted when confronted by the mother on the following morning, perceiving this to be his only chance of escaping detection. Nicholas looked decidedly nonplussed and the staff officers began to exchange, in cautious whispers, various jocular allusions to the judgement of Solomon. But suddenly the Emperor's marble face lighted up, and turning to the recruiting officer, he said with ominous suavity: You are ready to swear, then, that this woman has two sons?" "I swear it, your majesty," answered the unbashed officer. "In that case," rejoined the Czar with a smile which showed how thoroughly he appreciated the situation, "Russia must not lose a soldier; give back the son you have taken, and enlist the other.

A NUT FOR CANADIAN FARMERS TO CRACK.

A writer in the American Agriculturist (W. Alwater, of Connecticut), writing of wood ashes, says:—"Many of our best farmers in Connecticut use leached ashes imported from Canada at a cost of from eighteen to twenty-eight cents or more per bushel, in preference to all other fertilizers except barnyard and stable manure." If New England farmers find it profitable to purchase leached ashes for fertilizers in Canada, and to bear, in addition the price paid for carriage, are they not worth the cost price to Canadian farmers? Are their lands so exceedingly fertile that they can afford to send away one of the best fertilizers to be obtained in the country for the sake of a few dollars they will receive exchange? Ashes are not so lightly valued by any other agriculturalist as they are here. In Ireland not only is every shovelful of ashes from their turf fires carefully saved as a most valuable fertilizer, but even earth ferns and headlands are burned in large ash-fires to obtain the ashes for manure; and these ashes are not equal for the purpose to wood ashes.

We know from experience that ashes is a fertilizer of great value to all our farm and garden crops. We have used it on the growing cereals and root crops, and in all cases with advantage. To the potato crop we have found it especially beneficial, and as a top-dressing for lawns and meadows. All who have had much practical knowledge of the benefits to crops generally will fully agree that the analyses by chemists do not rate constituent elements more highly than is borne out by experience. From analyses by Prof. Johnson and others the average percentages of plant food are from forty-seven to fifty pounds per one hundred pounds weight of wood ashes. A dressing of fifty pounds of uncleaned ashes to the acre would give 200 bushels of potash, 768 pounds of lime, 120 pounds of magnesia, 48 pounds of phosphoric acid, and 7 pounds of sulpheric acid (W. O. A). Can it be that the farms of Canada are so excessively fertile that we can afford to send one of the best and most readily-available fertilizers across our borders to enrich the fields of others?—Farmer's Advocate.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and man in the land.

The cure will be guaranteed, and as proof of this, no pay is required, until the cure is complete The moment a Cancer is discovered, it should be cured, as it will cost less and is more speedily cured than when longer standing, and there is nothing to gain, and everything to lose by delay. Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

POND'S EXTRACT

POND'S EXTRACT.

The People's Remedy.
The Universal Pain Extractor.
Note: Ask for Pond's Extract.
Take no other.

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

CHILDREN. No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains of Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discoloration and heals rapidly.

LADIES find it their best friend. It assuages the pains to which they are peculiarly subject—notably fullness and pressure in the head, nausea, vertigo, &c. It promptly ameliorates and permanently heals all kinds of Inflammations and ulcerations.

HEMORRHOIDS or PILES find in this the only immediate relief and ultimate cure. No case however chronic or obstinate can long resist its regular use.

KIDNEY DISEASES. It has no equal for permanent cure.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this it is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific), Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE. Removes Soreness, Roughness and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. It revives, invigorates and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleedings, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, &c. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every farm-yard as well as in every farmhouse. Let it be tried once and you will never be without it.

CAUTION! Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians, and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

HISTORY and Uses of Pond's Extract, in pamphlet form sent free on application to POND'S EXTRACT COMPANY, Maiden Lane, New York.

AT THE REAR OF THE RUSSIANS.

BUCHAREST, Monday, Aug. 20, 1877.

Every twenty-four hours the public is worked up to a state of feverish excitement by the report of a battle, which as the day goes on is contradicted. The Russians have learned a lesson of prudence, and will not again risk their existence, for such has become the question, by fighting, except in overwhelming masses. The Turks have let slip the golden opportunity, and, instead of profiting by the dispersion of the enemy's troops, and forcing an engagement in detail on ground of their own choosing, are about to lose everything by concentration. One army has been beaten and the other will be beaten on scientific principles, of which their respective commanders have studied the letter, but have never thoroughly understood either the spirit or the manner of application. The hithertoo despised Roumanian army, so sneered at by the Russians a few weeks ago, is about to play an active part in the great drama, provided the Grand Duke will consent to its separate action under its own Commander-in-Chief, Prince Carol. If not, the troops will be withdrawn from the right to the left bank, where they will maintain a strictly defensive attitude as frontier guards, and the sovereign will return to Bucharest, declining all further co-operation with the Russians. On Friday, this result of the late negotiation at the imperial headquarters appeared probable. A number of the native officers obtained leave to return to the capital, and mothers, wives and daughters became jubilant over the assured safety of their loved ones. But a great many things may change in the course of six-and-thirty hours. A satisfactory compromise has been effected, and the embryo heroes have been ordered to rejoin their regiments without delay, in order to win their laurels by an attack on the left flank of the army of Osman Pasha, commanded by the Prince in person. The First Roumanian Army Corps, except a small garrison at Kalafat, is being marched to Carabia, a little town in the south of Caracalla, not indicated upon the ordinary maps, where, so soon as 30,000 men are concentrated, the movement will commence. They have already their Fourth Division on the extreme Russian right, and this will, as rapidly as possible, join forces with Prince Charles, so as to oblige Osman Pasha to detach from his army at least 20,000 troops, which thus will be prevented taking part in the defense of Plevna against the Russians.

The Roumanian officers are quite resigned and ready for anything. They are perfectly convinced that they can expect no mercy from their enemy should they fall alive into his hands. All who have anything to leave have already made their wills, and the majority have provided themselves with poison, in order to escape by death from the cruel martyrdom which they know too well will be their fate if they are taken prisoners. They will fight bravely, we may be sure, but it will be without enthusiasm and with the courage of despair. Perhaps one of the reasons for their despondency arises from the cabals of some of the natives against the Surgeon-General, Davila, a French physician, who, during the last four-and-twenty years, has devoted all his energy and talents, both of which are remarkable, to the organization of the military and and civil medical service of the Principality. Scarce ever in America, certainly never in Europe have I seen a more complete organization of the ambulance service, whose arrangements, even in their minutest details, are simply perfection. Among the passengers on the return trip was a Russian officer who had been across the Balkans with Gen. Gourkho and from him I obtained pretty full details of the horrors which followed the evacuation of the Roumelian villages by the raiders. More than a month ago, when the early successes of the campaign seemed to presage the speedy arrival of the Russians at Constantinople, the British Consul at Adrianople moved about through Roumelia exhorting its populations to leave their homes on the first appearance of the invader, to distrust his promises, and to unite with the Moslem in defence of the country against the common enemy. How far Mr. Blunt's action is consistent with the principles of strict neutrality it is not for me to discuss, but my fellow-traveller was very bitter on the subject, as indeed are all his countrymen, whenever any allusion is made to the alleged aid and comfort afforded by England to the Turks. At all events, the Consul's advice was disregarded the Bulgarians hailed the arrival of their co-religionists with enthusiasm, and, to show their appreciation of the benefits of freedom and civilization, commenced a series of reprisals against the Mussulmans, whose excesses, exercised as they were against defenceless women and children, Gen. Gourkho was obliged to repress with great severity, and the whip was used freely on Bulgarian backs, and not a few Bulgarian patriots were shot for murder, arson and robbery. Still, with the victorious progress of the column, the belligerent ardor of the rayahs increased, and bands of guerrillas were organized in every village. Unfortunately, the tide of success turned; Suleiman Pasha began to advance with an overwhelming force and Gourkha was obliged to fall back. This was on the 31st of July; on the day when the Bulgarian Legion, whose third battalion, carrying the colors, lost one-third of its effective force, was driven out of Eski Saghra, and the population left to the mercy of the enemy. The fight had been hotly contested, and while it was going on a few of the inhabitants made good their escape. But the Osmanli soon closed the issues and prevented a general exodus, and then, when the last shot had been fired and the victorious Turks had again occupied the town, the domiciliary visits began. Every house was searched from garret to cellar for valuables; every rayah who attempted to escape was hacked to pieces in the streets. The nizams, or regulars, were intrusted with the execution of this service, which, to do them justice, they executed as conscientiously as though they had been simple Bashi-Bazouks. And then the torch was applied to the Christian quarter, and squads of soldiers were stationed in front of every dwelling with orders to shoot down all who should show themselves at door or window. Many of the unfortunate Christians were seen to throw themselves into the flames, with their wives and children, rather than affront the more dreaded horrors awaiting them should they venture forth from their blazing houses. No age, or sex, or condition was spared. Eight hundred wounded and sick Russians were burned alive in the hospital; babies were tossed about on the bayonets of the soldiery, or nailed to the door-posts of the houses; priests were crucified on the portals of the churches, or above their altars. In one place the missionaries collected 150 little children in the school-houses, where it was hoped their helpless condition might inspire a sentiment of pity. Two young governesses alone remained in charge and these, with tearful eyes and dishevelled hair, threw themselves at the feet of the officers and prayed for mercy. Alas! the word is unknown among these savages. What should have been their protection was nothing but a stimulant to Moslem ferocity. The teachers were outraged, and this, too, with a refinement of atrocity which decency forbids me to describe, in the presence of their pupils, and then all were butchered and their quivering bodies thrown into the flames of the burning churches, whose crosses as they fell upon the ground where spat upon by the rabble, which howled and screamed in this hideous dance of death. None are spared. The gray-bearded patriarch, the bright-faced girl, the infant at the breast—all are massacred. Houses and furniture, granaries teeming with corn, vineyards and rose-gardens, persons and animals—everything is destroyed which once belonged to the hated Giaour. Their relentless fury knows no bounds. The town of Carova, which on the 30th of July counted 2,000 inhabitants, has not one single survivor, and through the mountain vallies rolls the lurid smoke of 60 blazing villages. Said Pasha, of Cirphan, one of the heroes of last summer's atrocities, has been placed by the Government at the head of these "Avengers of Islam," and this "demon, worthily seconded by three other devils, Tefvik, Sadyk, and Acfic Bey, each blacker than his fellow, is taxing his energies to invent refinements to cruelty, which will surpass former deeds of horror. "Violate the women, and even should you spare their lives," it is the countersign. Not one female has escaped throughout all the district of Balkans, and evidence against which there can be no demur, informs us that the fiendish order has been executed not only to the letter, but accompanied with tortures which even the most depraved imagination cannot conceive. And then comes the butchery of all, for without bloodshed no Mussulman cruelty is complete. I have given but a brief resume of the narrative to which I listened for three long hours, and believe me that my tale is far within the truth, for there are details so revolting that I dare not commit them to paper, not because they might be taxed with exaggeration but because they outrage the laws of common decency.

The Daily Ontario.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 12.

MAINE has gone strongly Republican. A Governor and both branches of the Legislature will give that party a decidedly controlling influence.

WE would advise farmers not to hold back their grain too long, in anticipation of higher prices. The war between Russia and Turkey may end sooner than expected.

THE Pope's ill health is daily becoming a subject of greater interest to the Roman Catholic people of the world. It is now announced on private authority that he is not expected to live until November.

THE battle about Plevna is still raging, and the indefinite reports do not enable us to form any opinion of what the final result will be. Osman Pasha is undoubtedly in a precarious position, and Mehemit Ali and Suleiman Pasha's armies are too far away to benefit him.

FROM every quarter of the country come reports of a revival of business and a return of "good times." Tory "addresses," at the demonstrations now being held are unanimous in asserting that the country is yearning for the return of Sir John to power, so that prosperity will be restored. But facts, as reported, do not tally with Tory "addresses."

A LITTLE TOO MYSTERIOUS.

The abduction of Mr. A. D. Fraser, of Ottawa, nearly a year ago, and his experience since, as related by himself, are certainly mysterious if true. We are inclined, however, to entertain a doubt of the reliability of Mr. Fraser's story, as it does not appear possible that a man could be carried from Montreal to Cape Town and be unconscious of the fact, unless hopelessly deranged. Neither can we understand how a professedly shrewd business man, accustomed to travel and the regulations of public houses could so easily be imposed upon and drugged by designing individuals. It is possible that the case is just as related by Mr. Fraser, but all things considered, we think most people will be disposed to question the story until further proof is obtained. People placed in the condition in which Mr. Fraser says he was do not usually meet with so much kindness from strangers in remote parts of the world. Our experience has taught us that there are few Good Samaritans, anxious to devote their time and means to the nursing and doctoring of a lunatic invalid, whom they have never before seen, or know nothing whatever about. Mr. Frazer's story is a little too mysterious.

ANOTHER ASPIRANT.

W. F. McMahon, who, the Kingston News tells us, is attending the school of Gunnery in that city, wants the press to give publicity to the important fact that he is collecting information relating to the U. E. Loyalists and their hardships as first settlers of this part of Canada, which he intends to publish in "a little volume." This, he thinks, will be very gratifying news to the denizens of the old limestone city and other settlements; and he expects that all those who have in their possession information of the kind he is after will, without further solicitation, communicate the same to him at their earliest convenience. All of which is very laudable on the part of anxious to facilitate any such enterprise, and at the same time encourage Canadian authorship, we would recommend this new aspirant for literary fame to get possession of a copy of "Canniff's History of the Settlement of Upper Canada." He will there find more facts relating to the U. E. Loyalists, "their hardships and privations in Canadian forests," &c., than he could possibly collect from any other source in a life time. The old men and women, from whom Dr. Canniff got his "notes," have nearly all passed the bourn from whence no traveller returns. Their descendants may entertain some respect for the noble old patriots, but we do not think they have very carefully preserved the events as they transpired nearly a century ago. Our forefathers were not historians in the sense in which Mr. McMahon presumes to act. They had a history to relate but it was an unwritten one; and only from the lips of those who participated in the experience attending the first settlement of Upper Canada could reliable dates and events be procured. By all means Mr. McMahon, get one of Canniff's histories. From it you can compile "a little volume" surely.

ANOTHER.—Rev. John Corbett, Methodist minister, of Dixville, in the eastern township, lies in jail on a charge of outraging an 8-year-old girl, the daughter of one Elliott, with whom he boarded.

TAXING INCOMES.—The Assessors of Toronto are this year taxing the incomes of all the Dominion officials, including the Judiciary. This will increase the city revenue by some fifteen hundred dollars.

TALLY, HO!.—Schuyler Shibley, Esq., M. P. P., won the silver cup at the Camden R. C. picnic, on Thursday, by a majority of 58 over James Hayden, Esq. Shibley 1,269, Hayden 1,211. And Schuyler is a Grit you know.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—Weldon, who is imprisoned in the Cobourg jail, charged with the murder of Alberta Wade, attempted to hang himself a short time ago. He had twisted his shirt into a rope for the purpose, but was detected by the jailor before he was enabled to effect his object.

GALLANT ACT.—A telegram from Montreal says:—"A lady while crossing the swing bridge leading over the canal, was nearly drowned last night. The bridge having commenced to open, she walked over the end into the canal, when a young man named T. Butler plunged into the water and with great gallantry swam to shore with her.

BIG ROW.—Some time ago, at the request of the Dunkinites, two Toronto detectives were sent to Brantford by the Government. They have been quietly working up, and last night all the hotel keepers, with but two exceptions were subpœnaed. some having as many as nine different charges against them. This morning at 10 o'clock, just as the detectives alighted from a hack, they were seized by the hotel keepers or their friends and a desperate fight took place. The detectives are badly hurt, also some of the police. The object was to keep the detectives from the court.

CANADIAN ATHLETES.—At the New York Caledonian Club games on Thursday last at Jones' Wood, Mr. D. C. Ross, of Onta- [illegible] hammer, throwing the light hammer, putting the heavy stone, throwing the light stone, and second prize for tossing the caber. Mr. A. C. Reid, of London, won the first prize in the 100 yards race, and second prizes for the three-legged race, hitch and kick quarter mile race and men's hurdle race. Mr. E. W. Johnstone, of Toronto took first prizes for standing jump high jump, tossing the caber, hitch and kick, hop, step and jump, running high leap, and second prizes for putting heavy stone and throwing the light stone. The majority of the prizes were taken by Canadians.

THE NAPANEE TORY DEMONSTRATION.

The great Liberal Conservative Demonstration at Napanee yesterday was, probably, the largest of the kind ever held in Lennox, but after all, did not come up to the expectations of its friends, or even of its opponents. Great efforts had been made, for months past, to make it "the grandest demonstration of the kind ever held in Central Canada," and the brethren of Addington, Prince Edward and Hastings contributed to its success with their sympathy, their counsels and their money. Though the demonstration was largely advertised for weeks, and the names of all the leading lights of the party were heralded in connection with the meeting, the attendance was not over one-half as large as at the Belleville demonstration last year and this number was largely made up of pleasure seekers from a distance—about 600 of whom went from Belleville by the "Kincardine," and a still larger number from Kingston by the "Maude" and the "City of Kingston."

We are credibly informed that until the steamers arrived with the visitors from a distance, there were not as many people in Napanee as were there at the ordinary Quarterly Fair on Tuesday of last week. In "the grand procession" which took place through the streets there were, by actual count, just thirty-nine carriages, including the two hired Band waggons, and the cheering throughout was of anything but a hearty character.

The Local Committee deserve much credit for the great pains taken in arranging for the meeting. Five fine arches were erected in the streets well decorated with flags and mottoes, and at the Agricultural Grounds, where the meeting was held, a good platform was erected for the speakers, and seats placed for the hearers. It is evident the committee expected a much larger audience, as not more than one half of the seats were occupied at any time during the meeting. It was estimated that about 2,000 people were on the ground among whom was a good sprinkling of ladies. Probably half this number was made up of residents of other constituencies; and of the residents of Lennox a good percentage was composed of Reformers, curious to hear what might be said.

The chair was occupied by Mr. W. N. Dollar, Warden of the County, who is evidently a man of deeds rather than words, as he did not make a single remark, except to read over the programme.

On the platform were a number of prominent stars of the Tory Pic-nic Troupe, including Sir John, Dr. Tupper, Tom White, T. N. Gibbs, Robt. Read, T. Wills, James McQuaig, and several others. Addresses were presented to Sir John by Mr. Elliott, on behalf of the Lennox Conservative Association, Mr. Richardson, on behalf of the Workingmen of Napanee, by the Prince Edward Association; and then a pitcher, got at some church lottery, was also presented. As each address was read the Chieftain made a few gushing remarks in response, and did not further trouble the audience. The burden of the speech making was laid upon the shoulders of Dr. Tupper, who spoke for nearly two hours, and considering the great heat of the sun, and the sultriness of the day he got a good hearing. We need not attempt any report of this speech. Any one who has read a lengthened report of one of his picnic speeches during the summer is familiar with it. We can hardly say that "the Great Stretcher" overstretched his former self, but to a number who heard him for the first time it was pronounced "a whopper." The increase of debt, the steel rails' the languishing trade, the villiany of the Grits, and other familiar topics were all aired on the occasion.

The Doctor was followed by Mr. Thomas White, and Mr. Gibbs, but as the time and patience of the audience had been well exhausted they both cut it short, as the people was evidently anxious to get away. And so closed the speaking of the day.

A good deal of interest had been felt by many at the promised exhibition of a Tory "Happy Family" in the persons of our Grand Master Bowell, and the representative of the Roman Catholic Ultramontane Party, Mr. Masson, of Quebec. Both these gentlemen were announced to speak, and as both are in the same boat as devoted followers of "Our Chieftain" the happy blending of the Orange and Green was looked for with a good deal of curiosity in Lennox, where it does not seem to be as familiar to the people as in Hastings. Neither gentlemen was seen or heard however. Possibly it may have been thought better, by both of them, to exhibit their mutual admiration and sympathy on the floor of the House, as before, rather than in the eyes of the unsophisticated electors of an Ontario constituency, who might feel somewhat disgusted at such an exhibition, from such denouncers and haters of "organized hypocricy."

A NICE JOB FOR NURSERYMEN.

To the Editor of the ONTARIO.

DEAR SIR,—Some years ago I paid a visit to an uncle living in Genesee County, New York State, who was a great hand at what's called "budding" in fruit trees. Being in his orchard one day, he took me to a common seed apple tree well loaded with fruit. I found by testing them that each apple was one half sweet and the other half sour. He then informed me how this peculiarity was brought about, viz.: by taking a bud from a sweet apple tree, and one from a sour apple tree, and splitting them carefully in the middle, join them nicely together and insert them in the usual way of budding. I have tried the experiment, but my knife was either too dull or my fingers too clumsy, for I did not succeed. I am sure it can be done, however. If a nurseryman would ingraft a bud from a red apple tree with one from a white, he could propogate as many as he liked, by budding or grafting; and he would be sure to sell them for a good price.

SIDNEY.

AN OMISSION.

Of all the faithful adherents and supporters of the Roman Catholic Party in the Province of Quebec the name of F. R Masson, M. P., stands most prominent as the representative of the Ultramontanes in the House of Commons; and of all the fire-eating Orangemen our own Brother McKenzie Bowell, "Most worshipful Grand Master of British America" is the acknowledged leader. Both these gentlemen sail in the same boat in Parliament—both support Sir John, and pant to see him back again to power. It is said that both expect to be members of his new Cabinet, when he becomes Premier. The Committee of the Napanee Demonstration yesterday announced these gentlemen among the sweet singers of the praises of Sir John at their grand gathering. We notice that the Intelligencer's advertisement of the Demonstration prints Mr. Bowell's name in large letters, but entirely overlooks his colleague's name. How is it that Mr. Masson is lost sight of? Was it the fear that it would be rather too much for the Orangemen of North Hastings to see the names of the two illustrious champions printed in the same line? Brother Bowell dearly loves consistency, and hates with a perfect hatred organized hypocracy. Perhaps he spared the feelings of his admirers by this thoughtful omission.

THAT GOLDEN WEDDING.

We gave a brief report of the Golden Wedding of Hon. Billa and Mrs. Flint in yesterday's issue of the Ontario. There were forty-six of the relatives and friends present, most of whom were from the town. Interesting addresses were given by several of those present, and many kind words spoken of Mr. and Mrs. Flint, whom they had known and respected for many years. We may here state that the Hon. Billa is now 72 years, 7 months and 1 day old, and Mrs. Flint is in her 70th, year. A patriarchical couple, truly. Shortly after midnight the company sang the following "Song of the Old Folks," and separated, after prayer by Rev. M. Harper:—

"Should au'd acquaintance, be forgot,
And never brought to mind,
Should auld acquaintance be forgot,
And songs of auld lang syne.
For auld lang syne we meet to-night,
For auld lang syne;
To sing the songs our father sang,
In days of auld lang syne.

We've passed through many varied scenes.
Since youth's unclouded day;
And friends, and hopes, and happy dreams,
Time's hand hath swept away.
And voices that once joined with ours,
In days of auld lang syne,
Are silent now and blend no more
In songs of auld lang syne.

Yet ever hath the light of song,
Illumed our darkest hours;
And cheered us on life's toilsome way,
And gemmed our path with flowers;
The sacred songs our fathers sang,
Dear songs of auld lang syne;
The hallowed songs our fathers sang
In days of auld lang syne.

Here we have met, here we may part,
To meet on earth no more;
And we may never sing again
The cherished songs of yore:
The sacred songs our fathers sang
In days of auld lang syne;
We may not meet to sing again.
The songs of auld lang syne.

But when we've crossed the sea of life,
And reached the heavenly shore,
We'll sing the songs our fathers sing
Transcending those of yore:
We'll meet to sing diviner strains
Than those of auld lang syne;
Immortal songs of praise, unknown

CAUSE AND EEFECT.

From the Toronto Telegaam.

Somebody, whom rumor says is a member of Parliament, and lives not far from Niagara, is writing very long letters to the Mail under the heading of "Occasional Notes." They profess to be accounts of the picnics held by Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues during the early part of the summer. As these picnics were held in June and July it looks somewhat late for "somebody," whoever he is, to be republishing addresses and replies which have long since been stowed away in lumber rooms or have been relegated to the howling limbo of oblivion. Between three and four column editorials, primed to the muzzle with figures, and antiquated reports of pic-nics, running over with adresses and replies which have already been published, the Mail is getting to be a very lively paper. It is not to be wondered at that the Attorney-General of Ontario should be bewailing the increase of insanity in the land.

Trains Late.—Last evening's express from the east and to-day's express from the west were each behind time.

E. I. T. B.

Tuition.—Mrs. Reid announces that she has resumed her classes in Music, English and foreign languages. Class room, Pinnacle Street, just opposite No 209.

Inspection.—Sir H Tyler, President of the G T. R. is now on a tour of inspection of the road, and will visit Belleville shortly.

To Camp Out.—The 15th Battalion A. L. I. will go into camp on the cricket ground to-morrow under command of Lt. Col. Lazier.

For St. Catharines.—The delegates to the Grand Lodge of A. F. and A. M. which is in session at St Catharines, left for that city this morning.

Legal.—The following case is mentioned in yesterday's legal proceedings in Toronto. Hamilton v. Hastings Mutual Ins.—Order for particulars under defendant's pleas.

The Cells.—Three prisoners and one "protectionist," the latter being the individual who was up in the police court on Monday for lunacy—were accommodated with lodgings in the cells last night.

Discharged.—Patrick McCambridge, charged with having set fire to Patrick Turley's barn, and whose case was adjourn till yesterday, was brought up again in the afternoon and discharged.

The Rifle.—Belleville is represented at the Kingston Rifle matches by Messrs Johnson, Bilton, Marshall and Tammadge of the 49th Club. We hope they will give a good account of themselves.

No Meeting.—It is to be supposed that there was no business for the Board of Education to transact last evening as when the hour for meeting arrived there was no quorum of the members present.

Died.—A telegram from Picton dated the 11th, says, Minard McDonald, one of the men injured at the Sand Bank races on Saturday, died this morning. The other two men injured at the same time are recovering.

Down.—Whilst a load of hay was crossing the street-car track near Geen's drug store to-day, it upset and was spilled on the street. This must, however, not be considered a fall in the price, although it was a fall of a load.

Match Race.—A match race will take place on the Bay Side Park to-morrow at 2 p. m. between "Bay Tom" and "Brown Jessie," for $100 a side, best three in five, to harness. Pools on this event will be sold at O'Brien's hotel to night.

Quoits.—On Tuesday, September the 18th the quoiting championship of the Dominion will be competed for at Toronto, when seven regular prizes (the first being $50) and a number of specials will be contested for. Edwards, Diamond and Fleming, come up to the front.

Upset.—About seven o'clock last evening two young lads amused themselves when near the lower bridge, by rocking a punt in which they were. Their efforts caused them a hurried bath which however did not seem to effect them as they swam about for some time after.

Killed.—Whilst a man, woman and child were crossing the G. T. R. track this morning between Newtonville and Port Hope, they did not notice the approach of No. 1 train, eastward bound. The result was that the woman was run over and killed and the man and child seriously injured.

The Schools.—We learn from Inspector Johnson that the schools are very largely attended, and that the Model School is in perfect working order, and is attended by 20 persons who are receiving the necessary preparations for teaching. The school is in charge of Mr. Irwin, and the Inspector gives two lectures each day.

A New Order.—Orders have been given the drivers of the horses which draw the steam engines to fires to proceed to fires hereafter at a slower pace than formerly. Caution may be a good thing in its way, but when (especially in a case like this) too much of it may be exercised, it may prove too detrimental to the interest of the people to be long enforced. The ambition which shows itself so strongly in firemen, in getting first to the scene would thus be curbed here were it not for the fact that we scarcely think they will tolerate the taking up of too much time in the making of the trip to a fire. If that order is carried out it will be to the detriment of the brigade, and the people of the town as well.

The Deciding Game.—Clark Edwards and W. J. Diamond will play the deciding game for the championship of the Belleville Quoit Club this evening.

Would You Believe It.—On Monday evening the City Council of Kingston held a sitting which lasted till 1 a. m. on the following morning. Tally one for Kingston as the "biggest" session of our Council this year only lasted till three minutes to twelve. The reporters of the Kingston papers should rise in their might and club such councillors out of the room.

Large Egg.—Mr. Thomas Lockerty, not content with being in the cigar and tobacco trade, has gone into the poultry business, and to-day exhibits as a proof of the attention bestowed by him on his chickens, an egg which measures 7½ x 6⅝ and weighs a trifle over four ounces. This is the largest specimen of hen fruit we have seen this season.

Home Again.—Mr. W. R. Barber and George Wallbridge returned home last evening after making a business visit to Europe. They both look well: are in fine health and spirits, and present every appearance of having been generally benefitted in health. They came home in the City of Berlin which made the passage in 7 days and 20 hours.

The Match.—The Whig says:—Belleville cricketers are becoming impatient for the match with Oswego. A letter has been sent the club of the latter place, asking that it name a day for the meeting, since the time for the original meeting has passed. The K. C. C. will be glad to hear of the result, as the match between them and Oswego will be affected by it.

Good.—The many friends of the 48th Oswego Regiment will be pleased to learn that they won the "Army and Navy Journal Match" at Creedmore and captured the trophy significant of their victory, valued at $750. The shooters of the 48th make their scores so large this year that there is no possibility of their being counted out this time, much less being called the "woodchuck shooters."

The Kingston Regatta.—Of this event which takes place to-morrow the "Whig" of yesterday thus speaks:—Another meeting of the energetic members of the Kingston yacht club was held last meeting at the British American Hotel, reports of the committee received, suggestions made, and each and all agreed that there was every prospect of a most successful regatta and pleasant time on Thursday next. Many boats are expected from a distance and the officers and committee are leaving no stone unturned to make this one of the most successful and enjoyable meetings, of the kind ever held in Kingston.

A Curiosity.—One of the strange vagaries of fashion is illustrated in the south Front St. window of Foster, Barber & Brignall's store. It consists of a pair of gloves which are each supplied with 24 buttons. They are certainly an oddity and as a consequence attract a great deal of attention. Any person who wishes to enter the matrimonial state can, by purchasing a pair of those gloves (they only cost $4,00 per pair) and all the necessary fashionable fixings that make up the dress paraphernalia of a lady of the times, be made a happy man in short order. The buyer of such gloves as these can after the fingers are worn out, foot them, and they will make first class stockings.

"Kerry Gow."—Joseph Murphy supported by a company of New York artists will produce Kerry Gow in the Opera House to-night. The play is highly spoken of by our contemporaries as is also the company, who during their tour through the province have been very largely patronized; therefore all who wish to witness a first-class entertainment will do well to attend the Opera House to-night. In referring to the play the New York Herald of August 21st said: "The drama is one of the thoroughly Irish family, replete with pathos, humor and adventure, and in many of its aspects recalls the best memories of Barney Williams and William Florence when they were engaged in making reputations out of public tears and enthusiasm. Mr. Murphy possesses much of the style of the two artists above named, although lacking, perhaps, somewhat of the sympathetic tones which are always such a strong feature in the rendition of Irish sentiment. His stage business, however, is easy, natural and effective, and compensates for much of his shortcomings in the opposite direction, and with the same conscientious study continued that he has already given to his work, he bids fair to be a worthy successor of some of the best of our early Irish actors. Mr. Murphy was ably supported by Miss Annie Ward Tiffany, who filled the role of the heroine, as Norah Drew. Most of the subordinate parts likewise showed a careful selection in the support, while the handsome setting of the piece was in thorough keeping with the reputation of the managers and the resources of the theatre." Maum Ore, in which Mr. Murphy assumes five different characters, and sing "A Hand-full of Earth," will be given to-morrow night.

ASSAULT.

The adjourned case of Mrs. Hamilton v. Mrs. Cronon was resumed. The case arose from the defendant having hit the plaintiff with a stone on the Canifton Road on Saturday.

The case was argued by the lawyers on each side after which the Magistrate inflicted a fine of $3.00 and costs or 20 days in jail.

—A potato weighing two and a half pounds was dug up on the farm of Mr. Wm. Aldsworth, of Goderich township, last week. It was one of the Early Rose variety.

THE DEFUNCT CORRUPTIONISTS.

The following story neatly illustrates our point: "An Irishman found a snake and thinking his safety depended on killing the animal, proceeded to cut it up. But no matter how small Pat cut the pieces the snake would still squirm. He could not wait patiently till sunset. One of his wiser countrymen coming along remarked, "Pat, why give yourself further trouble? The snake is dead." "Be jabers and I know that, yer honor, but he isn't sensible of it". Just so with Sir John Macdonald, he is dead politically, but not sensible of it.

CREEDMOOR.

The Rifle Practising at Creedmoor of late is becoming interesting. The British team is probably as strong a one as ever left the shores of England, and their record of practice last week is excellent, in fact so good that the American team is greatly exercised from fear that it will loose the International trophy. However, we must admit that their shooting was of a very superior order; four of them made respectively 211, 211, 210 and 210 out of a possible 225. Col. Selph, of the New Orleans team, is also a remarkably fine shot, and the teams are so evenly matched that the result of the contest is in great uncertainty. Sir Henry Halford is very anxious that his men should have all the practice they can get before the great contest comes off, in order that they may become familiar with the peculiar drifts of the prevalent winds at the ranges. The International long range match for the Centennial trophy, between the American and British teams of eight each will take place on next Thursday and Friday at distances of 800, 900 and 1,000 yards.

THE FIRST DECISION.

The Washington Treaty is certainly a wonderful instrument. We are never done learning new beauties in it—beauties, that is, considered from the United States' standpoint, not from the Canadian one. It is not long since we found out that only by the grace of American Commissioner could Canada receive any award at all, as there was no provision for a decision by the majority of the Commission. Now the Commissioners have with unanimity absolutely ruled out all compensation for the transhipping of cargoes or the purchase of ice, bait or supplies within British territory. Sir Alexander Galt much regretted that this decision had to be given, but it was the only one possible in view of the wording of the treaty, the strict meaning of which could not be exceeded. Experience, we suppose, has to be bought, and although it is said to teach fools, we are not sure that it does. It is certain, however, that sensible men can profit by it, and there are plenty of those in political life in Canada who are wise enough to take advantage of this experience. Perhaps Canada is not buying her experience anything like so dearly as many other nations, but still it is dear enough, and it will be a very satisfactory indeed if it does not lead to treaties better protecting Canada's interests in future.

EUROPEAN NEWS

THE "CAPTURE OF PLEVNA" DISPOSED OF.

NEWS FROM THE RUSSIAN HEAD-QUARTERS.

COLLISION AT SEA.

London, Sept. 12.—The following Russian bulletins effectually dispose of the wild stories about the capture of Plevna:

Russian head quarters, Poredin, Sept. 10.

Our batteries cannonaded Plevna on Sunday; the Turks made a considerable sortie against our left but were repulsed, loosing heavily. The Roumanians made a bold reconnoissance of the enemy's redoubts, which opened a heavy fire, but were silenced by a concentrated fire from our batteries. The position of one of our siege batteries was changed Sunday evening to enable it to cannonade a fortified Turkish encampment. Heavy canonading continued through the night, and increased in extent and activity from five in the morning. All is quiet at the other points of the theatre of war. At the capture of Lovatz we took two Turkish standards, a quantity of arms and ammunition. We buried 2200 Turkish dead. Large numbers were sabred by our cavalry during the pursuit; our loss is 1,000.

A despatch from the Russian Head-quarters, Paredin, Sept 11th says: Our siege batteries cannonaded Plevna all Monday and until late in the night. The left wing under Skobeleff captured another of the neighboring heights which will enable us to bombard the enemy's positions and the town of Plevna itself. The enemy opposed Skobeleff very feebly. Our cavalry on the Sophia road defeated a detachment of Circassians from Plevna. Our losses up to the present time are insignificant.

London, Sept. 12.—The British ship "Avalanche," from London for New Zealand, collided with the British ship "Forest" for New York, off Portland. Both vessels foundered. 96 persons were drowned. The "Forest" had a crew of 21; Capt Lockhart the chief mate and 7 others were saved, the "Avalanche" had a crew of thirty two and fifty passengers the third officer and two seamen only are saved.

—Chief Police Inspector Clark, of Scotland Yard, London, has been arrested for complicity in the De Gonoourt fraud.

THE MARKET.

Belleville, Sept. 12th, 1877.

Though in reality grain has not yet commenced to move, still a considerable quantity has been brought to town during the past three days and stored in the elevators, the prices offered being not considered satisfactory. It was thought at one time that the continuation of the Turko-Russian war would have a tendency to advance the price of cereals generally, but with the exception of wheat and corn there is no increase in price. In view of the tightness of the times many farmers are desirous of disposing of their grain, but there really is no market here as yet, as the prices have not yet been settled. Many influential papers advise the selling of grain now, but as the prices at present are low, holders prefer awaiting developments. Barley has not commenced to move on the other side and until it does we cannot look for higher figures than those at present offered. The quantity in store here just now is in the vicinity of 12,000 bushels, and this will, we think be largely added to before any sales are made. The only shipment from the Bay of Quinte District (already reported) were made from Napanee (two cargoes which were forwarded to Oswego). Prices must settle before long, and until they do it would be unsafe to give any advice in the premises.

Mitchell's Belladonna Improved India Rubber Porous Plaster.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

The principal ingredients used in making these Plasters are Gum Olibanum—or better known as the Frankincense of the Bible—Rubber and Burgundy Pitch; which, when scientifically compounded, is full of electricity and when combined with the pure medical gums, is found to be one of the greatest healing mediums ever brought before the human race.

They are acknowledged by all who have used them to act quicker than any other Plasters they ever before tried, and that one of these Plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other Plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

They possess all the soothing, warming, supporting and strengthening qualities of all other Plasters. Many who have been relieved of RHEUMATISM, TICDOLOREUX, and various other pains in the KIDNEYS, BREAST or SIDE, and believe it is solely done by the electrical qualities which the Porous Plasters contain, and which is imparted to the system, thus restoring them to a healthy condition.

They are very soft and pliable, still very adhesive; and a sure cure for WEAK BACKS PAINS IN THE SIDE and BREAST; and are invaluable to those who have a COLD of long standing, and often prevents CONSUMPTION. Some even tell us they believe they were entirely cured by the use of them of a long-seated Consumption.

PETTIT'S SALVE,

An Infallible Remedy for all Diseases of the Eye (acute or chronic), Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands Film, and Weakness of the Vision from any cause.

The American Eye-Salve is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also, for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain, and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe, and effectual remedy ever discovered. The materials of which it is made are pure, perfect, and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and, of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye-washes. Ringworm and Old Chronic Sores, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the American Eye-Salve. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate, and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of "Dr. J. Pettit's American Eye-Salve," while making new and improved machinery for making a more perfect box for the Eye-Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the Wrapper, Circulars, Advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.

THE FUTURE OF CANADA.

Canada has a longer memory for things that immediately concern her welfare, and her public men are continually talking of the future of the Dominion. Some of them are firm in their belief that the welfare of Canada will only be maintained by remaining an integral portion of the British Empire; but the shrewdest and most thoughtful of colonists see their country's reward in perfect freedom, or annexation to the United States. Still at the bottom of all thought and speculation as to the future there is a strong layer of old English sentiment. Outside the Province of Quebec the great pioneers of Canada, the English and the Scotch, look across the broad waters of the Atlantic and think of home. They feel proud of the flag which is not only to them a national symbol, but a link between the far-off settlement and the churchyard where their forefathers sleep beyond the sea. Year by year, however, this impulse of patriotism is being transferred to the adopted land, and unless the natural association and influence of her great neighbor sucks her up like a sponge, absorbs her as the larger flood absorbs the smaller, Canada must ere long govern herself entirely under her own flag, stimulated by the music of her own hymn, and made strong by those dangers and sacrifices which belong to the common growth of great and independent nations. There is something almost pathetic in Toronto's recent offer to England of a battery of artillery for service in the East, should we unfortunately find it necessary to engage in the war which is now exciting the ambition of certain European nations and agitating the whole world. If Europe were true to the faith that is in her, she would put down the barbarism of Russia and Turkey with a high hand. But each power has its own game to play, and it is convenient for the chief agressor to operate under the sacred name of Christianity, the first principles of which it outrages and blasphemes. Canada thinks she sees much trouble ahead for England, and she offers to the mother country her money and her blood. America has sufficient on her hands just now in the management of her already vast and growing population. Her ambition finds its outlook in the West. She never coveted Canada; and she would care less than ever at this moment to have such an additional resbonsibility thrust upon her as the great British colony would be. It is sufficient for the Government of Washington to consolidate the union; to weld together the factions of North and South; to work out the great problem of races which she has tried to solve on the field and in the Senate; and to bring into social, political, and commercial harmony the varied and contrary forces of that grand Republic which is a glory and a honor to an English speaking people of the world. Now is the time for Canada to emulate the example of America, warned by her mistakes, encouraged by her wisdom; or to lay in the foundations of her new life on the model of our English constitution, which combines republican freedom with monarchical strength and dignity. Let the Dominion take a king from the English princes, and join the great family of nations.—"Joseph Hatton in Tinsleys' Magazine."

ST. PETERSBURG AND MOSCOW

Between St. Petersburg and Moscow there exists an antagonism of long standing. Ever since its foundation St. Petersburg has striven to be a European city, and to adopt all the qroducts of west European civilization. Moscow, on the contrary, strives to be distinctively Russian, and affects to look down on her young rival as a half-caste parvenu Abandoend by the Imperial family and the heads of administration' she glories in her ancient monuments and her ancient spirit and boasts that she still holbs the place in the veneration and love of the Russian people. All Moscovites are more or less imbued with this Platonic hostility to the capital on the Neva, and love to reproach its inhabitants—the ministers and other official dignitaries not excepted—with gross ignorance of Russia and the true Russian character; but when they come to discusst he present and future of their country, they are dy no means unanimous.

—It is said that numbers of young men of good families are leaving Halifax, N.S., on account of the lack of employment there and intend to try farming. This is the most sensible movement that has been made in Canada for a long time, and, if more young men in cities would become farmers, and more farmers' sons remain at home the result upon the prosperity of the country would soon become apperent.

MANHOOD:
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and man in the land.

Hair Vigor

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

POND'S EXTRACT.
POND'S EXTRACT.

The People's Remedy.
The Universal Pain Extractor.
Note: Ask for Pond's Extract.
Take no other.

"Hear, for I will speak of excellent things."

POND'S EXTRACT—The great Vegetable Pain Destroyer. Has been in use over thirty years, and for cleanliness and prompt curative virtues cannot be excelled.

CHILDREN. No family can afford to be without Pond's Extract. Accidents, Bruises, Contusions, Cuts, Sprains are relieved almost instantly by external application. Promptly relieves pains of Burns, Scalds, Excoriations, Chafings, Old Sores, Boils, Felons, Corns, etc. Arrests inflammation, reduces swellings, stops bleeding, removes discoloration and heals rapidly.

LADIES find it their best friend. It assuages the pains to which they are peculiarly subject—notably fullness and pressure in the head, nausea, vertigo, &c. It promptly ameliorates and permanently heals all kinds of Inflammations and ulcerations.

HEMORRHOIDS or PILES find in this the only immediate relief and ultimate cure. No case however chronic or obstinate can long resist its regular use.

KIDNEY DISEASES. It has no equal for permanent cure.

BLEEDING from any cause. For this it is a specific. It has saved hundreds of lives when all other remedies failed to arrest bleeding from nose, stomach, lungs, and elsewhere

PHYSICIANS of all schools who are acquainted with Pond's Extract of Witch Hazel recommend it in their practice. We have letters of commendation from hundreds of Physicians, many of whom order it for use in their own practice. In addition to the foregoing, they order its use for Swellings of all kinds, Quinsy, Sore Throat, Inflamed Tonsils, simple and chronic Diarrhœa, Catarrh, (for which it is a specific), Chilblains, Frosted Feet, Stings of Insects, Mosquitoes, etc., Chapped Hands, Face and indeed all manner of skin diseases.

TOILET USE. Removes Soreness, Roughness and Smarting; heals Cuts, Eruptions, and Pimples. It revives, invigorates and refreshes, while wonderfully improving the Complexion.

TO FARMERS—Pond's Extract. No Stock Breeder, no Livery Man can afford to be without it. It is used by all the leading Livery Stables, Street Railroads and first Horsemen in New York City. It has no equal for Sprains, Harness or Saddle Chafings, Stiffness, Scratches, Swellings, Cuts, Lacerations, Bleedings, Pneumonia, Colic, Diarrhœa, Chills, Colds, &c. Its range of action is wide, and the relief it affords is so prompt that it is invaluable in every farm-yard as well as in every farm-house. Let it be tried once and you will never be without it.

CAUTION! Pond's Extract has been imitated. The genuine article has the words Pond's Extract blown in each bottle. It is prepared by the only persons living who ever knew how to prepare it properly. Refuse all other preparations of Witch Hazel. This is the only article used by Physicians, and in the hospitals of this country and Europe.

HISTORY and Uses of Pond's Extract, in pamphlet form sent free on application to POND'S EXTRACT COMPANY, 98 Maiden Lane, New York.

PUBLIC LIFE.

There are few things more injurious to a woman than the life of a hotel. It is a life without work, care, or responsibility, without privacy of seclusion—a life usually of idleness, dissipation, vanity, and constant excitement of one sort or another, and which, lived day by day and season by season, would be apt to demoralize a St. Veronica herself.

It is, of course, at first very pleasant. One has fine rooms, it may be; one is always more or less dressed; one has a great variety of choice at table; one hears all that goes on; one sees constantly moving scenes; one makes a thousand acquaintances, and receives attention from them all; if one's husband is absent, somebody else's husband is present; one sweeps through spacious parlors, and imagines one has nothing to do except to make engagements for pleasure, and feel that one is really in the world.

We have only to reflect a little on this in order to feel all the injurious effects of such a life upon the habits and character. The mere circumstance of having no responsibility is itself one of the most weakening things a person can undergo, and does more to bring about a state answering to second childhood than anything else in the world. Indeed, in private life, where too kind daughters relieve a mother of the housekeeping cares, we have seen the mother become old and infirm at a threefold speed compared with the rate at which previously she seemed to be advancing; and every body knows the result when men who have spent long lives in business at last abandon it.

The sense of responsibility with the exercise of care is something really necessary to the best development of our nature, a tonic and strengthening thing, which, if not always agreeable, is, in a not immoderate degree, always wholesome. To abandon responsibility is to allow certain faculties to wither, and by so much to impair one's integrity of constitution.

Just as injurious is the indolence which hotel life not only allows, but almost enforces; the dropping in this person's and that person's rooms, this person and that person dropping into yours, the necessity of calls upon those who have been properly introduced, the lingering at table, the morning gossip, the multifarious engagements that would never be made were one living at home—all these render work impossible. They render even fancy-work broken and poor, and interfere with the regularity of any charitable undertaking; and it would seem as if the brain, having nothing but pleasure and its opposite to exercise itself on, would needs shrivel in every other direction.

Moreover, the morning gossip of a hotel, while it may be merely a waste of time, may, on the other hand, be conversation not the healthiest in the world. It is almost impossible that the events of the house should not enter into discussion in it, and that personalities should not form a great part of it, while it is a matter of congratulation if scandal be kept out of it. This is, certainly, not always the case, but it is the tendency and the natural course of things unless when counteracted by more than ordinary force of character.

There is not, of course, any domestic life worth mentioning possible to families in a hotel; and while wives are relieved of all the responsibilities of domestic life, husbands are relieved of all the restraints. The desirability of dressing as well as the next woman, occasions a myriad of demands and exactions on the one side, that become annoying and wearying, and sometimes unbearable, on the other. The husband and the father, seen seldom but at meals, and then in the presence, if not in the full hearing, of others, runs great danger of being soon regarded only as a convenient vehicle for paying bills. Home is no place of sanctity to him, no permanent and peculiar shelter. It is everybody else's home, it is a caravansary, something he shares with a multitude of other men, and the wife and the family, dearly though he love them, lose what they hardly can regain in suffering themselves to be stripped of the sense of that sacredness and seclusion [illegible] is the ideal to most men of a home. [illegible] if any domestic life, one loses which [illegible] practicing those virtues Having little [illegible] the truth, the opportunity of p[illegible] and those graces, and, to te[illegible] those charms which have their practic[illegible] portunities in domestic life.

And if this is bad for father and mother, how infinitely worse it is for the children! children who need the privacy of four walls as much as a tender plant needs shielding from the too-fervent sun; children with whom every body takes liberties; who must be repressed here lest they disturb the house, and can not be corrected there for the same reason; whose natures are irredeemably hardened by the quick word spoken in the presence of others; with whom strangers amuse themselves recklessly; who receive a multitude of unwise indulgencies from those to whom they are the play of the passing hour, or who would by that means gain favor with the father or mother, and to whom no end of aventues of evil are open if left to nurses there while the mother pursues her pleasures. This danger to children is one reason why in England people of any social pretensions are very seldom to be found deigning to live, other than for very temporary purposes, at either boarding house or hotel.

But there is an evil as great as, or we may say, even greater than all the rest, in the fact that life in a hotel has been the fruitful source of many divorces. Meeting all sorts of people, of whom the only certificate required is ability to pay their hotel bill, the wife hears details that might never enter her private visiting circle, and and runs the risk of having her mind brought to a lower tone by familiarly with them. She reads novels, too, that she might never hear of in her own house; and left with nothing to do in this hot-bed and and forcing-house but to amuse herself, she accepts amusements from this and that gallant, sometimes innocently enough, but often sufficiently to attract remark that reaches the husband's ears, and occasions then expostulation, crimination, and recrimination, and sometimes till she passes the bounds of innocence, and the end is is soon reached. And even if nothing of such positive and flagrant nature intervenes, there is no place where indifference receives such a steady fostering and growth, and there is no place like this public one where a narrow difference may widen so easily in a deadly breach. The hasty or forgetful sentence spoken in the hearing of partial strangers is not easily forgiven; there is always a third party ready, who, if not entering into any dispute, yet by presence keeps up the spirit of either side, playing, however, unconsciously, the part of the wedge that forbids the separating portions to unite again, and there is a thousand fold less opportunity for endearments and all the gentle actions that make peace and keep it.

Hotels are a necessity of life to travellers, to those who wish to visit the city for a day or a month, for those who find it necessary to leave their house while it is in the hands of paperers and painters and plasterers, and to others who have need of such accommodations temporarily. But for family life they can not in their very nature be anything but totally unfit. They are calculated to make the best of husbands careless, since there are so many other things to take the place of his attentions; they will make the sweetest children refractory and subject to acquirement of bad habits; they will brush the bloom off the most delicate woman, and by such close contact with unknown numbers give her an air that would be brazen if she were less a lady. If she keep to herself, then she is sure to be held churlish; if she mingle freely, the effect is sure to be vulgarizing. Hotel life for a few days or weeks is very well, as completely changing the goals of life, and giving one a widening glimpse of the world; but for the year round, the simplest home that can be inclosed within walls, with all its responsibilities, with all its trouble of providing, with all its nuisance of servants, and labor without them, is better, safer and healthier.—Harper's Bazar.

The Daily Ontario.

FRIDAY EVENING, SEPT. 14.

A Cattle plague of very fatal consequences is reported from Cleveland and Sandusky. It appears to be a sort of Texan fever, introduced by some Texan cattle brought to those localities. Many of the animals attacked have died, and children, it is said, may be poisoned by drinking the infected milk.

Gambetta has been sentenced to three months imprisonment in France, for speaking his mind at a political meeting. It will be strange, indeed, if the reactionists, by this despotic judgment, do not provoke an outbreak. France needs another Revolution, and present appearances point strongly in that direction.

THE LINCOLN ELECTION CASE.

The people of Ontario will rejoice to know that the Lincoln election scrutiny has come to an end. By mutual consent several townships or polling districts were dropped from the list, and the case as it now stands, will be submitted for final judgment. The Ministerial candidate, Capt. Neelon, has a majority of twenty, not counting the stolen records, which would increase it to nearly double that number. There are also about forty cases reserved for the decision of the judges on the petitioners' side, and not more than twenty on the side of the respondent. It is, therefore, quite certain that Capt. Neelon will be declared elected by the Court. So far as Mr. Rykert is concerned, he is politically dead and buried, the corrupt acts of himself and agents having been judged some time ago. The expense attending this trial has been immense, but it will not be regretted when the result rids the Legislative halls of the Province of one of the greatest political mountebanks and frauds that ever existed. Mr. Charles Rykert has his conge, and it is to be hoped that he will have sense enough not to intrude himself upon public notice again.

AN EVIL OMEN.

Down at Quebec they have a tug-boat, named "John A. Macdonald," which is largely employed in bringing timber to that market. Her appearance at any time, and under any circumstances, is regarded as an omen of bad weather. Whenever she is seen approaching the city the sailors say: "We are going to have bad weather—here comes the 'John A. Macdonald'." No matter how tranquil the waters may be, or how favorable the general signs of the heavens, preparations are immediately made for a storm, and the result always justifies the precautions taken. As a contemporary remarks, this is a superstition shared in another sense by those interested in the welfare of the ship of state of the Dominion. With the veritable Sir John Macdonald at the helm, the safety of the gallant bark would be a matter of anxious hope.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

As the time is again approaching when the "free and independent" of each municipality will be fraternally interviewed by aspiring Aldermen and devoted Councillors, the attention of some of our exchanges is being turned in the direction of matters connected therewith. We observe that the London Advertiser is in favor of having the number of Aldermen in cities limited, and electing them from the whole city, instead of from wards as at present. This change, the Advertiser thinks, "would be an improvement, and would result in the breaking up of the wretched ward-jugglery and extravagance" that now generally prevail. So far as limiting the number of Aldermen is concerned, we have no doubt that the system would work advantageously to the interests of the city, as we have in our Municipal Parliament too many men whose presence contribute little if any benefit upon those most intimately concerned—the ratepayers. But the centralizing idea is open to objection. It is possible to elect the required number of good men from the open vote of the whole city, but scarcely probable. A few designing individuals could, under such a system of voting, more easily monopolize the power and patronage of the Council for the advantage of themselves and favorites. But township municipalities have satisfactory—why not cities? The Advertiser's suggestions are certainly worthy of consideration.

An exchange notices the fact that "the coming storm incidental to debating the question as to who shall get up and light the fire, has made its appearance, 'no larger than a man's hand,' upon the matrimonial horizon."

At a spiritual seance in Montreal, recently, Dr. Tupper received a note from one Sapphira, saying: Dear Tupper, if you had only lived 1800 years ago, I would never have married Ananias. The old man never did come up to my ideal of perfection in his line.

CONSERVATIVE POETRY.

Politicians are dropping into poetry as gracefully as if to the manor born. It furnishes variety, and though the efforts are not always up to the Tennysonian standard, they are more acceptble than the average pic-nic orations. At Napanee Sir John tried his prentice hand and scaled Parnassus a la Poe. Referring to Cauchon's connection with the Government, he struck a theatrical attitude and got off the following:

"And Cauchon, never flitting, still is sitting, still is sitting
Cheek-by-jowl by the Mackenzie, just within the Council door;
And his eye has all the seeming of a demon
that is dreaming,
And the gas-light o'er him streaming casts his shadow on the floor;
And Blake's soul beyond that shadow that is cast upon the floor
Shall be lifted, "Nevermore."

That's passable poetry, and should encourage Sir John to make another attempt at parodizing.

ABBREVIATONS.

Y. M. C. A. Convention.—The Y.M.C.A. Dominion Convention opened yesterday morning in the National School, Quebec. A number of prominent delegates were present.

Complimented.—Sir Hugh Allan has been highly complimented by the Canada Medical Association for the stand taken by him, with reference to Canadian surgeons practicing on board immigrant ships.

That new Daily.—The provisional directors for the publication of the new Irish Catholic daily newspaper are Captain Kirwin, M. P. Ryan and William Wilson. It still hangs fire.

A Split.—Private advices from Quebec confirm the report that the Local Government has split on the Montreal Shrievalty, for which Mr. Tom White was a candidate. It is further said that the treasury is empty, and the railway schemes are consequently jeopardized.

Horrors of War.—Writing of the battles at Shipka Pass the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" says: "Let this fact be noted—that all the Turks found killed had their throats cut, clearly showing that the men were wounded first and slaughtered afterward."

The Lucan Mystery.—The inquest upon the body of the man Regan, whose mysterious death in the Township of Lucan we have already mentioned, was resumed on Wednesday. The suspicions of foul play were strengthened, and the general relations of the family revealed. A verdict of wilful murder against Mr. Regan and her son Hogan was returned by the Coroner's jury.

Recovering.—The man who was lately shot in Beauce will probably recover, though his lower jaw is badly shattered by the bullet. The authorities of the district have received information which leads them to believe that the victom of the affair was waylad and fired at with the intention of taking his life in order to put him out of the way. He is the principal witness in a case pending against a defendant for illicit whiskey selling.

The Ottawa Fair.—A telegran from Ottawa says:—The attendance at our Central Show was very good. The weather is warm but threatening. To-day will close one of most successful local shows ever held in these parts. The floral display took everybody by surprise. The fruits and Vegetable were particularly good, making a wonderful progress within the last ten years of time. In stock there was not much, but that included some excellent beasts and swine. The horses were excellent.

GOSPEL TEMPERANCE MEETING.

The inaugural meeting of the Rine Temperance movement held in the Town Hall last evening, was, by far, the most successful temperance meeting ever held in the town.

The platform was occupied by a very efficient choir (under the leadership of Mr. W. Jones) Rev. Messrs. Cullen, Burton, Ross, Maclean, Harper, Hon. Bills Flint and Neil McArthur, Esq., besides the speaker of the evening, Mr. D. I. K. Rine.

After singing "All hail the power of Jesus' name," and the Rev. Mr. Maclean reading the 55th chapter of Isaiah, the meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Ross.

Then followed the hymn "Rescue the Perishing," which was very effectively rendered:

Rescue the perishing,
Care for the dying, [grave;
Snatch them, in pity, from sin and the
Weep o'er the erring one,
Lift up the fallen,
Tell them of Jesus, the mighty to save.

Chorus:—Rescue the perishing,
Care for the dying.
Jesus is merciful,
Jesus will save.

Though they are slighting him
Still he is waiting,
Waiting the penitent child to receive;
Plead with them earnestly,
Plead with them gently,
He will forgive if they only believe.

Rescue the perishing,
Duty demands it, [vide;
Strength for thy labor the Lord will pro-
Back to the narrow way
Patiently win them;
Tell the poor wanderer a Saviour has died.

The audience having heartily joined in with the choir in rendering the above beautiful hymn, the Chairman, Mr. McArthur, of the Workingmen's Temperance Association, called on the Rev. Mr. Rose, who, on behalf of the Christian and temperance people of the town, extended a hearty welcome to Mr. Rine.

Mr. Rine, on rising, said he was sure it afforded him as much pleasure to visit Belleville as it did those present. He was afraid that too high an estimate had been placed on his abilities. He hoped to find here a mutual spirit of co-operation, for the work could not be accomplished by one. It is that man or that woman going out for his or her companion and with loving words to tell them they have a chance to be saved. The love next to God's is in the heart of a mother.

Here the lecturer described the discharged son who had so long been patiently dealt with by his father, at last turned out into the world—but followed by his Mother's prayers is ultimately by the grace of God, rescued. It is utterly impossible to give any idea of the very forcible address delivered by Mr. Rine, sometimes moving the audience to tears and the next to hearty laughter.

After referring to the Francis Murphy movement in the United States, he very touchingly and at considerable length gave a history of his own experience and reformation.

He said he signed the pledge on the 22d of last December and gave his first address to an audience of "real live bummers" He had seen the dark side of the prison bars and had often walked up and down in his cell crying, "No man careth for my soul." He would to God that five years of his life—a dark chasm, could be blotted out. He made this open confession because "The Blessed Word" says, "If we confess our sins he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness."

He closed with remarks on the pledge which he requested all to sign, "With malice toward none and charity for all, I hereby do pledge my word and honor, to abstain from all intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and that I will by all honorable means encourage others to abstain."

GOD HELPING ME,

Hon. Bills Flint was the first to sign, and was followed by two hundred and four others.

During the time occupied in signing by so many, the choir and audience very heartily united in singing

"Hold the fort for I am coming,
Jesus signals still;
Wave the answer back to heaven
By thy grace we will.

The meeting then closed.

It is earnestly hoped that all Christians will now come out and take a decided stand, and by their presence and prayers aid Mr. Rine in the grandest of all works, "rescuing the perishing." Let there be an overflowing house to-night.

A MOTHER'S GRIEVANCE.

Mr. Editor, Sir,—In the absence of my husband permit me through your paper to address a certain Captain of the 15... Battalion, who promised me last week on the honor of a Soldier and a Gentleman not to accept my boy in his ranks.

Now this morning he (scarcely 16 years) is marched off to camp in a red coat large enough for a six footer.

Instead of his school-books and exercises he has to sholder a gun and drill under the vociferations of our poultry yard Heroes. Would not our queenly mother's heart ache, and her noble face blush to see our children drawn from parental authority, and instead of home duties exposed to all sorts of vice.

No wonder that Her Majesty on the Throne with the Holy Bible in her hand said that Britain's success and greatness did not depend on such.

A Mother.

POSTPONED.

Owing to the many demands upon the time of the Premier and his colleagues it has been decided to postpone until next season the Reform demonstration at Oxford. The Reformers of the county will, however, have an opportunity of attending the political gatherings to be held next week at Galt and Simcoe, for which, as well as for the picnics at Orangeville on the 18th, and at Aylmer on the 22nd, extensive preparations are in progress. The Reformers in Essex are also waking up, and it is proposed to hold one or more meetings in that county, at which Messrs. Mills and Pelletier will be invited to deliver addresses. The Windsor Reformers have organized a local association, as well as a Young Men's Liberal Association.

A THIEF'S CAVERN.

For some time past the people of Berlin have been troubled with petty thieving and last week a number of young men formed themselves into a patrol to detect the thief. They discovered the culprit to be a German of not over sound mind, who astonished his captors with the information that he had constructed a veritable hermit's cave in the woods, where he had taken up his residence some months ago. The cave has been visited by hundreds, and is a genuine curiosity, reflecting no small amount of credit on the fellow's ingenuity, the entrance to it being cleverly covered so that a person could walk directly over it and not discover anything. Among the hundreds of miscellaneous articles which he had stowed away were several kegs of lager beer.

—Branch of the Sisterhood of the Holy Cross established in Montreal.

—Some forty office holders resigned their membership in various New York political organizations last Monday night.

—In a hotel in New Hampshire the mother-in-law of the proprietor was burned to death, which is exceedingly suspicious.

OTHERS.—The Annie Cuthbert and the Mocking Bird of Hamilton are entered for Monday's regatta.

THE INSTITUTE.—The Institute for the Deaf & Dumb opened yesterday, with an attendance of 182 pupils.

E.I.T.B.

THE HEAT.—The thermometer according to Prof. Dawson's record, at noon today stood at 87°. And yet "twas in the mild September."

COMING.—The Hamilton Times says the Annie Cuthbert is coming to Belleville to take part in Monday's regatta, and was to leave that city last night for here.

POOLS.—Pools on the yacht races which are to take place on Monday next, will be sold on Saturday evening. You pays your money and you takes your choice.

THE KINGSTON REGATTA.—The race for second-class boats at Kingston yesterday was won by the Victorine of Alexandria Bay ; the Zitella was second.

INSPECTING.—Sir Henry Tylor and suite spent two hours here on Wednesday in examining the situation and appurtenances of the G. T. R. here.

PROVIDENTIAL.—Wm. Conners of Oak Hill yesterday, whilst riding a horse from water, was thrown from his back, the horse turning a complete somersault. The boy is expected to recover.

FIRST SHIPMENT.—The first shipment of grain from this port this season was made to-day per steamer Oswego Belle. It consisted of 1,500 bushels of rye in bags, which will be forwarded to Albany.

JUST SO.—Now is the time when the tramp roosts in the barns at night, and soon we shall hear of cases of cremation resulting from his persistent smoking in the hay mow.

MEETING.—A meeting of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club takes place this evening at Hambly's at eight o'clock for the purpose of making the final arrangements for Monday's regatta.

HOME.—The Palladium says the yacht Ida of Rochester arrived home on Tuesday after a cruise of 500 miles. The crew speak in glowing terms of their treatment at the hands of the Belleville boys.

RAN AGROUND.—Whilst cruising in Big Bay yesterday the Resolute ran aground on Ship Island below Mississaga Point. After her crew had spent a great deal of time in their efforts to get her off, they were eventually successful.

YACHTING.—No Trenton or Belleville boats competed in the regatta at Kingston yesterday.—The Madcap is being fitted out at the new ferry slip, whilst the work of lengthening the Katie Gray is being pushed forward rapidly in the same vicinity.

PERSONAL.—The Palladium of Wednesday furnishes the following :—Mr. White, manager of the Montreal Bank, Belleville, and Mr. Wilkie, manager for Ross & Co., lumber dealers, at Quebec, with their wives, came over on the Bell last night.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Mr. James Brown, M. P., narrowly escaped drowning on Wednesday night by accidentally stepping into a cistern which had been left open at his residence. Being a good swimmer, he kept himself afloat until he was rescued by persons who heard his cries for assistance.

THE RIFLE.—Sergeant Hilton of the 49th won the eight prize in the All-Comers Match at Kingston, the tenth in the Association Match and the thirteenth in the fourth match. Lieut. Johnson won a prize in the Association Match as did also private Dammage.

AGROUND.—In taking on a light cargo of grain the Oswego Belle got a ground at her dock this morning. Had no dredging been done this year she would not have been able to near the elevator ; as it was, a strong line was parted in pulling her off.

CRICKET NOTE.—In speaking of the recent game between the Oswego and Picton clubs, the Palladium pays a high tribute to Messrs. Vanpatten and Sargent who, it says, bowled excellently. The Times says. —The game throughout on the part of the home club was the most uninteresting ever played in this city.

LOOSE PLANKS.—Would it not be well for the Superintendent of Streets to order the making fast of all loose planks in the streets of the town before the cold weather sets in. In a number of places the side walks are in a very defective state and should be at once remedied.

ANNUAL FAIR.—The Hallowell Agricultural Show will be held in Bloomfield on Saturday October 6th.

ON DIT.—"Rumor says a prominent citizen of our town was offered the Mormon presidency." So says the Picton New Nation.—Trot him out. Who is he?

LADIES' FOOT RACE.—The Picton Gazette says:—A new feature in races was introduced at Roblin's Mills, Sophiasburg, on Saturday last. 10 ladies ran a foot race, a distance of 50 yards, for a prize of $1 50 to first; 50c. to second; and 25c. to third. The occasion was a picnic from Mill Point, and the contestants were from that locality.

TRAIN LATE.—After the express train (due here at 6:50 a.m.) had left Earnestown this morning, the engine broke away from the train and ran four miles before the "departure" was discovered. When that became known the engine of course put back, but this necessitated a delay of an hour and a half which accounts for the lateness of the train this morning. Thus it will be seen that the G. J. R. has its trials as well as other roads.

ARRESTED.—Yesterday's "Mail" says:—Peter Fee, one of the parties committed for trial on a charge of assaulting Constable Robinson, and who was admitted to bail, failed to attend the Court of Sessions yesterday, Consequently a bench warrant was issued for his arrest and he was lodged in No. 1 station. Feeit will be remembered, was arrested here and taken to Toronto by one of that city's officers.

CORNER STONE.—A despatch from Mill Point says : The corner stone of the M.E. Church in course of erection here was laid yesterday with Masonic honors. After the ceremony the crowd assembled at Donoghue's Hall, where dinner was served after which speeches were made. The dinner realized about $159. A subscription was also taken up, which amounted to about $50. The church when finished will cost about $1,200.

THAT CHALLENGE.—Mr. Landy has received a postal card from Kingston which reads as follows : "Your challenge has been accepted. See Whig of 11th inst. Come to time, old boy." As no name accompanies this and Mr. Landy did not see the Whig of the above date, owing to his absence from town, he does not know what time to come to. Who is the writer? Mr. Kelly? If so, there need be no difficulty in arranging a match. Mr. Landy is ready to come to time whenever the challenged party names it.

LEGAL.—The following case came up in the Court of Chancery in Toronto on Tuesday : —BELLEVILLE v. CRONK.—"Maclennan," on behalf of the plaintiff, speaks to the question reserved by the judgment whether or not the "locus in quo" in this was the subject of a previous conviction. "Cattanach" and "Creelman" for the defendant, "Cattanach" asks that there be a reference to enquire as to damages sustained by the defendant by reason of the issue of the injunction. This is not allowed.

AN OLD FIRE SCREEN.—The following piece of information is furnished the Campbellford Herald:—Mr. H. J. Saunders, of this village, has in his possession a relic of by-gone days in the shape of a fire-screen, which bears date of 1708, nearly 170 years old. It is circular in shape, like a fan is composed of 180 pieces, each piece being oval shaped and covered with silk of as many different shades of color. Worked with silk thread, in the centre are the letters "R. B;" and held by the handle as fans are held to-day, it served as protection to the face from the heat of the fire in the old-fashioned fire-places, around which ladies sat.

THE OPERA HOUSE.—Joseph Murphy and his talented company produced Maum Cre in the Opera House last evening before a large audience. As on the preceding evening, the play was put on the stage in an excellent manner and was acted in a correspondingly appreciable degree. Mr. Murphy again evidenced the possession of dramatic ability of a very high order and filled the leading part in an excellent manner. Miss Tiffany's acting was first-class as was also that of Miss Mortimer who invested the character assigned her with a spirit and manner thoroughly characteristic of a first class artist. The other characters were well sustained and their rendition gave entire satisfaction to those present who testified their appreciation of the play by liberal and repeated applause.

AMERICAN NEWS

MISCELLANEOUS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—Priest Mooney died last evening from being thrown from a carriage.

At an interview with Morton yesterday the Pres't was visibly affected. Morton said that for the first time since his illness he believed he was on the way to recovery. "I now expect, Mr. Pres't," he said, "to take a seat in Congress in December next, and to warmly and earnestly support you in your administration." This cordial and earnest announcement of the Senator's confidence in, and his support of the President greatly affected the President, who replied that he in his travels and observations had found indications of a hopeful nature, both for a revival of business and a more complete fraternization of two great sections and classes in the country.

Gen. Butler also had a brief interview with Morton.

A Burlington, Iowa, despatch states that Mayor Parsons has suddenly resigned and left the city. It is stated there is a heavy deficit in school money, of which he was custodian, and he is charged with being a defaulter to the Merchants' National Bank of fifty thousand dollars. EUROPEAN NEWS

Besieging the Turks.

Russian Successes Contradicted.

THE CREEDMOOR MATCH

LONDON, Sept. 14.—The News' correspondent at Russian head-quarters, Wednesday a. m. says the Emperor and Grand Duke Nicholas were on the battle field until 9 o'clock last night. The Emperor returned to head quarters. Poredia, the late battle field of the last 5 days, is silent this morning. There is talk of submitting the Turkish position to a regular siege and sapping the redoubts while a close blockade is instituted with the intent to starve Osman Pasha's forces. The villages enclosed within Osman's lines are full of supplies and fields of grain with heavy crops of maize. Losses are spoken of here as about 5,000 to 6,000, but no details. The Emperor has this morning gone back to the battle field.

SHUMLA, Sept. 11.—Mehemet Ali's central column is still at Kazelevo. Ali himself has gone towards Eski Juma and may be working west-ward to compel the Russians to abandon Tirnova and the Balkans.

The Constantinople war office has a telegram from Suleiman Pasha, 10th, reporting the previous day a reconnoitring party from Shipka pushed through the Balkans to the rear of the Russian position, and captured a village 10 miles from Gabrova.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 14.—Reassuring despatches received from Osman Pasha.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—A Paris despatch says Gambetta by taking advantage of all his technical rights can prevent the judgment against him from anything definite until after the confirmation of his election as deputy, which would protect him from prison.

CREEDMOOR, Sept. 14.—First five shots: Americans, 191 ; British, 183.

The following is a turkish official despatch : Shumla Sept. 13.—Baker Pasha advancing north-west from Gornasoundier yesterday encountered four Battalions of Russian infantry, supported by cavalry near Karaghatch aided by a Circassian detachment. Baker attacked the enemy who, reinforced by five infantry battalions, repulsed the Turks.

Later,—The Turks received cavalry and infantry reinforcements and so compelled the enemy to retreat with heavy loss.

Mitchell's Belladonna Improved India Rubber Porous Plaster.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

The principal ingredients used in making these Plasters are Gum Olibanum—or better known as the Frankincense of the Bible—Rubber and Burgundy Pitch; which, when scientifically compounded, is full of electricity and when combined with the pure medical gums, is found to be one of the greatest healing mediums ever brought before the human race.

They are acknowledged by all who have used them to act quicker than any other Plasters they ever before tried, and that one of these Plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other Plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

They possess all the soothing, warming, supporting and strengthening qualities of all other Plasters. Many who have been relieved of RHEUMATISM, TICDOLOREUX, and various other pains in the KIDNEYS, BREAST or SIDE, and believe it is solely done by the electrical qualities which the Porous Plasters contain, and which is imparted to the system, thus restoring them to a healthy condition.

They are very soft and pliable, still very adhesive; and a sure cure for WEAK BACKS PAINS IN THE SIDE and BREAST; and are invaluable to those who have a COLD of long standing, and often prevents CONSUMPTION. Some even tell us they believe they were entirely cured by the use of them of a long-seated Consumption.

Prepared by GEORGE E. MITCHELL, Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

PETTIT'S SALVE,

An Infallible Remedy for all Diseases of the Eye (acute or chronic), Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands Film, and Weakness of the Vision from any cause.

THE AMERICAN EYE-SALVE is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also, for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain, and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe, and effectual remedy ever discovered. The materials of which it is made are pure, perfect, and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and, of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye-washes. RINGWORM and OLD CHRONIC SORES, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the AMERICAN EYE-SALVE. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate, and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of "DR. J. PETTIT'S AMERICAN EYE-SALVE," while making new and improved machinery for making a more perfect box for the Eye Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the Wrapper, Circulars, Advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.

THE FIGURE 7.

SOME CURIOUS OBSERVATIONS ON IT.

It appears that the figure 7 is the most remarkable figure of the ten. Even from the commencement of the world and up to the present time during the period of 7's the greatest events have occurred. Great statesmen and men of notoriety have been born and passed away, nations have risen, emperors have fallen, states have run their whole course of existence during the period. After the world was created God rested on the 7th day. According to the ancient teaching of Hypocrates a child receives its first teeth in the 7th month and charges them in the 7th year. Noah when he had built the ark waited 7 days upon the flood, and he took with him 7 persons, and of all clean animals 7 pair; the second dove flew from the ark on the 7th day, and in 7 more days Noah opened the ark; on the twentieth and 7th day the ark rested on Mount Ararat, and in the second month on the twentieth and 7th day the earth was dry; of the ten commandments Moses received, 7 were to God's humanity; Laban pursued Jacob 7 days; Jacob served 7 years for Rachel, his wife: Joseph mourned 7 days for Jacob; Pharaoh in his dreams saw 7 years of abundance and seven years of starvation. We see further that the Israelites were ordered to hold a feast in the 7th month for 7 days; the 7 times 7th year was jubilee, which is as yet a law among the Romans; in the 7th year the laws of Israel were read to its people; God threatened to punish them 7 times, and according to their laws a man must forgive his brother 7 times, but Christ says 7 times 7. At the destruction of Jerico 7 preists carried 7 trumpets for 7 days, and went 7 days around the wall, and the 7th day 7 times. Job's friends were 7 days and 7 nights consoling him. It is written in the old laws that 7 men were strangled in one night. Tobias held a wedding feast for 7 days. King Ahashuerus held a feast for 7 days, and on the 7th day he sent for the queen, and she came in the 7th year of her reign. Naaman washed 7 times in the waters of Jordan. Solomon built 7 years at the temple, burnt 7 lights upon the altar, and held a feast for 7 days. Elisha sent his servant seven times to look upon the cloud. Nebuchadnezzar ate grass for seven years. We are taught that Christ was 7 hours on the cross, and appeared 7 times after His resurrection, and in 7 times 7 days after His resurrection He ascended into Heaven and sent the Holy Ghost with His 7 holy gifts.

MORAL—DON'T JOKE WITH YOUR WIFE.

From the Fort Worth [Texas] Democrat.

Marshal Courtright, of this town, thought of joking his wife. Arriving at home at a late hour he entered the front gate, carefully closed it. Cautiously groping his way thither, what was his surprise to see the right hand of his wife lying on the sill of the window. On her fingers she had two gold rings, one of which he proceeded to take off It being rather loose he experienced but little trouble, and succeeded in the operation without waking her up, The remaining ring was a much tighter fit, and, in his efforts to extricate it, his wife awoke, finding her hand grasped from without by some one whom she at once concluded was a robber. Quickly pulling her hand away, she was about to scream, but thinking of a convenient six shooter, under her pillow she again placed her "jewelled hand" on the sill, which was grasped by the supposed burglar; and with the other she quickly reached for the pistol, and, rising suddenly, brought it to bear on her husband; but for his presence of mind in quikly calling her, she would have shot him dead. Mrs. Courtright displayed great presence of mind, fortitude and courage, and the Marshal should be proud of possessing a wife so fearless and brave. His narrow escape has completely cured him of any further desire to play the role of a midnight robber.

MANHOOD:
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply privately and radically.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

TO THE RIGHT BE TRUE.

Mid life's conflict, do your duty,
Let thy heart be light and free;
Wisdom's path is one of beauty,
Tread it then with joyous glee,
Though thy foes do hard oppress thee,
Taunting the with words of hate,
Great is the reward that waits thee
At the bright and golden gate.

He who would in life's hard battle
Strive to earn an hero's name,
Must amid the death-sho't rattle
Fearlessly Right's cause proclaim;
Cheer on comrades, weary, fainting,
Onward toward the destined goal;
In proud colors bravely painting
Deeds of an undaunted soul,

There are scorners, scoffers ever
Hov'ring 'round the path you tread,
Ready to each dear tie sever,
Showing forth a hydra head;
Yet with brave determined spirit,
And with sword of honor bright,
The true manliness you inherit
They appalled will shrink from sight.

Let not fear cause thee to falter;
If a man, why, be a man;
Never once thy true cause alter,
Nobly onward lead the van;
In the future lies the token
That shall crown the victor's brow;
Gems of love, for lances broken,
For fulfilled unbroken vow.

Heaven will shield the brave defender
Of the right 'gainst wrong and sin;
He who acts as a contender
Gainst the many foes within.
Then as onward thou'rt pressing
With a soul to dare and do,
If thou would'st expect a blessing,
Ever to the right be true.

WE CAN MAKE HOME HAPPY,

Though we may not change the cottage
For a mansion tall and grand,
Or exchange a little grass plot
For a boundless stretch of land—
Yet there's something brighter, dearer,
Than the wealth we'd thus command,

Though we have no means to purchase
Costly pictures rich and rare,
Though we have no silken hangings
For the walls so cold and bare—
We can hang them o'er with garlands,
For flowers bloom everywhere.

We can always make home cheerful,
If the right course we begin;
We can make its inmates happy,
And their truest blessing win;
It will make the small room brighter,
It will let the sunshine in.

We can gather round the fireside
When the evening hours are long;
We can blend our hearts and voices
In a happy, social song;
We can guide some erring brother,
Lead him from the path of wrong.

And with sunshine brimming o'er,
If against all dark intruders
We will firmly close the door—
Yet, should evil shadow enter,
We must love each other more.

There are treasures for the lowly
Which the grandest fail to find;
There is a chain of sweet affection
Binding friends of kindred mind—
We may reap the choicest blessings
From the poorest lot assigned,

[From Harpers Bazar.]

It 's doubtful if Mr. Ben. Bates would defend strikes, or if he were interested in the pros and cons of such questions; but all the same, he blessed his stars that a strike occurred on the Grand Light and Left Railway on a certain day; that the employees felt imperative need of an increase of wages; that the managers didn't see it; and so, whether or no the end justified the means, it none the less conspired to promote his happiness. It was the afternoon train out of Hamburg, advertised to reach Nova Zembla at 6:45. Mr. Bates, being somewhat of a stranger in the State, drawn to Nova Zembla by rumors of oil wells and fortunes bubbling out of the earth, was naturally ignorant that the strikers had publicly given warning that they should leave their trains at 4 o'clock p. m., until he overheard a gentleman, leaving the train at a way-station, say to his friend.

"You had better not attempt to go home to-night, but put up with us; the engineers strike at 4 p. m., you know."

"Strike!" echoed the typical old lady with the traditional bandboxes and bundles to look after. "I'd like to know who they are going to strike. Two can play at that game, I reckon. What are they going to strike for?"

"For higher wages, marm. If you calculated to go beyond Little Bassett, you'll have to walk the balance," volunteered a passenger.

"Me walk!" Haven't I paid my fare through? Walk, indeed! I'll have the law of 'em first."

"But this train won't go through to-night."

"None of your quizzing, young saucebox! Haven't I been over this 'ere road every year since my hair took to falling off, to buy a new wig, dating from the time Eben put the Gabrielle front to the old house? And I've never knowed them not to get to Nova Zembla when they'd ought-er—"

But just then the train stopped, and so did the old lady. It was four o'clock exactly.

"We're not expected to put up in an oil well?"

"You might fare worse. There is the Traveller's Haven, but the landlord he had it carted off to bore for oil in the old cellar; it's on wheels yet, a piece up the lain there. Maybe they'd take you in; I dunno."

Mr. Bates strolled up the pretty lane and into the Traveller's Haven—which had, perhaps, caught the spirit of gadding from its guests—and interrupted a slovenly woman in the act of scolding.

"Didn't I tell you, miss, I'd cuff the ears off your head if you cracked another dish? Eh? How are you going to pay for it? Who do you suppose'd put up with your goings on if I was to turn you adrift? Nobody in Little Bassett would give you house-room for a week."

"I am so sorry," was the soft answer. "I'll be more careful again."

"And high time, too,—you that I snatched out of the almshouse, so to speak, and did for ever since you was four. What would you have been but for me? And a pretty return you make, a-breaking all the crockery helter-kelter! O—h! Good-day, Sir, Lodgings?" with a decided change of tone. "Rosy dear, s'at yourself, and get the gentleman a room ready; and you wring the neck of a cropple-crown hen while you're about it. I dare say he's hungry."

"Yes," said Rosy, lifting a pair of appealing eyes to the stranger's.

"No, no," cried Ben heroically, "don't kill anything for me. Tea and toast is a supper for a king." It pained him to add another straw to the burdens this dejected girl was already carrying—this girl in the garments and position of a menial, yet who bore herself like one of gentle blood."

"You see," apologized Mr. Cramm, the landlord, when he came in, "we ain't had time to settle, owing to the ile well. Tavern-keeping don't pay in Little Bassett, but ile does. Maybe you was thinking of buying eh?"

"Maybe you were guided here by Providence."

"Perhaps so," said Ben.

"Pity you hadn't been round a month ago, afore Deacon Davis parted with his place, He got down-hearted, and sold out for a good figger; but it turned out the article handsomely afterwards, and the deacon's that mad he could jump into a bramble bush. But, sometimes you see, it's all a poor fellow can do, to sell out when he ain't got capital to work it. The destruction of the poor is their poverty, so the Scriptur tells us."

"Yes!" said Ben, his eyes following Rosy on her way from the milking shed with two foaming pails.

Ben could hardly have told why he stayed on in Little Bassett from day to day; whether the neighborhood of such oil as must have burned in Aladdin's wonderful lamp or the subtle persuasions of Landlord Cramm kept him spell-bound in the rustil village, with its pretty river trickling to the sea, and its background of spicy woods, where the tinkle of cowbells seemed like music blown from fairy land. At least he did not put the question to himself. He had been making a tour of the different oil wells one afternoon, and coming home through the Bassett woods, he fell in with Rosy.

"After flowers?" asked Ben. "Isn't it growing dark? Hadn't you better turn back with me?"

"I must find Jetty first," replied Rosy.

"And who may Jetty be?"

"Jetty is the cow; she strays away and gets lost in the woods. Last year I could not find her till after nine one night."

"And you were here alone at that hour?"

"It was bright moonlight."

"And supposing there had been no moon?"

"I must have stayed until I found her, moon or no moon. Hark! did I hear her bell?"

"Perhaps we may find her sooner together. May I go with you?"

"Yes, I suppose you may." They strolled on, the young moon casting wierd shadows and peopling the wood with fantastical shapes; and sometimes they forgot why they were there, and sometimes a frightened bird brushed the dew from the tangle, or the faint melody of a bell stirred the silence and quickened their steps. It was after eight when they drove old Jetty home, and Ben had been surprised more than once by the speech that fell from Rosy's pretty lips. She knew the old poets, whom young ladies of the period disdain to cultivate. She was at home with

Scott, and familiar with the tenets of the elder theologians.

"You told me that you had never been to school," said Ben, "but somebody has taught you. There is no royal road to knowledge."

"Yes; Parson Psalter's wife taught me to read and write, and she gave me little presents for learning verses by heart. She used to borrow me of Mrs. Cramm to read to her when her dear old eyes failed. Yes, and when she died she left me all her books."

Ben was more than ever interested in the subject of oil as the days went by. He listened to the enthusiastic raptures of all Little Bassett, and was persuaded that this was the tide which leads on to fortune. So he stayed on and, learning the minutiae of this method of coining money, helping Rosy carry her brimming pails to the dairy, or bring the butter—for Mrs. Cramm was not one to allow milk to sour on her hands, whatever the prospect the oil well afforded. Ben had inherited a certain sum of money from a distant cousin, who, with his child, had disappeared from the sight of men years ago; now he informed Mr. Cramm he wished to invest in oil.

"I'll tell you what I'll do by yo," said that disinterested soul. "I've took a mighty liking to you, and so has Miss Cramm. There's my well. I'm a thundering poor man, Mr. Bates, and I'm working it at a disadvantage. I'm awfully in debt to tell the truth. I'm mortgaged up to my chin and I don't hev no peace for fear of a keeper in the house, and a-being brought to disgrace afore my neighbors—and these women folks to look after. Now mark my word, somebody's got to make a fortune out of that ere well, and I'd rather it'd be you, Mr. Bates, than anybody, as it won't be Jim Cramm; if you've got the means, you couldn't do better than to take this 'ere elephant off my hands."

"Thanks," said Ben. "I'll think about it." Whereupon the merits of the Cramm Well were so adroitly celebrated that Ben began not only to think but to talkabout it.

One evening a week later, when Ben went to his room, a folded slip of paper under his candlestick attracted his attention. Thinking it might be a delicate fashion of Landlord Cramm to present his bills in this way, he opened and read,

"Mr. Bates,—Do not buy the 'Cramm Well.' You will be sorry if you do.

"A Kind Friend."

Mr. Bates smiled broadly. He would show it to Mr. Cramm at breakfast, and have a laugh over the device of some rival striker; but morning brought wiser counsel. Was it not a woman's hand? Perhaps Rosy's,; and if so, might it not deserve attention? When he went forth to smoke, after breakfast, he encountered Rosy in the garden patch, picking peas for dinner.

"Ah, here is my 'kind friend,'" he hazarded, holding out his hand. Rosy started and blushed. "How came you to send me that warning, Rosy?" he pursued. "What do you know about the Cramm Well?"

"I?" she asked, with ill-feigned surprise. "What made you think I sent it?"

"Did you not?"

Rosy hung her head, and tears filled her eyes.

"Was it very wicked in me?" she asked. "I could not bear you should be beggared by them. You are the only one who has been kind to me since dear Mrs. Psalter died. What could I do? At least you won't waste your money for draught."

"But what evil do you know of the Cramm Well? Why should I not purchase?"

"Oh, you see, Mr. Bates, when they found it a mistake, a false strike, why—they—they doctored it! They brought oil on the sly, and brought the pump with it, don't you see? I heard them talking of it between themselves after I was in bed at night: it was Mrs. Cramm's idea; the walls are thin, and I couldn't sleep I was so tired. If you buy, they mean to pack off before you can find out that the wells a humbug. And I thought, maybe, you had nothing but the money you would put into it, and couldn't stand by and see you swindled, and not say a word."

"I thank; but, my dear girl, the warning comes too late. I have already bought the Cramm Well."

"But you will make them take it back? You will go to law about it?"

"I think not." Mr. Bates was in a quandary. If he took the law in his hands, Rosy would be called upon for testimony, and would not the fact that she had preferred the interest of a stranger to that of her adopted parents tell against this simple child, even though she had acted rightly in the matter? Furthemore, would it not cast her adrift upon the world, and was he prepared to offer her a local habitation and a name?

"I hope you'll get rich as mud," said Mistress Cramm, on the following day, "and remember them as set you on the road to fortune, Mr. Bates. Jim and me thinks of trying Californy for my asthmy.

"Will your daughter go with you?" Ben asked.

"Rosy!" She ain't no daughter of mine, though, land knows, I've been a mother to her. You see, it's nigh fifteen years ago since a gentleman put up to the Traveller's Haven with a little gal about four. He had no baggage to mention, had lost his trunk on the road, but guessed it would turn up. He was a proper, nice-looking man, with eye-glasses like yours, Mr. Bates; and it appears he got up early and went out, and whether he went into the river for a bath or a purpose nobody knew; but there he was drowned, and the little gal that couldn't tell nothing but that her name was Rosy, left on our hands without a change to her back. Nobody could find out who they was; there wasn't no clew amongst their things, and no marks on their clothes; and so we've had to do for her ever since, and there's no end to what she owes us."

"Fifteen year ago this blessed month. Sim he pawned the gentleman's watch to buy Rosy clothes: but there was an old sort of seal on the chain. Maybe you'd like to see it?"

"I should like to borrow it for a while," said Ben, after examining it closely.

"You may have it for a trifle, if you've took a fancy to it. We've spent enough on Rosy to buy a dozen such."

"I'll give you your price," said Ben; and just then Jim Cramm was brought in with a broken leg—and they didn't go to California for Mrs. Jim's asthma.

It is a year since these events occurred. Retribution has overtaken Mr. and Mrs. Cramm.

"I want to tell you a story," Ben said to Rosy the other day. "I once had a distant cousin who disappeared mysteriously with his little daughter after having started upon a journey. He was advertised for by his distant relatives, and sought for in vain. The child was four years old at the time. Her name was Rosy. She had blue eyes and auburn hair like yours. By the supposed death of these two I came into possession of a certain sum of money, which, having accumulated during my minority, enabled me to buy the Cramm Well, as you know. Contrary to our expectations, yours and mine, Rosy, the well has netted its owner a fortune, since it was not a false strike, as Mr. Cramm supposed. But I find I am not the owner."

"You not the owner!" cried Rosy, "Then who is?"

"You, Rosy; you are the owner of the Cramm Well."

"I? What do you mean? I the owner of the well?"

"You have heard the story of your introduction at the Traveller's Haven and your father's tragic end? The seal upon his chain was of curious workmanship. Mrs. Cramm had preserved it, and when she allowed me to take it I carried it to my father, and the missing link was supplied. It proved the fac-similie of one he had given my cousin, even to the monogram J. B.—John Bates. Is it not plain that your father and my cousin are one, and that the Cramm Well belongs to you, his daughter, Rosy?"

"I suppose it must be true, if you think so," said Rosy, but you must let me divide with you; you must keep the well."

"On one condition, Rosy, that you give yourself with it."

The Daily Ontario.

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 15.

THE DEMONSTRATION.

A letter from the Premier's private Secretary states that, owing to previous engagements, Mr. Mackenzie cannot appoint a day when he would be at liberty to visit Belleville. In view, also, of the lateness of the season he suggests that the proposed Reform demonstration be postponed until next season, when himself and colleagues would be able to attend, and a greater degree of success assured. Mr. Clute, the local Secretary, has written for definite information on the subject, which, when received, he will furnish us for publication.

The rumor that Reformers of Lennox and Addington purpose holding a demonstration at Napanee this fall can scarcely be reliable. Mr. Mackenzie and his colleagues have now more engagements on hand than they can conveniently fulfil this season.

We observe that the Canadian Medical Association suggest that committees be formed over the country, and the Dominion Government petitioned to open a central bureau at the Capital for the purpose of having all births, sickness and deaths registered, which, the doctors think, would prove a great aid in combatting diseases.

A Roman Catholic priest has bee arrested at Chicago for throwing two Bibles from a car window on the Illinois Central Railway, which were placed in the racks by religious societies. His defence was that the fly leaves of the books were so disfigured with obscene sketches as to render them intolerable nuisances, and on this defense he was acquitted. We fail to discover any force in such a plea. The blank leaves could have been torn out and the books left in their places uninjured.

That Pittsburg farmer, who predicted a failure of crops because Sir John had been driven from power, was not alone in his belief. The Napanee Tories addressed "our chieftain" this way: "With your return to power we are confident of that prosperity to our country which has always been such a distinguished characteristic of your able administration." It is certainly impossible to concieve how ignorance and blind superstition could go further.

So Mr. Nicholas Flood Davin has become a politician and cast his lot with the Tories. "After years of observation," we are told, "he has decided to ally himself with the Conservative party." Mr. Davin has talents of no mean order, but they are peculiarly his own. If his pic-nic speeches are as rambling and heterogenous as the lettes he wrote to the Mail from Philadelphia, as Centennial correspondent, we shall have dissertations on something else besides politics pure and simple. Nicholas Flood is fond of quotations from favorite authors, but his political reading will not furnish him with many opportunities of that nature.

THE WAR.

For several days a desperate struggle has been going on in the vicinity of Plevna. The fighting on both sides has been of the most heroic nature, and the casualities very heavy. The Russians, however, have steadily advanced, and after three days cannonading have succeeded in capturing the Turkish redoubt at Grivica. This was pronounced an insuperable barrier and Osman Pasha's strongest position. Three other minor redoubts have also fallen into the hands of the Russians, from which they are playing upon the besieged. The Turks are well handled and are making a stubborn resistance, but if the Muscovite army actually possess the advantages they are now credited with, Osman Pasha is in a tight place, and the result of the campaign assured. The recent defeat of the Russians at Plevna has stimulated the officers to renewed exertions, and every possible precaution has been taken to guard against a second repulse. The Grand Duke has been concentrating his energies upon the present advance, and is determined to wipe out the previous disgrace by an overwhelming victory.

It may be a question whether it is better to have a woman sew a button on a shirt collar for you or to fight three solid gallons of mosquitoes.

SIR JOHN'S RELIANCE.

During his recent visit to the Eastern Townships Sir John ventured the prediction that fifty-five of the sixty-five seats in the Province of Quebec, for the House of Commons, were already assured to the Tory party at the next election. He did not make any secret of his source of reliance, but openly boasted of the active intervention of the church in his favor. The Ultramontane leaders, who monopolize the clerical power in that Province, are zealous supporters of Sir John and his policy. To them he looks for that powerful assistance which is to place him at the head of such a large majority when next the ballot is called into requisition.

When addressing an Ontario audience the wily Chieftain pleads for support and calculates upon a victory through Orange influence. He knows that the Grand Sovereign will exercise all his talents for the benefit of the party, and he confidently resigns the work, so far as the Order is concerned, to the direction of Bro. Bowell. We refer to these diverse acts merely to show how much consistency and honor there is in the professions of the Opposition leader. Office at all hazards is the watchword of the party, and elements as antagonistic as fire and water are courted, if only an advantage may be gained and the coveted goal brought nearer.

BULL'S EYES.

From the London Tizer.

—When The Napanee address-makers referred to Sir John's "courteous conduct while in Opposition," they must have been thinking of the time when the gentlemanly member for Kingston threatened to "slap the chops" of one of the occupants of the Treasury benches.

—The Belleville Ontario is delighted with Conservative poetry, particularly this stanza —Thou brave Macdonald! Thy heart ne'er quails; You have shown their frauds And the steel rails. Where, asks the Ontario, did the poet get his inspiration? We believe we violate no confidence when we say that there is a very large distillery in operation near Windsor.

—We are indebted to Mr. Lewis Wigle, M. P. P. for South Essex, for the information that "a hypocritical politician could no more keep office, than a racoon could climb a stove pipe with a tin pan tied to his tail." This will explain the sudden flop of the Tory 'coon when Mr. Huntington invited him to "come down."

—At Napanee Sir John very candidly remarked that "he would not have blamed Mr. Cartwright for deserting him if he had waited until the Pacific Scandal had come up." It is a pint gained to have the chief culprit's admission, that his supporters were justified in abandoning him on the charges preferred by Mr. Huntington. In other words, Sir John admits the justice of his sentence and the truth of the accusation.

—The only new points in Sir John's speech at Napanee were a referrence to his selection of Sir Francis Hincks because he wanted a "square peg for a square hole," and the assertion that he had always been "by the party, with the party" and for something else. There are some old picnickers, however, who have a dim recollection that they heard Sir John make similar remarks before, and that they were looked upon as stale even in those bygone days.

—It is usual with Tory orators and writers to refer to the "unscrupulous conduct" of their opponents in hoisting poor Sir John out of office. The sin and crime of the whole affair, in their eyes, appear to be in the discovery and punishment of Sir John's guilt, not in the commission of the offence itself. Just fancy some hardened offender from his place of banishment utterring perpetual maledictions against the "unscrupulous conduct" of the judge, jury and witnesses who brought about his conviction and you have a parrallel for Sir John and his sympathizers in their outcry against the Reform party.

—The drill shed at Strathroy, with 110 stands of arms, clothing, etc., was burned on the 9th inst. Loss $5,000.

ABBREVIATONS.

A Rumor.—Mr. John Macdonald, M. P. for Centre Toronto, it is said, will not be a candidate at the general election. Should he retire, there is a possibility of Col. Gzowski being induced to carry the Conservative standard.

Perhaps So.—The Toronto "Telegram" anxiously enquires:—"Could it be possible that this mysterious Chief Justice Robinson who has been knighted is none other than the Hon. Beverly Robinson, the honor being conferred upon him as the champion pugilist politician of Canada?

Eternal Fitness.—A yoke of oxen has been employed to do carriage duty in Kingston. This must be according to the eternal fitness of things.

The Result.—Now that Sir John has been at Nayanee, Hon. Mr. Cartwright is certain that it will take four figures to express his majority at next election.

Another Victim.—Mrs. Dewitt, of Hamilton, while intoxicated, was nearly burned to death by setting her clothes on fire in some way.

Residence Burned.—The fine brick residence of Hon. S. C. Wood, at Lindsay, was burned last Thursday night. Most of the furniture was saved. The loss is about $6,000; insurance unknown.

Sudden Death.—Mr. A. Hutchinson, a well known citizen of St. Catharines was found dead in his bath-room yesterday morning. He arose at six o'clock, apparently as strong as usual, and twenty minutes later was found dead.

This and That.

—Convict labor in England last year produced $75,000.

—The Provincial Exhibition at London bids fair to be a success.

—The British Admiralty has ordered the construction of thirty torpedo boats.

—The Provincial cheese show for Eastern Ontario is to be held at Bellleville on October 3rd and 4th.

—The New York Central Railway has declared the usual quarterly dividend of 2 per cent, payable October 15th.

—The Rright Hon. Lyon Playfair, C. B., LL D., M. P. for the Universities of Edinburg and Aberdeen, is at Montreal.

—The failure is announced of T. McFarlane, dry goods merchant, Woodstock, with liabilities of $60,000. The largest creditor is T. I. Claxton & Co.

Schools In New Townships—Under the authority of the pro-Minister of Education, Dr. Hodgins Deputy Minister proposes to hold a Conference Inspecters at of Belleville on the 19th and 20th inst. For some years a large sum has been voted for schools in the outlying districts, and they are in a fair state of efficiency. It is now proposed to deal with the whole question of the condition and supervision of these schools, and with that view the proposed Conference will be held. The Inspectors of Frontenac and Lennox and Addington have been invited to be present.

SATURDAY EVENING, SEPT. 15.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Presbytery.—Kingston Presbytery will next meet in St. Andrew's Church, Belleville, on Oct. 9th, at 7.30 p. m.

The Cells.—A tramp—the hungry man from Shannonville was the only one registered at the police station last night

A Long Job.—It is expected that Daly's dredge now working in Trenton harbor will be kept constantly employed there until the first of November.

E. I. T. B.

Tuition.—Mrs. Reid announces that she has resumed her classes in Music, English and foreign languages. Class room, Pinnacle Street, just opposite No 209.

Pools.—Pools on the yacht races which are to take place on Monday next, will be sold on Saturday evening. You pays your money and you takes your choice.

Another Bonanza.—Whilst a party of miners were sinking a shaft on the property of Bibbens Clark, near eloyne, they discovered the existence of gold in the rock, only a few feet below the surface.

Scarcely So.—Patrick Taugher, who was committed to jail a few days since in default of sureties was sent up for striking his step-mother; not his wife as reported at the time.

Street Railway.—It is rumored that the Street Railway will be extended to Bleecker Avenue via Bridge Street. If this is accomplished it will be a great convenience to those who reside on the hill.

Town Council.— A regular fortnightly meeting of the Town Council takes place on Monday evening next. The prospects of an interesting session are indeed encouraging—and still we are not happy.

Masonic.—At the twenty-second annual communication held at St. Catharines on Thursday, R. W. Bro. James of Belleville Smith was appointed D. D. G M. for the Prince Edward district.

Large Load.—The schooner William Elgin, Capt. Barrett, arrived on Thursday with $1 800 barrels of salt—the largest load ever brought to this port by a ten thousand bushels vessel.

In England.—In the list of Canadians who registered themselves in London during the week ending September 1st, we observe the name of Dr. Tracy of this town.

High School Note.—Picton, on Monday next will vote on the question whether its citizens approve or disappove of giving $8,000 for the erection of a High School in that town.

New Church.—The corner stone of the new M. E. Church in Brighton, is expected to be laid about the 10th of October. This edifice will be an ornament to the village, and a credit to the people.

The P. E. Railway.— Picton is to be asked to renew its bonus of $20,000 to this road and Wellington and the other municipalities that are expected to be benefitted by its construction, will be asked to assist.

Convicted.—Garrison Ferry who stole a boat and several barrels of fish from the vicinity of Wellington;got lost in the Lake; was rescued by the schooner Emu; was arrested at Kingston and sent to Picton, was tried recently at the latter place and sent to the Penitentiary for two years.

Rine.—Mr. D. I. K. Rine has commenced a temperence campaign in Belleville. We don't know of any place which requires the attention of a reformer more than the City of the Bay—a place where so much bad liquor is drunk by such a number of fast young men,—"Whig." We never knew you were a judge before, but are perfectly satisfied now.

Nearly Drowned.—This is how the "Whig" tells it:—Somebody left the trap door of Mr. James Brown's cistern open, and the genial M. P. fell into eight feet of water and was nearly drowned. We are glad to hear that the accident did not result worse, because we don't know what we would do when we go to Belleville if we did not see Mr. Brown.

Temperance.—Mr. D. I. K. Rine again held forth in the Town Hall last night before a vast audience; indeed so great was the desire to see and hear this distinguished temperance lecturer that over one hundred were compelled to go away unable to obtain admission. The chair was occupied as on the previous evening by Neil McArthur, and the choir under the leadership of Mr. W. Flint Jones, furnished music at appropriate intervals. The meeting opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Cullen, after which Rev. Mr. Rose read a portion of scripture. Mr. Rine then addressed the audience in his own inimitable way, and was intently listened to during the delivery of his able and comprehensive address. He concluded by calling on those present to come forward and sign the pledge, and one hundred and seventy four responded. The meeting was closed with the benediction. To-night Mr. Rine will speak in the Metropolitan Hall; in the Bleecker St. Church to-morrow at 11 a. m., and in the Opera House at 3:30 and 7;30 p. m.

Police Court.—There was no business transacted at this judiciary to-day.

Legal.—Judgment was to have been deliverd in the Court of Appeal in Toronto to-day, in the case of Diamond vs. Coleman.

Fire in the Woods.—Fire is running through the woods on the Front of Thurlow, and unless rain falls, will prove very destructive to timber.

Lively.—Our streets looked very lively to-day, as there was a large number of strangers in town. Hotel proprietors and merchants therefore looked cheerful.

Prayer Meeting.—The members of the Women's Christian Temperance Association will meet this evening for prayer on Mr. Rine's efforts at Mr. Nathan Jones at 7 p. m. All Christian women are invited.

Blue Ribbons.—Indicative of the presence of Mr. Rine, the blue ribbon badge, is now worn by a large number of our citizens who have been enrolled in the temperance ranks. The badges bear the letters R. T. A. C.

Arrived.—The Victorine of Alexandria Bay, N. Y. which is entered in the first class for Monday's race arrived here this afternoon. She measures 11½ tons and is reputed to be very fast.

Grain.—A considerable quantity of grain was brought to town to-day and stored But little of it was sold as the farmers do not wish to dispose of it at present prices. Rye is now firm at sixty cents and number one barley brings the same figure.

Generous.—By an advertisement which appears in one of our Toronto exchanges, we find that a gentleman who once owned an umbrella is desirous of giving the cover to the person who appropriated it. This is indeed a generous act on his part, and is worthy of commendation.

Township Show.—The Agricultural Show of Brighton township, will be held on the grounds of the Union Ag. Joint Stock Company, in Brighton village, on Wednesday and Thursday, October 10th and 11th.

The Market.—Any one who will attend the markets these days cannot but be convinced that the yield of all kinds of produce this year has been very large. To-day the attendance of farmers and town people was very numerous, and the quantity of articles offered and disposed of very large.

Busy.—The owners of the several yachts are now busying themselves in preparing for the event of Monday. A force of men are at work on the "Katie Gray," hurrying her on, whilst a number of hands setting the rigging of the "Madcap" which will make her trial trip this evening.

Mill Burned.—The Ensign says:—Mr. Rogers' grist mill was burned on Thursday night last and a large quantity of grain was destroyed. Nothing was saved. Insurfor $2,000 valued at $8,000. Origin of the fire not known. supposed to have caught from heated machinery.

The Yacht Races,—To accommodate those who wish to witness the yacht races on Monday the "Prince Edward" will leave her dock for the Point at 10 a. m. and 1 p. m., and the "Kincardine" will leave at 11 a. m. The race for the first-class will be started at 11:30 a. m., that for the second class half an hour later, whilst that for the third class will follow a half hour subsequent to that. All who wish to witness an event of great interest should not fail to visit the point on that day.

Strange Reception.—When the news of the defeat of the Madoc Cricket Club at Stirling was sent to Madoc, the citizens of that village prepared a reception for their representatives. It took the form of a charivari party, as its members carried torches, tin pans and all the etcetera which go to constitute a serenading party of that kind. The ovation was a complete success.

That Letter.—We are requested by the commanding officer of the 15th Battalion to say, in connection with the letter of "A Mother" in last night's issue of this paper, that the story is not true, that the Captain of the Company, to whom she alludes as having given her his word of honor as a soldier and a gentleman, says he never gave her anything of the sort; that he told her he would not take her son, who had volunteered, without her consent; that the young man appeared on the morning of the parade in uniform and said he had his mother's consent. The young man himself was interrogated and said he was determined to come whether his mother consented or not. The Battalion is purely a volunteer one and no one was requested to turn out who was not entirely willing to do so.

Yachting.—At the meeting of the Bay of Quinte Yacht Club, held at Hambly's last evening with Vice-Commodore Roy in the Chair, it was decided to enlarge the time for receiving entries, to 10. a. m. on Monday. The Secretary Mr. R S. Bell, reported having received 14 entries as follows: The Victorine of Alexandria Bay, N. Y., Annie Cuthbert of Hamilton, Dauntless and Madcap of Belleville in the first-class. Six will contest for the honors in the second class, viz. Surprise of Trenton, Emma of Kingston, Peerless of Toronto, Kathleen, Resolute and Katie Gray of Belleville. In the third class there are the Grace Darling of Shannonville, and Ailsa Craig, Mabel and Whisper of Belleville. The number of entries in each class will likely be added to as several boats are on their way here. Satisfactory arrangements have been made with the Kincardine which boat as well as the Prince Edward will convey passengers to the Point. The regatta, should the weather prove favorable, will be the best ever held in these waters.

Arrived.—The S. S. Polynesian, of the Allan Line, passed Father Point, bound inwards, at eight o'clock this morning.

Hastings Rifle Association.—A special meeting of the above Association will take place on Monday evening next, Sept. 17th, at 8 sharp in the marquee of the 15th Battalion on the Camp Ground.

☞The great Centennial Wonder will be in operation to-night, opposite the Anglo American Hotel. Go and see Simmons, the greatest public benefactor of the age. Any amount of cash given away.

Accident.—On Thursday last an accident occurred near Lonsdale, which resulted in James Purvis having one of his arms crushed. He had been oiling the gearing of a threshing machine, when by some means his arm got entangled in the machinery with the result above stated.

The Camp.—The officers and members of the 15th. A. L. I. have settled down to the stern realities of camp life and appear to enjoy it. They drill three times each day and show ample evidences of improvement in military evolutions and general discipline. The inspection it is thought, will take place on Tuesday or Wednesday next.

Seriously Ill.—We regret to learn of the serious illness of Mr. George Davenport who whilst working in the store last evening was suddenly taken sick and has been in such a condition as to render his removal from there, unsafe. We hope to hear of his speedy recovery to health.

Just So.—Stand aside gentlemen and make room for the ladies, is an old, as well as quite a common saying; yet let a man take a walk through our market on Saturday and have a four dollar hat punched as full of holes as an old tin skimmer, we think that will be enough to convince any man that he should stand aside and give the ladies room, more especially their parasols. The above was suggested by a general smash up of a hat worn by a gentleman on the market this morning.

The "Madcap."—The dimensions and furnishings of this yacht are as follows:—Length of keel, 32 feet; length over all, 38 feet; breadth of beam, 12½ feet; length of bowsprit, outboard, 18 feet; length of main boom, 38 feet, gaff, 19 feet; hoist, 30 feet; height of mast, 44 feet; topmast, 22 feet; draught, aft 3 feet, forward 1½ feet; tonnage, 15 86.94. She is not thoroughly furnished yet, as there is not sufficient time to do it in, but will be completed next week. She is greatly admired; in fact, she is the observed of all observers.

EDUCATED AND INTELLIGENT

—Thus sings the Toronto "Telegram:" One interesting thing about these Conservative picnics is the fact that wherever an adress is presented to Sir John Macdonald he takes great pains to refer to the people thereabouts as being "educated and intelligent," and altogether lovely. And he invariably assures them that he has been making the most desperate efforts for the last twenty-five years to pay a visit to the particular locality—that, in fact, the one grand object of his life has been to take them by the hand and talk to them. But they are beginning to suspect him.

Mitchell's Belladonna Improved India Rubber Porous Plaster.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

The principal ingredients used in making these Plasters are Gum Olibanum—or better known as the Frankincense of the Bible—Rubber and Burgundy Pitch; which, when scientifically compounded, is full of electricity and when combined with the pure medical gums, is found to be one of the greatest healing mediums ever brought before the human race.

They are acknowledged by all who have used them to act quicker than any other Plasters they ever before tried, and that one of these Plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other Plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

They possess all the soothing, warming, supporting and strengthening qualities of all other Plasters. Many who have been relieved of RHEUMATISM, TICDOLOREUX, and various other pains in the KIDNEYS, BREAST or SIDE, and believe it is solely done by the electrical qualities which the Porous Plasters contain, and which is imparted to the system, thus restoring them to a healthy condition.

They are very soft and pliable, still very adhesive; and a sure cure for WEAK BACKS PAINS IN THE SIDE and BREAST; and are invaluable to those who have a COLD of long standing, and often prevents CONSUMPTION. Some even tell us they believe they were entirely cured by the use of them of a long-seated Consumption.

Prepared by GEORGE E. MITCHELL, Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

PETTIT'S SALVE,

An Infallible Remedy for all Diseases of the Eye (acute or chronic), Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands Film, and Weakness of the Vision from any cause.

The American Eye-Salve is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also, for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain, and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe, and effectual remedy ever discovered. The materials of which it is made are pure, perfect, and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and, of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye-washes. Ringworm and Old Chronic Sores, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the American Eye-Salve. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate, and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of "Dr. J. Petitt's American Eye-Salve," while making new and improved machinery for making a more perfect box for the Eye-Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the Wrapper, Circulars, Advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.

THE FIGURE 7.

SOME CURIOUS OBSERVATIONS ON IT.

It appears that the figure 7 is the most remarkable figure of the ten. Even from the commencement of the world and up to the present time during the period of 7's the greatest events have occurred. Great statesmen and men of notoriety have been born and passed away, nations have risen, emperors have fallen, states have run their whole course of existence during the period. After the world was created God rested on the 7th day. According to the ancient teaching of Hypocrates a child receives its first teeth in the 7th month and changes them in the 7th year. Noah when he had built the ark waited 7 days upon the flood, and he took with him 7 persons, and of all clean animals 7 pair; the second dove flew from the ark on the 7th day, and in 7 more days Noah opened the ark; on the twentieth and 7th day the ark rested on Mount Ararat, and in the second month on the twentieth and 7th day the earth was dry; of the ten commandments Moses received, 7 were to God's humanity; Laban pursued Jacob 7 days; Jacob served 7 years for Rachel, his wife: Joseph mourned 7 days for Jacob; Pharaoh in his dreams saw 7 years of abundance and seven years of starvation. We see further that the Israelites were ordered to hold a feast in the 7th month for 7 days; the 7 times 7th year was jubilee, which is as yet a law among the Romans; in the 7th year the laws of Israel were read to its people; God threatened to punish them 7 times, and according to their laws a man must forgive his brother 7 times, but Christ says 7 times 7. At the destruction of Jerico 7 preists carried 7 trumpets for 7 days, and went 7 days around the wall, and the 7th day 7 times. Job's friends were 7 days and 7 nights consoling him. It is written in the old laws that 7 men were strangled in one night. Tobias held a wedding feast for 7 days. King Ahashuerus held a feast for 7 days, and on the 7th day he sent for the queen, and she came in the 7th year of her reign. Naaman washed 7 times in the waters of Jordan. Solomon built 7 years at the temple, burnt 7 lights upon the altar, and held a feast for 7 days. Elisha sent his servant seven times to look upon the cloud. Nebuchadnezzar ate grass for seven years. We are taught that Christ was 7 hours on the cross, and appeared 7 times after His resurrection, and in 7 times 7 days after His resurrection He ascended into Heaven and sent the Holy Ghost with His 7 holy gifts.

MORAL-DON'T JOKE WITH YOUR WIFE.

From the Fort Worth [Texas] Democrat.

Marshal Courtright, of this town, thought of joking his wife. Arriving at home at a late hour he entered the front gate, carefully closed it. Cautiously groping his way thither, what was his surprise to see the right hand of his wife lying on the sill of the window. On her fingers she had two gold rings, one of which he proceeded to take off. It being rather loose he experienced but little trouble, and succeeded in the operation without waking her up. The remaining ring was a much tighter fit, and, in his efforts to extricate it, his wife awoke, finding her hand grasped from without by some one whom she at once concluded was a robber. Quickly pulling her hand away, she was about to scream, but thinking of a convenient six-shooter, under her pillow she again placed her "jewelled hand" on the sill, which was grasped by the supposed burglar; and with the other she quickly reached for the pistol, and, rising suddenly, brought it to bear on her husband; but for his presence of mind in [illegible] dead. Mrs. Courtright displayed great presence of mind, fortitude and courage, and the Marshal should be proud of possessing a wife so fearless and brave. His narrow escape has completely cured him of any further desire to play the role of a midnight robber.

MANHOOD:
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply privately and radically.

☞This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and man in the land.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring to Gray Hair its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. It soon restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed; but such as remain can be saved by this application, and stimulated into activity, so that a new growth of hair is produced. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. The restoration of vitality it gives to the scalp arrests and prevents the formation of dandruff, which is often so uncleanly and offensive. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich, glossy lustre, and a grateful perfume.

MANHOOD:
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED

We have recently published a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply privately and radically.

☞ This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and man in the land.

A LITTLE LAND WELL TILLED.

The New York Tribune of August 22nd says:—

"Here, in a journal, just now at hand, is a story of poor Southern lady, who, widowed and with nine small children clinging to her for support, has managed from only one acre of ground—by toil and care and watchfulness—to keep the wolf from the door.

The story is well authenticated, and has its moral. However much the humorists may make themselves and the rest of the world merry over the exaggerated tales of acre farming and amateur gardening, there is such return from the wise treatment of little half-acre holdings of land as shortens amazingly household costs. Many a shrewd mechanic has proved this; but he can prove it only by that care and watchfulness there is too large a tendency to shirk. Odd hours with the spade and hoe—when bench work or shop work is closed to the mechanic—will keep the muscles in good, healthful trim, and will afford the large satisfaction of making more productive and more attractive the homestead. It is putting savings into the best kind of a bank. It saves from the bewilderment of strikes, or from inclination to join in them. And if strikes must come, it gives the striker opportunity for waiting without less.

Dulness in manufacturing and low wages will set the mechanic, who has a little plot of ground of his own, to the working of it with a new zest. The potatoes and corn, and fruit of a man's own planting upon his little holding of land, do not wait upon the state of the market for shoes or for sewing machines. And with such a holding, well cared for, near to our Eastern centres of business, their remains for the mechanic not only the constant resource of the land, but the chance of better business and better wages in the line of his special craft. Most of all in times of disturbed industries and uncertain values, the safest possible investment for a man willing to work, is a little homestead of his own or land in which his labor—at odd hours and all hours—can be put in the bank."

To the above we add, that in the neighborhood of most of our towns there are large quantities of land of which no use whatever is being made, that might be bought or leased for cultivation by mechan[illegible] others, anxious to test what can be [illegible] small piece of land thoroughly [illegible] a great want of municipal [illegible] lands to go to waste [illegible] cared for. It is [illegible] and some pro[illegible] economy to allow suc[illegible] reforming in the way they are doing, [illegible] vision ought to be made for tra[illegible] these unproductive and unsightly wa[illegible] into cultivated gardens that shall bring pleasure and profit to their proprietors, and be a source of gain to the public resources.

A RUSSIAN FUNERAL.

Scribner's Monthly.—I am sitting in my study at Moscow. A slow chant shows me that a funeral is approaching. I look out of my window and notice that the pavement has been strewn with bits of fir and hamlock, and soon see four men in long, rusty black gowns, and broad brimmed hats, each carrying a candle in a lantren. Next comes a bare headed man with a holy picture which he carries in front of him against his breast, the frame being carefully wrapped in white cambric so as to avoid the contact of his hands. Then comes the coffin lid, borne by two men, and on it a cocked hat and sword, for this seems to be the funeral of an officer. With this are men and boys carrying on velvet cushions the crosses and medals of the deceased. The priests and deacons follow dressed now in robes of black velvet, trimmed with silver and covered with silver crosses. The deacons have candles and censers, and, together with the choir, are chanting a funeral hymn. Immediately next, with candle bearers on either side, is the coffin, carried by the nearest relatives and friends. It is very shallow and open so as to show half of the body of the deceased, with his face uncovered and his hands clasping a cross over his breast.

The coffin itself is covered with rich blue and silver brocade, very different from the polished rosewood and the black pall we always see at home. It must be on its way to the church, for when it goes to the graveyard it will be carried on a hearse—a gorgeous sort of triumphal car, in the form of a temple, hung with gold and silver brocade—where it will be raised on a lofty platform. The relatives and friends then follow, not in a funeral procession, but an irregular and confused crowd. Every one but the lantren bearers in front is bareheaded, and all the passers-by uncover themselves as they meet the procession, and, crossing themselves mutter an inaudible prryer.

Were it winter these bare-headed mourners would have handkerchiefs tied over their ears, and as each man seems to prefer a different color, the motley effect would be odd enough. There is to me something inexpressibly soothing in the Russian services for the dead. From the time the body is laid out to the funeral the Psalter, interspersed with prayer, is read aloud day and night in the same room with the corpse. The readers take turns, so that this low, dull, mournful sound never ceases. Twice a day there are prayers in the house by the priest and church assistants, at which all the friends of the family are expected to be present. The gentlemen are always in full dress, the ladies in black. All hold lighted candles and stand around the body, which lies on a table in the centre of an empty room—for most of the furniture has been removed, and all the mirrors have, from superstitious motives, been covered up.

The chants are very sacred and mournful, and there is one passage, the "Everlasting Remembrance," when all kneel and touch their foreheads to the floor. If any are too infirm for this, they at least touch the tips of their fingers to the ground. After praying for the repose of the soul of the deceased and for the forgiveness of his sins, voluntary and involuntary, the priest says: "With the saints let the soul of the deceased servant Ivan (always naming him), O Lord, rest in peace, and keep him in everlasting remembrance!" This prayer is then taken up by the choir and sung to a very sad air. At this mention of the name of the dead man, it is difficult for the friends to keep dry eyes, and sobbing is infectious. The very repetition of the prayers, this solemn and impressive meeting twice a day of the friends, acts as a sort of opiate on the feelings and the fact of death.

The actual funeral ceremony at the church is no less impressive. The cold, up-turned face in the coffin between the wax lights in the middle of the church, the clouds of incense, the low prayers, the solemn gospel and epistle, the sweet hymns and weird chants sung by pure voices without admixture of accompaniment of organ or instrument, the lighted tapers in

…s of the standing and kneeling …ners—all produce their peculiar effect. After the mass is said there is a short address or sermon in the case of any one of destination, and the priest reads aloud a prayer or rather a form of absolution, a printed copy of which is placed in the folded hands of the dead man—a custom originating in Kief eight centuries ago.

All present then kiss the hands of the deceased; the officiating clergyman pours on the body the wine and oil which has been used in Extreme Unction, and sprinkles it with the ashes of the incense, or which simple earth; the lid is placed on the coffin, which is carried to the grave accompanying friends usually walking all or a greater part of the distance. There are several cemeteries outside of the city; but most people prefer to be buried in some of the outlaying monasteries, if they have the means to afford a grave there. The grounds of the Donskoi Semenot, and Novo Devitchi are full of the great and rich of Moscow. Few are pious and fortunate enough to obtain burial in the hallowed soil of the great monastery of Toritza.

The Daily Ontario.

THURSDAY EVENING, SEPT. 20.

They are voting on the Dunkin Act in Bruce County. The majority in favor of the Bill yesterday was 953, which will probably be increased to 1,200 when the polls close.

The Reformers of Lanark have fixed upon Mr. D. Galbraith, M. P., as their candidate to contest at the next general election the representation of the County in the Commons. Mr. Snedden, of Pakenham, has been chosen as candidate for the Provincial Legislature.

About two months ago the British frigates Shah and Amethyst made an attack upon the Peruvian rebel ram Huascar, and after a spirited conflict disabled her and drove her away for shelter. The Peruvian Government have demanded satisfaction for what is regarded as an insult to their flag, but Great Britain is not disposed to listen to such a demand. In fact she has refused to apologize, and two iron-clad steamships have been ordered to be made ready for sea, and to proceed to the Pacific.

The Kingston News sympathizes with the Reformers of Belleville because neither Mr. Mackenzie nor Mr. Blake is to favor them with his presence this season, "notwithstanding the fact that the local organ made announcements heralding the intended visit of both gentlemen." Our contemporary need not give itself any concern about how Belleville Reformers feel over the disappointment. They are anxious to hear the two gentlemen whose names are mentioned, and we have authority for saying that Messrs Mackenzie and Blake are equally anxious to accommodate them, but circumstances over which they have no control may prevent them having their proposed demonstration this fall.

EDUCATIONAL.

The conference of Inspectors now in session here, under the direction of Dr. Hodgins, Deputy Minister of Education, is of much importance, more especially as it has for its object the well-being of the schools to be established in the Free Grant and outlying districts. During the past three years initiatory efforts have been made by the Department towards the organization of the school system in these territories. The success, though not always uniform, has been highly satisfactory and encouraging. It is now intended, with the aid of the Inspectors immediately interested, to make further provisions for introducing and developing the whole system, as it prevails in frontier sections. Of course certain exceptions must be made, and liberties granted, which the circumstances of the cases require. In order to meet these with fair prospects of speedy success in the entire arrangements, the Deputy Minister has summoned the Inspectors, whose fields of labor extend into the new territories, to consider such questions as the work in hand may suggest. The Committees appointed, and the subjects to be reported on, as mentioned in our report yesterday, will give some idea of what is proposed to be done.

THE FISHERY REGULATIONS.

Since the law regulating the time when fish can be caught and enforcing the removal of all obstructions from rivers, streams, &c., has been observed, a marked improvement in our fresh-water fisheries has been reported. Previous to this new arrangement, fishermen made it their object to haul in thousands of whitefish, trout and pickeral at such seasons when they were known to visit certain grounds for spawning purposes. It was evident that should this system prevail much longer the fisheries, now so valuable, would become worthless at no distant day. Not only were the fish caught in inordinate numbers, but the major portion were females that had yet to deposit their ova. In some localities the grounds were already being decimated to such a degree as to render them of little value to fishermen. The saw-dust and refuse of lumbering establishments were also accumulating in the principal rivers and streams of the country, so as to entirely prevent the fish ascending to their favorite spawning rendezvous. It was for the purpose of correcting so glaring an abuse of natural wealth that the law, governing the time and conditions of our fisheries, was enacted. The result has been all that could be desired, and instead of this source of revenue decreasing in value, it is yearly becoming more important. This being the case, it is much to be regretted that, owing to the refusal of the American authorities to co-operate in the protection of the fisheries in the Detroit river, it is found impossible to enforce the law relating to the close time for whitefish. While recognizing the great advantages to be derived from the strict observance of such regulations as were enforced by our Government, they (the Americans) refuse to honor them in conjunction with Canadians on this side of the river. The consequence is, that during the close season, when the fish are spawning, and our fishermen are compelled to remain idle, nets and seins are spread all along the American side and immense hauls made, much to the annoyance of those who are legally prohibited to share in the harvest work. So strong and general has been the complaint of interested parties that, in compliance with the representations of Mr. McGregor, member for Essex, the local fishery officers have been instructed not to enforce the law relating to the close time for whitefish. By this means the fishing privileges of both countries will be put on an equal footing, and no undue advantages will be conferred upon the Americans.

RANDOM DASHES.

Warmer again.

This time it is the Surprise.

The Kingston Fair a grand success.

Attend Dr. Hodgin's lecture to-night.

Faults are pliable in infancy, changeable in childhood, more resolute in youth, firmly rooted in manhood, and inflexible in old age.

That "High Church" article which the Whig credits to the Ontarian first appeared in the Ontario. Only the difference of two letters.

A friend wants to know how it is that he has to buy 19½ yards of Swiss muslin to make a dress for a baby not more than 11 inches long.

A Reporter on a western paper writes:—"Those who personally know our esteemed fellow-citizen, Colonel——will regret to hear that he was brutally assaulted last evening, but not killed."

THE RINE MOVEMENT.

A SUCCESSFUL CAMPAIGN.

The demand on our space yesterday did not permit us to refer to the closing meeting of the Rine Movement on Tuesday evening, as its merits deserved. It was, in point of numbers and interest, the most successful of the series, and the spacious Bridge-st. Methodist Church was crowded to its utmost capacity, many being unable to get a seat, and many more having to go away for want of accommodation. The chair was again filled by Mr. Neil McArthur, President of the Workingmen's Temperance Association, to whom the cause in Belleville is much indebted. He has labored hard to make Mr. Rine's efforts successful, and has the satisfaction of knowing that he did not labor in vain. Mr. McArthur, like his missionary brother, has been where the inebriate goes, and he knows what it is to be there. He can extend a sympathizing hand to a fellow sufferer and speak words of encouragement from the heart. But the chairman was not alone in this work of redemption. The whole community was stirred to the centre by the earnest, passionate appeals of Mr. Rine, and every one seemed willing to help on the cause. We cannot speak too highly of the general policy adopted by the lecturer. He has studied human nature in all its phases, and wisely adapts himself to principles that all men must respect. He speaks from an experience, too, that appeals to the better judgment, and pleads with the victim of intemperance as only a redeemed man can. Mr. Rine is in earnest, and his audience cannot help respecting him and his mission. The grand result of his labors here is most cheering: Over fifteen hundred persons took the pledge and joined hands in the temperance ranks. The blue ribbon badge of membership is conspicuous on our streets, and we only hope the promise it is intended to keep in mind may be faithfully honored by every one wearing it.

THIRD CLASS CERTIFICATES.

DR. HODGINS MAKES SOME EXPLANATIONS.

To the Editor of the Ontario.

Sir,—I noticed an extract in the Ontario from the British Whig, in which it is intimated that holders of 3rd class expired certificates as teachers are in peril of having them withdrawn or cancelled. This is an entire mistake. The Whig's article was founded on a letter from me to Mr. Kidd, Inspector of Kingston. I have written a reply to the Whig which probably you will copy.

Yours, &c.
J. GEORGE HODGINS.
Dep. Min. of Education.

Belleville, Sept. 19th, 1877.

The following is Dr. Hodgin's letter to the Whig:—

To the Editor of the British Whig.

Sir,—I have the the honour to state, that in the British Whig on the 14th instant, I notice the following sentence;

"We regret to learn that the status of "several of our best third class teachers is "menaced by instructions received by the "Inspector."

I think you have been misinformed on this subject. The only communication sent to your City Inspector by the Department is the following:

"I have the honor to state, in reply to your letter of the 5th instant, that the regulations provide that the County Inspector may recommend unsuccessful 2nd class candidates for 3rd class certificates for a limited term. A form for that purpose has been prescribed, and has been sent to him.

"I can scarcely suppose that the City Board would employ third-class teachers."

The County Inspector, as a member of the County Board of examiners and Presiding examiner, is alone authorized by the regulations to make recommendations for an extension of third-class certificates. When approved, the holders have a right to teach in any city, town, village or rural section in the county of Frontenac.

As there are, to the best of my knowledge, no third-class teachers employed in Toronto, St. Catharines or London, and only one in Ottawa, I did not suppose that they were employed in Kingston.

I have the honor to be, sir,
Your obedient servant,
J. George Hodgins,
Deputy Minister of Education.

Toronto, Sept. 17, 1877.

THE TRENTON REGATTA.

"With a free sheet, a flowing sea and a wind that follows fast" the yachts entered for yesterday's race took part in the contest. There were five entries for the event; the Victorine of Alexandria Bay, N. Y; the Peerless of Toronto; the Surprise of Trenton and the Kathleen and Katie Gray of Belleville. Owing to the size (11½ tons) of the first named boat, an objection was made to her competing in the second class and the judges therefore—and justly so—ordered that she should not take part in the contest.

It was at the first thought, that by the wind the eastern buoy had been carried away but such, fortunately was not the case. The wind was "as fresh as a daisy," it showed itself in its proper emblem and thoroughly tested the sailing qualities of the competing boats. "Old Boreas" was in his element; he had things his own way and he kept them to suit himself. The sea was rough; the waves were long and every thing went to show that the wind and weather was decidedly in favor of an excellent race.

The judges for the event were Messrs. Richardson, Bonter and Forbes and they discharged their duties in a satisfactory manner.

On the signal to start being given, the Katie Gray was the first to lead the way followed soon after by the Surprise, Peerless and Kathleen, the line being crossed in the following order.

YACHT.	OWNER.	TIME.
Katie Grey	W. Campbell	1	42	45
Surprise	R. Cummings	1	43	00
Peerless	R. Moodie	1	44	08
Kathleen	R. J. Bell	1	46	12

The Katie and Surprise carried three reefed mainsails and double reefed jibs whilst the Peerless and Kathleen worked—when going out—under a storm jib and similar mainsail.

With booms to port—the wind from the south west, the competing boats set out on the contest. The course was from harbor to around a buoy off Dempsey's Point; thence to a buoy off Wannamaker's dock and return to the place of starting; the course to be sailed over thrice and the distance about 30 miles.

There was a good attendance of yachting men from Belleville and vicinity and throughout the day the dock was visited by numbers who appeared to take considerable interest in the sport.

On the run to the first buoy all the yachts seemed to hold their own, but after rounding it a considerable difference in the relative positions of the competing boats occurred. The Katie held her own on the run down as did also the others, there being no perceptible difference in their situations. After rounding the first buoy, the several boats made—at first—a series of short stretches but the tactics of some of them soon afterwards changed—and to their detriment. Whilst the Surprise was making her second port tack towards the south shore, her competitors were standing on the opposite stretch and received a visit greatly to their detriment, and one they will long remember. It came down in the form of "a sudden puff," which "cleared away" the main sheets of the Katie and left her flopping in the sea; it struck the Peerless, which at this time had improved her position materially and "cleared away" a number of her reef points, making her mainsail almost useless, as it made a rent in it from fore to aft, which seriously interfered with the set of her sail; it struck the Kathleen and carried off some of her reef points, necessitating her to "shake out" the remainder and therefore carry extra sail. All this time the Surprise stood in to the lee shore and thus avoided all the difficulties and trials under which the other boats labored, as she continually—in that part of the course "stood in" to the south shore. When the Katie met with the misfortune above spoken of, the Surprise passed her, and those following her rapidly gained on her; still the relative positions of the Peerless and Kathleen did not perceptibly change. A change in tactics here ensued, the Katie taking a long stretch to the north west, an example that was followed soon after by the Peerless, and latterly, though not to so great an extent, by the Kathleen. All this time the Surprise kept widening the distance between herself and her competitors, and when she passed the buoy off Wannamaker's wharf she was a half a mile ahead. On the run to the harbor there was no perceptible change in the situation of the yachts; all carried what canvas they conveniently could, and with the exception of "a shake out" of an extra reef in the jib, none carried extra sail. They rounded the harbor buoy as follows:—the Surprise first, the Katie second and Kathleen third. On the run down the latter set out a double reefed jib in addition to the storm jib and rapidly hauled on the Katie Gray and eventually passed her. The situations of the boats remained unaltered throughout the race, which was eventually won by the Surprise.

Kathleen............................	6	33	17

The race was a successful one, and too much praise cannot be given to those who got it up. It was a success in every sense of the word, as everything connected with it passed off pleasantly. During the day the Bonar, under the management of Capt. Palmer, went over the course and thus enabled her patrons to have a good view of the race. Thus ends our description of the race.

—Mr. W. W. Cledenning, Woodstock, while getting on a train at Hamilton, was robbed of $1,726 in money and papers.

—All the mills at the Chaudiere but one have closed for the season. The lumber shipped this year is mostly for the Brazilian market.

—There is much anxiety in Winnipeg respecting the result of the Blackfeet treaty negotiations.

—Rev. Mr. Chiniquy publishes a letter in the "Witness," denying that he when ill sought re-admission into the Church of Rome.

—The Winnipeg, Man., "Free Press" has issued an extra containing a special Ottawa despatch, denying the appointment of Mr. Cauchon as the next Lieut. Governor of that Province.

—A man named Fanning had his neck broken in lower town, Ottawa, on Monday, by falling down stairs.

FIRE.—We are informed that Terry's grist mill in Brighton village was burned down on Thursday night, 13th inst.

EXCURSION.—The Oswego Belle had an excursion from Trenton to-day. The party went down the bay.

THE G. J. R.—The work of constructing the G. J. R. is to be commenced at once. This is indeed a consummation devoutly wished for.

MEETING.—The adjourned meeting of the Hastings Rifle Association will take place at Hambly's on Friday evening, Sept. 21st, at 8 p.m.

I. O. G. T.—The regular weekly meeting of the I. O. G. T. takes place in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A. this evening. A good turn out of friends is expected.

E. I. T. B.

GRAIN SHIPMENT.—The schooner M. O'Gorman, Capt. R. E Yott, is now loading barley at Rednersville. Her cargo will be completed this evening, and she will sail for Oswego to-morrow.

THAT NEW CHURCH.—The new Canada Methodist Church which was opened in Trenton last week, cost, with the site, $15,500, all of which is provided for by subscriptions.

FIRE.—A telegram from Thomasburg dated yesterday says:—Thomas Graham's blacksmith shop took fire this morning and was burned down, with its contents. Loss about $1,000; no Insurance.

TENDERS.—Tenders for the plastering of the M. E. tabernacle are now asked for and therefore contractors should note the advertisement which appears in another column.

HONOR.—On the return home of 48th Oswego team, they received a hearty welcome from the citizens. An address of welcome was presented them and the prominent places in the city were illuminated in honor of the event.

PROPOSED YACHT RACE.—The Oswego Times says:—The young men of the "S. S." and "A. H. M" Yacht Clubs are talking of having a yacht race early in October. They will begin preparations, raising money, etc., immediately.

☞ Prof. C. Richter, of Albert College, will hereafter meet pupils in music at Harrison's Hall. Parties wishing music lessons can leave their address at Harrison's bookstore, and the Professor will call at their residence and make arrangements.

FINE FRUIT.—We are indebted to Mr. D. R. Leavens for a sample of apples and pears which beats any thing in the fruit line we have seen this season. A pear which was shown us was almost as large as a small pumpkin, whilst an apple which accompanied it was proportionately larger.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—A crippled boy named Fleming on Tuesday night attempted to commit suicide first by stabbing himself about the neck, and, in failing in that, by jumping from the upper bridge into the river. He was seen by three boys named Moles, Harkins, and Flannery to jump into the water and was rescued by them and taken to his house. Fleming is badly injured, but may recover.

HOW TO DO IT.—As this is the peach canning season, it may be of interest to some of our lady readers to know that by dropping the fruit into hot saleratus water they will be able to remove the skin from peaches as nicely as from tomatoes, and will preserve the bloom of the fruit almost perfectly.

GRAND TRUNK.—A very heavy business is now being done on the Grand Trunk Railway. The passenger trains east and west frequently consist of from ten to twelve cars, and a vast amount of freight passes daily over the road. This is very satisfactory and forms another indication of the return of the long lamented "good times."

THE CELLS.—There were three prisoners and one tramp in the cells last night.

RETURNED.—The Enid left Rochester on Wednesday morning at 4 a.m. and arrived here at 5 a.m. this morning with a cargo of peaches. Capt. Vanmiere has had a fine trip. He reports the wind as heavy, with big sea running easterly. He carried all his canvass on the return trip, and reached Indian Point last evening at 5 p.m. This is a big run.

ALBERT COLLEGE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.—The results of the Comitia held yesterday were made known this morning. The officers for the current semester are as follows:—President, Jas. Van Wyck; 1st Vice-President, Chas. Lane; 2nd Vice-President, M. H. Davis; Treasurer, C. G. Adams; Senior Critic, Mathew M. Brown; Junior Critic, Geo. F. Metzler; Secretary, Thos. V. Badgley; Assistant Secretary, C. O. Brown; Chaplain, Jas. H. George. The installation will take place on Saturday evening next in the College Chapel.

EDUCATIONAL LECTURES.—We direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement in another column announcing free lectures in the Town Hall this and to-morrow evening. Dr. Hodgins, Deputy Minister of Education, will to-night talk about "Canada at the Centennial," and in his hands this subject will be intelligently handled. Mr. McCabe, Principal of the Ottawa Normal School, will to-morrow night speak upon "The History of Educational Effort, with special reference to method." Both of these lectures will be of rare merit, and as the admission is free we hope to see a large attendance of the friends of Education.

PLANETARY.—The planet Venus can now be seen in the west for an hour after sunset, and will grow brighter and remain longer above the horizon during the remainder of the year. It is now passing from beyond the sun to its greatest elongation east, which it will reach on the 10th of December. In the winter, when nearer the earth, it will shine with its greatest splendor. Venus is nearly as large as the earth, being 7,770 miles in diameter. Its mean distance from the sun is 66,134,000 miles, and although appearing to be at rest it is moving at the rate of 21 miles a second. Three other planets are now visible in the evening sky—Jupiter, Mars and Saturn.

THE G. J. R.

Wednesday, Sept. 19.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Directors was held this evening, when all the members were present.

The President brought up the proposition of Hon. R. Read made in the afternoon that parties were willing to go on with the construction of the road, having it completed as far as Campbellford in 40 days. He stated that when in New York he had made some inquiries, and found there was no iron in the country, and that none could be had until it was brought from England, which could not be before the first of November, at all events, and thought the matter ought to rest.

Mr. Diamond said he was prepared to entertain any proposition that would tend to having the road built, no matter from whom it came. He would be in favor of relieving Mr. Pardee from his contract and allowing him to go on and build the road. Mr. Pardee was willing to advance money from week to week to build the road. Several propositions had been made by men in New York and elsewhere, but none of them had done anything, and now Mr. Pardee would be willing to deposit money to be checked out by the Board and that the work could go on. If some other contractor would do better, Mr. Pardee was willing to retire as soon as he could be found. This would put the road in immediate operation, and he would therefore favor accepting Mr. Pardee's offer.

Mr. Foulds said that proposition was all very well. If accepted, it would only add a few miles to the road, and what guarantee had they that when Campbellford was reached it would not go any further.

Mr. Diamond said the road would then be out of debt in this sense, that when Campbellford was reached it would give them ground for credit after that distance was completed money could be obtained to build ten miles further, and soon to the end.

Mr. Ferris moved, seconded by Mr. Brown, that the Solicitor be instructed to draw up a contract upon the terms of the Finance Committee's report of this date, with a view to proper security of one party to the other, so as to carry out the spirit of the report.

In making the motion, Mr. Ferris said it was only right and proper that they depend on their Solicitor, and have such a contract made as would not be liable to bring them into court, and while protecting themselves Mr. Pardee should also be protected.

Mr. Diamond moved in amendment, seconded by Dr. Boulter, that a contract based upon the report now adopted be drawn up at once, in duplicate, signed by the President, and the seal attached, and that one of such copies be delivered to Mr. Pardee and the other to this Corporation.

He said the moment the contract was executed they had security for the payment of $25,000, and this matter ought to be attended to at once, as should it run over the 24th day of September the whole proceedings would be nugatory.

Mr. Foulds did not see what additional security was required, as Mr. Ferris's motion covered the whole ground.

Mr. Dickson looked upon the proposition, to ask Mr. Pardee to advance $25,000, as being an insult to that gentleman. The security Mr. Pardee proposed to give had been mentioned time and again, and now to ask him to advance this sum, when he has already given material guarantee, was most unjust. Time was of great importance to the undertaking as it now stands, and if the Solicitor could be got to prepare the contract, by all means have it done. If the Solicitor of the Company should be absent from town to-morrow, he was in favor of employing some other one to prepare the contract.

The President said so far as the Company was concerned, all money advanced by Mr. Pardee was to be expended by the Engineers of the road. He thought the security Mr. Pardee might give would be in itself ample.

Mr. Ferris thought the Board took a different view from what the resolution submitted intended. He had not said in the report that any additional security was required, but simply wished them to note the points in the agreement. The thing stood that $2,500 should always be deposited in advance, so that men might be paid when pay became due. He never intended that Mr. Pardee should find bondsmen.

Mr. Read thought Mr. Diamond's motion preferable, as it was more comprehensive that the original motion.

Mr. Brown said if the matter was left to common sense views, and not so many legal quibbles, the road would progress more rapidly. All that was wanted now was that the Board should not be placed in any further difficulty.

The motions were then put, and Mr. Diamond's amendment was carried.

Mr. Bowell then moved, seconded by Mr. Ferris, that the following provision be added to the agreement:—"Provided Mr. Pardee fails to advance sums sufficient to carry on the road to Campbellford, as heretofore provided, the advance of $25,000 be forfeited to the Grand Junction Railway."

To this Mr. Diamond took objection, on the ground that the report was already adopted.

Mr. Bowell said his motion might not be strictly in order, but he had held it over, at Mr. Diamond's request, until his motion was passed; and, in order to make it right, he would add the words, "and that this clause be made part of the original agreement."

Mr. Diamond said he was afraid if this motion was pressed it would embarrass the proceedings very much.

Dr. Boulter wished to know if the Board failed to call up the stock what security had Mr. Pardee from them.

Mr. Bowell's rider was then put and lost.

Moved by Mr. Ferris, seconded by Hon. R. Read, that inasmuch as no tender has been received by the company notwithstanding that negotiations had so far progressed with Messrs. Pusey & Humphrey's of New York, that the Company has every reason to hope that a tender would have been received from these gentlemen and followed by a formal contract and as other gentlemen have been at the Company's office looking over the plans and making enquiries as to the position of the road and as it is possible that some of these gentlemen may have refrained from tendering from the advanced position of the negotiations with Messrs. Pusey & Humphrey's therefore it is resolved that the President be empowered to negotiate with any parties looking to the completion of the road, and to call the Board together so soon as negotiations have so far progressed as to give hopes of the work being entered upon.

The motion was lost by a vote of 8 to 6.

Mr. Bowell then submitted the By-law calling in 10 per cent. of the stock on or before the 25th of October, for its second reading. His motion was seconded by Mr. Walker, and carried.

The By-law was then read a second and third time, numbered eleven, and signed by the President and the seal attached.

The President asked the Board to name some legal gentleman as a fit person to draw up the contract, in case Mr. Bell was absent, and the name of Hon. Lewis Wallbridge met with favor.

Mr. Dickson moved, seconded by Hon. R. Read, that a Committee be appointed, to consist of the President, Secretary, Messrs. Boulter, Foulds and Lloyd, to confer with the Municipal Council of Campbellford in reference to bonus in aid of the G. J. R.—Carried.

The President asked for the appointment of a Committee to make a thorough examination of the books, in view of the fact that certain insinuations had been made that no one knew what had become of the money of the Company.

Mr. Ferris wished something to be done, so that the Board might be put in possession of what was done before the Finance Committee.

Mr. Bowell moved, seconded by Mr. Walker, that the Auditors be instructed to make an examination of the books from the date of the last audit to the present, together with a list of stock-holders, and amount of stock paid.

Mr. Bowell moved, seconded by Mr. Walker, that the Committee appointed to draft rules for the guidance of this Board be instructed to do so, and report at the next meeting of the Board.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned, to meet at the call of the President.

TWO PORTRAITS.

Hon. Mr. Macdougall, at a recent Tory picnic, is reported to have said:

"He had for some time been a supporter of Sir John Macdonald, and he could say that during all that period he had never, in the secret counsels of the Cabinet, on the floor of Parliament, or before the people, found Sir John Macdonald arguing or contending for any measure which he (Mr. Macdougall) did not honestly believe to be in the public interest."

The same Hon. Wm. Macdougall, shortly after his ejection from Sir John's Ministry, and his return from his abortive effort to assume the Governorship of Manitoba, wrote a pamphlet, and in its pages, in cold black and white, we find the following allusion to Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues:

"When I use the word treason, I desire that you will understand it in its widest sense; treason not to the lawful Sovereign of the Dominion only, but treason to the people of Canada; treason to the interests, civil and religious, of the people of the North-west; treason to union, progress, freedom and civilization in every Province of the Dominion."

FOR SEVERE COUGHS AND LUNG COMPLAINTS.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston:
Gentlemen—About ten years ago, after having had a severe attack of the measles, I was troubled with a severe cough and was threatened with consumption. My father having died at the age of thirty-one with consumption of the lungs, and my aunt having been carried off with the same complaint, it seems to be hereditary in our family. At the time alluded to I was induced to try a bottle of DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, and can say conscientiously, I believe it saved my life. I was blacksmithing at the time, and often felt pains in my chest and lung, which the Balsam relieved. I cheerfully give this statement and hope you may have success with so beneficial a preparation. Yours truly,

A. J. MERRITT.

Mitchell's Belladonna Improved India Rubber Porous Plaster.

There never has been a time when the healing of so many different diseases has been caused by outward application as the present. It is an undisputed fact that over half of the entire population of the globe resort to the use of ordinary plasters.

The principal ingredients used in making these Plasters are Gum Olibanum—or better known as the Frankincense of the Bible—Rubber and Burgundy Pitch; which, when scientifically compounded, is full of electricity and when combined with the pure medical gums, is found to be one of the greatest healing mediums ever brought before the human race.

They are acknowledged by all who have used them to act quicker than any other Plasters they ever before tried, and that one of these Plasters will do more real service than a hundred of the ordinary kind. All other Plasters are slow of action, and require to be worn continually to effect a cure; but with these it is entirely different; the instant one is applied the patient will feel its effect.

They possess all the soothing, warming, supporting and strengthening qualities of all other Plasters. Many who have been relieved of RHEUMATISM, TICDOLOREUX, and various other pains in the KIDNEYS, BREAST or SIDE, and believe it is solely done by the electrical qualities which the Porous Plasters contain, and which is imparted to the system, thus restoring them to a healthy condition.

They are very soft and pliable, still very adhesive; and a sure cure for WEAK BACKS PAINS IN THE SIDE and BREAST; and are invaluable to those who have a COLD of long standing, and often prevents CONSUMPTION. Some even tell us they believe they were entirely cured by the use of them of a long-seated Consumption.

Prepared by GEORGE E. MITCHELL, Lowell, Mass.

Sold by all Druggists.

PETTIT'S SALVE,

An Infallible Remedy for all Diseases of the Eye (acute or chronic), Granulation of the Lids, Ulceration of the Lachrymal Glands Film, and Weakness of the Vision from any cause.

THE AMERICAN EYE-SALVE is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also, for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain, and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe, and effectual remedy ever discovered. The materials of which it is made are pure, perfect, and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and, of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye-washes. RINGWORM and OLD CHRONIC SORES, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the AMERICAN EYE-SALVE. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate, and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of "DR. J. PETIT'S AMERICAN EYE-SALVE," while making new and improved machinery for making a more perfect box for the Eye-Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the Wrapper, Circulars, Advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.

CHRISTIANITY A NUISANCE.

The following story is told about Aristarchi Bey, the Turkish Ambassador in Berlin, who married the daughter of a Prussian general: "The General was not blessed with much wealth but with many marriageable daughters. One day the Turkish Ambassador called upon him and asked if he might hope to become the General's son-in-law. "With pleasure," replied General Bonin, delighted. 'How many to you want?' Aristarchi, seeing that the General took him for a Mussulman, replied with some trepidation that he was a Christian, and wanted only one. 'What a nuisance!' grumbled the General. 'Well, take whichever you like?'"

AS THEY DO IN MICHIGAN

A farmer living near Wanstead, on the London Road, was in the habit of working on Sunday with his hired man as usual, underbrushing, harvesting, &c. Some of his neighbors were very much shocked, but none wanted to lay an information. At last Mr. Jas. Bryson and others took the matter in hand, and summoned the culprit before Squire Oxenham. The defendant pleaded guilty, and excused himself by saying that he thought he could do here as they did in Michigan. Mr. Oxenham, however, soon put him right in this respect, by explaining to him the statutes on Sabbath observance in force in this country. The lowest fine that could be inflicted, namely, one dollar, was imposed with costs. The defendant agreed not to offend again.

THE SUPERANNUATION RUMORS.

The Guelph Conservative journal informes its readers that "the superannuations in the "higher branches of the Civil Service are "expected to take place about the first of "next month." this is correct enough except that supernnuation in the higher branches of the Civil Service are about to take place at all, unless it may be in the case of Mr. Langton, whose approaching superannuation was known of in Ottawa last Session. The whole superannuation story was made out of the whole cloth by the Ottawa sensation manufacturer. Those journals that are growing pathetic and indignant over this sensational rumor, may rest assured of the fact that Mr. Mackenzie has no need to hurry on superannuations, for Reform party will remain in power long enough to permit time to do its regular work in that matter.

CANCERS CURED BY A NEW, BUT CERTAIN, speedy, and nearly painless process, and without the use of the knife. The cure will be guaranteed, and as proof of this, no pay is required, until the cure is complete. The moment a Cancer is discovered, it should be cured, as it will cost less and is more speedily cured than when longer standing, and there is nothing to gain, and everything to lose by delay. What now seems a harmless lump in the breast, neck, eyelid, or elsewhere, or small wart or sore on the lip, may in a few short months become a hideous, disgusting, destroying mass of disease. If required, reference can be given to parties who have been cured many years since, and who are now sound and healthy. All communications promptly answered.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For the relief and cure of all derangements in the stomach, liver, and bowels. They are a mild aperient, and an excellent purgative. Being purely vegetable, they contain no mercury or mineral whatever. Much serious sickness and suffering is prevented by their timely use; and every family should have them on hand for their protection and relief, when required. Long experience has proved them to be the safest, surest, and best of all the Pills with which the market abounds. By their occasional use, the blood is purified, the corruptions of the system expelled, obstructions [illegible] whole machinery of life [illegible] activity. Internal organs [illegible] and sluggish are cleansed [illegible] stimulated into action [illegible] is changed into health [illegible] when reckoned on th[illegible] it, can hardly be co[illegible] makes them pleas[illegible] virtues unimpai[illegible] that they ar[illegible] Although s[illegible] without d[illegible] occupation [illegible]

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.
